Motorists Pay Too Much Gas Price Inquiry Told

$32.7 Million, Says Shelford

B.C. motorists may be paying more than $32,700,000 too much each year for their gasoline, a special government investigation was told today.

The charge was made by Cyril Shelford, Social Credit MLA for Omineca, at the opening of the royal commission into gasoline prices at the law courts here.

14 LAWYERS

Mr. Shelford, who advocated a single retail gas price everywhere in B.C., said he felt like "a mouse in the lion's den" when confronted by a battery of 14 lawyers, most of them representing the major oil companies.

He said that electricity and liquor are two examples of one-price commodities in the province.

"Apparently the province believes everyone should be able to get gassed up at the same price with liquor," Mr. Shelford declared.

He urged royal commissioner Judge C. W. Morrow of Prince George to determine what should be a fair price for gas.

He suggested that in order to have true free enterprise competition the oil companies should be prevented from retailing gasoline to the public.

Commented Judge Morrow: "There's one price in Russia, but no service stations—just pump outlets—and very few cars to burn the gas."

Mr. Shelford tangled with what he called "legal talent" early in the hearings, when D. McK. Brown, acting for Shell Canada Ltd., challenged his claim that motorists may be paying $32,709,712 too much for gas each year.

WORSE TODAY

Mr. Shelford calculated the figure on the basis of findings of B.C.'s last gasoline inquiry, conducted by former Judge M. A. Macdonald in the mid-1930s.

In 1935, the Macdonald report recommended price cuts which would have saved $4,672,816.

At that time B.C. gas consumption totalled 44,534.667 gallons a year, Mr. Shelford said.

Mr. Shelford said today's consumption totals 310,293,379 gallons.

RCAF Losing Punch

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF will be withdrawn from all its combat roles, with the possible exception of anti-submarine patrol work, within five years, authorities forecast today.

They predicted that the service will become an almost exclusively transport force and that its combat roles in home air defence and in nuclear bombing in Europe will be eliminated by 1969 or earlier.

Plans are already being made to expand the RCAF base at Trenton, Ont., headquarters for Transport Command.

The lessening emphasis on the role of combat jet planes is already cousing considerable embarrassment in the RCAF because it is just in the process of introducing all-jet training. By the time this training program is in full swing there may be few if any jets for the air force to fly—except the jet trainers.

Defence Minister Hellyer has announced rejection of the RCAF's request for more CF-101B Voodoo jet interceptors and CF-104 nuclear jet bombers. The air force has 64 Voodos and 200 CF-104s.

The CF-104 base at Gros Tenquin, France, is expected to be closed and the CF-104s at Marville, France, converted to a photo-reconnaissance role.

Associate Defence Minister Cardin announced Friday disbandment of two Voodoo squadrons, leaving three.

FIRST WITNESS at opening session of B.C.'s royal commission into gasoline prices today in Victoria was Cyril Shelford, Omineca Social Credit MLA. Also shown are K. E. H. Ellis, counsel for Imperial Oil on Mr. Shelford's right, and commission secretary Capt. F. G. Hart, left.

Ex-Premier 'Boss' Johnson Dies at Home

Hundreds of men and women from all walks of life will attend funeral services for ex-premier Byron Ingemar "Boss" Johnson in First United Church Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

SEE PAGE 8 STORY ON JOHNSON'S POLITICAL CAREER

Premier of British Columbia's Coalition government from 1947 to 1952, Mr. Johnson died suddenly at his home at 2895 Beach Drive early Sunday at the age of 73.

Rev. R. J. D. Morris, minister of First United, will officiate at the public service which will be followed by cremation.

Personal friends and ex-cabinet ministers will be pallbearers, with Haywards Ltd. in charge of arrangements.

COLLAPSED

His son, Byron Jr., who was spending the weekend at the house, found his father sitting on the edge of his bed around 7 a.m. and asked if he was unwell. Mr. Johnson reassured him, but collapsed and died soon after.

A strikingly handsome man, of courteous demeanor, Mr. Johnson spent the last nine years of his life as a semi-invalid after suffering a serious stroke on April 16, 1955.

CAR ACCIDENT

Earlier, in September, 1950, he was seriously injured in a car accident in Quebec.

He was British Columbia's last ex-premier and the first major political victim of Premier Bennett's Social Credit victory in June, 1952.

His death cuts another link with a bygone political era, for of the leading figures in his Coalition government only Conservative Herbert Anscomb and Liberal Gordon Wismer remain.

Mr. Johnson's political fortunes and misfortunes were closely bound up with the two.

He became premier of B.C. when his predecessor, John

Castro Makes Surprise Trip To Visit Nikita

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived here today following a surprise announcement Sunday night that he would meet with Soviet Premier Khrushchev to discuss "questions of interest."

Castro stepped from a special jetliner into Moscow's below-freezing temperatures and was greeted warmly by Khrushchev and other Russian leaders.

In a welcoming address, Khrushchev hailed the visitor as the "head of the Cuban nation, the first in America to choose the socialist road."

Chinese Communist Ambassador Pan Tsu-li also was among the dignitaries waiting to meet Castro.

Delegations of Moscow workers, many of them carrying Cuban and Russain flags, gatheed at the airport to greet the Cuban premier as he flew in from Havana.

WILL ALSO HUNT

An official statement issued here Sunday night said Castro, who visited Russia last spring, would intersperse his talks with Khrushchev with a rest and some hunting in the Russian forests.

On arrival Castro and Khrushchev embraced as a 21-gun salute was fired and the anthems of the two countries were played.

Khrushchev assured the Cuban leader in his speech that "no attempts of Cuba's enemies, no economic blockade of the imperialists, can block the grand march of the great Cuban people."

Thanking the Soviet Union for its aid, Castro said: "Some of the difficulties that the Soviet people experienced in their time we are now experiencing. But there can be no comparison because we have the help of the Soviet Union."

'EXAMPLE FINDS FAVOR'

Attacking "American imperialists" who, he said, were trying to force the Cuban people to their knees, he said that despite this "the people and party are more united than ever . . . the example of our revolution has become more and more attractive to other countries."

Most observers considered Castro and Khrushchev would discuss Russia's ideological dispute with Communist China

75 Killed in India Hindu-Moslem Riots

CALCUTTA, India — Indian Army troops patrolled Calcutta and its suburbs today with shoot-to-kill orders to check Hindu-Moslem violence that has claimed at least 75 lives during the last four days. Most of the dead are Moslems.

Widespread looting and arson was reported in and around Calcutta. More than 4,000 persons were arrested.

It was the worst communal outbreak since 1947, when the Indian subcontinent was partitioned and hundreds of thousands were massacred. Refugees from neighboring East Pakistan have reported 29 dead there in attacks on Hindus.

The religious rioting followed reports that Moslems were slaughtering Hindus in the East Pakistan city of Khulna, 75 miles east of Calcutta, in retaliation for the disappearance of a hair said to have come from the beard of the Moslem prophet Mohammed. The hair, which disappeared from a shrine in Srinagar, capital of the Indian-controlled section of Kashmir, has ben recovered. Indian authorities reported the hair was "surreptitiously" restored to its normal resting place Jan. 4—a week after its disappearance. But in Pakistan it was charged the restored relic was not the true one.

Zanzibar Coup Ends Arab Rule

(Times News Services)

ZANZIBAR — African nationalists proclaimed a republic Sunday on the African spice island of Zanzibar—once the centre of Arab slave traders—after overthrowing the Arab sultan in an overnight revolt.

A state of emergency was in force in the former British protectorate following a warning from the new government that all foreign ships should stay outside the island's territorial waters.

Several persons, including policemen, were reported killed and many others wounded in heavy fighting that erupted Saturday night and raged into early Sunday around police stations, an armory and the residence of Prime Minister Mohammed Shamte Hamadi.

MOMBASA, Kenya (Reuters)—The ousted sultan of Zanzibar arrived here by ship today but was refused permission to land under a decision made by the Kenya cabinet at a special meeting.

A radio station, identifying itself as "the freedom fighters of Zanzibar," said at least two policemen were killed during the successful storming of the armory. There were reports another policeman was killed defending the prime minister's home.

The rebel broadcast said Hamadi and Sultan Seyyid Jamshid Bin Abdulla had taken refuge on a cruise liner in the harbor.

SEIZE BUILDINGS

By late Sunday night the rebels were reported to have seized control of all but one strategic building in or around Zanzibar city.

The United States sent the destroyer Manley to remove American women and children. But a U.S. state department source in Washington said the 57 Americans stationed on the island at a tracking station for the Project Mercury satellite program appeared to be in no immediate danger.

The British frigate Owen was dispatched to remove British citizens if necessary.

The revolt occurred a month and two days after Zanzibar gained independence. It was a British protectorate for 73 years. Zanzibar remained in the British Commonwealth, and the rebel broadcasts gave no indication that this tie would be broken.

The rebel station said Sheik Abeid Karume, head of the Afro-Shirazi party, was named president of the new republic. Sheik Abdul Rahman Mohammed Babu, whose leftist Umma party was banned earlier this month for trying to incite a revolt, was named foreign minister. Kassim Hanga was made prime minister.

U.S. Hatred Whipped Up In Peking

PEKING (Reuters) — Hundreds of thousands of persons paraded through the centre of Peking shouting anti-American slogans today.

Communist China's campaign against U.S. actions in Panama developed to an intensity reminiscent of the hostility against Britain and France during the Suez crisis of 1956.

The well - organized demonstrators — from factories, offices, schools and militia units in the city — waved banners bearing caricatures of President Johnson as they moved in a vast column several miles long through the city.

All newspapers used their biggest headlines and largest and blackest characters to splash across the top half of front pages a rare public statement by Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse - tung supporting the "heroic struggle being waged by the people of Panama against U.S. aggression."

TALLY HO TYPES SABOTAGED

It Takes Foxiness to Outfox Fox Hunters

TORQUAY, Eng. (Reuters)—Hounds of the South Devon Hunt were outfoxed Saturday by a new anti-blood sports group known as the Hunt Saboteurs.

The hounds were sidetracked by lumps of fresh meat along the trail, led by a false scent into a cul-de-sac, and bewildered by a series of false hunting horn calls.

Some of the 20 saboteurs who took part in the operation said that hunt followers became so incensed they charged them on horseback.

John Prestidge, 21-year-old chairman of the group, said: "There were scuffles all along the first part of the hunt route. I somehow got a punch in the mouth, and others got punches too."

The hounds were led up the cul-de-sac by one saboteur who was sitting in a tree with a silk stocking impregnated with the scent of a fox. "The hounds started coming up the tree, but were whipped off by the huntsmen," he said.

Hunters also had their hands full trying to stop the hounds eating meat dumped along the hunt route. "Fortunately the hounds managed to gobble up quite a bit before being whipped off by hunt officials," Prestidge said.

Prestidge and another saboteur were chased and arrested by police after feeding the hounds meat. He said later: "We got a pretty rough handling by all and sundry. After the police caught us, a sergeant told us we would be charged with depositing litter in the roadway."

Another saboteur, 18-year-old Graham Cummings, was armed with a hunting horn. He said: "For some time we had the unhappy hounds running from one side of the field to the other answering first our hunting calls and then those of the huntsmen.

"In the end some of the hunt followers got so angry they charged us on horseback and lashed out with whips."

When the hunt ended, more than half the field had already quit. A spokesman for the hunt said: "We didn't make a kill, but nevertheless we have enjoyed ourselves."

Arabs Set Aside Feuds To Unite Against Israel

CAIRO (AP)—Leaders of 13 Arab states comprising 100,000,000 people met today in a summit conference seeking a unified front against Israel.

At the call of Egypt's President Gamel Abdel Nasser, Arab kings, princes, presidents and emirs put aside their own numerous feuds and met on outward terms of friendship in the Nile-side headquarters of the Arab League.

In a wood - pannelled room carpeted in red, the rulers sat in red leather chairs to consider counter-measures against the impending Israeli diversion of the Jordan River waters. Israel has indicated it is going ahead with the plan regardless of what action the Arab rulers might take.

The Arab summit meeting was preceded by suspension of the bitter feud between the United Arab Republic and Jordan, which fell out in 1961 when Jordan recognized the Syrian regime that pulled out of the U.A.R.

Informed sources said President Nasser of the U.A.R. and King Hussein of Jordan agreed to resume diplomatic relations after a two-hour conference.

Nasser called the conference ostensibly to counter Israel's threat to put its 15-year-old irrigation project into operation this summer. But some observers saw the conference as an attempt by Nasser to reassert his leadership of the Arab world.

In the past, Arab leaders have threatened war if Israel goes ahead with the scheme. Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon all draw water from the river.

Recently Nasser's controlled press has been saying war is virtually impossible because of Israel's membership in the United Nations and certain intervention by the United States. Israeli leaders say they are not worried because their army can defeat the Arabs.

Observers said one aim of the conference would be to get the squabbling Arab nations to agree among themselves.

The United States contends that Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon should share the waters of the Jordan and its tributaries. But there is little or no likelihood that the Arab states will agree to any common plan that includes Israel.

Many observers felt the Arab leaders were mainly concerned with the political and military implications of the Israeli scheme.

They felt, observers said, that if Israel succeeded in diverting the river waters to the Negev in southern Israel, its economy would be boosted enough to absorb 1,000,000 or possibly 2,000,000 more Jewish immigrants.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Well, well . . . Blue Monday here again . . . And the "pet beef" department:

From a resident on the Oak Bay fringes comes a beef about the vagaries of telephone company ways.

Seems he moved in from another part of town with a different exchange, so was awarded a new phone number.

He didn't get a new phone—just a new number.

Anyone dialling the old number was told the new number, but anyone dialling the new number was told it was not in service.

Irritated, he phoned the phone company and suggested that pending installation of a new phone (they said they couldn't do it for a couple of days) they stop handing out the number.

Agreed.

Now the phone is installed, but the phone company isn't handing out the number to anyone—not even the subscriber, who forgot the new number the first day the phone was installed.

For once an American-published magazine correctly described Victoria as the capital of B.C.—then it goofed in the next line by saying the city was incorporated in 1863.

However, aside from raising the eyebrows of all those Victorians who observed centennial celebrations in 1962, the January edition of The Toastmaster gave a pleasing capsule description of the city and carried a picture of the Inner Harbor on the cover.

The official publication of the Toastmasters International, it gives special praise to Victoria because it was here in 1936 that the first club branch outside the United States was organized—thereby making it an international organization.

Today there are seven branches here and the club has branches in a total of 43 countries.

Freshman Ald. Robert Baird, a district lieutenant-governor of Toastmasters International, is to present a copy of the magazine to Mayor R. B. Wilson on Friday.

After you have signed his little book (your signature is worth 30 points in the contest), he'll start talking about magazines. Before you know it, you may find yourself holding a card, vaguely resembling a bill, with $21 scribed thereon.

The personable young man also will write "T.A.M." on the card. That, he explains, means "thanks a million."

Hindu Sects Harass Missionaries

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Hindu sects in Gwalior, central India, have tried every means of driving out Christian missionaries, says Miss Iona Heppner, an Egangelical Alliance teacher, now visiting Victoria.

They sometimes hire assailants to beat up missionaries, smash up their homes and throw sand in the projectors they use to show Gospel films.

"One sect accused our group of killing a sacred cow in order to get the authorities to expel us, but the attempt failed when it was proven that the cow died of natural causes," Miss Heppner said.

"One of our missionaries was beaten with sticks by hired assailants on his way back from church. The police said they would arrest the assailants if the missionary laid a charge. But he refused to do this."

Miss Heppner was one of the missionaries to Gwalior after a total ban was lifted in 1952. She revealed that the 4,000,000 inhabitants of Gwalior had never even heard of Christ before her group went there.

UPHILL STRUGGLE

"It is slow, uphill work," she said, "because most Hindu families feel it is a stigma if one of them becomes a convert to Christianity. But we have succeeded in interesting them in the gospel and we have made some converts in spite of threats and persecution."

Formerly of Vancouver, Miss Heppner is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schroeder at 2990 Gosworth. Mr. Schroeder's brother, Edward, is one of her group in Gwalior.

DECIDED AT EIGHT

Miss Heppner grew up in a lonely district of Saskatchewan where there was no Sunday school; yet she decided to become a missionary at the age of eight.

"My aunt was a missionary and it was through hearing my parents talk of her that I resolved to enter the mission field.

"I took a one-year medical course before going to India but I am better equipped for teaching than medicine."

Miss Heppner plans to return to Gwalior next July.

. . . BOSS JOHNSON DIES

Hart, retired in 1947, and narrowly won the top position in a vote between himself and Mr. Wismer, former attorney-general.

Mr. Johnson continued to head the Liberal-Conservative Coalition government formed by Mr. Hart in 1941. But differences between members of his government developed and came to a head in January, 1952, when the Coalition collapsed and four Progressive-Conservative members, including Finance Minister Anscomb, resigned.

A provincial election was called for June, 1952, and Liberals and Conservatives were defeated by the new Social Credit party and the CCF.

HE DID IT

In a tribute to Mr. Johnson Sunday night, Premier Bennett, a former Conservative member of the coalition government, said of him:

"The one thing for which he will go down in history in B.C. is that he established hospital insurance in this province—one of the first provinces in Canada to have it."

In 1959 Mr. Bennett surprised politicians by introducing legislation granting Mr. Johnson a lifetime pension of $5,000 a year for his "great service to the province." The pension died with him.

"B.C. achieved some of its greatest progress under his leadership," Liberal leader Ray Perrault said today.

FRIEND TO ALL

Harold Winch, now MP for Vancouver East but for many years leader of the CCF Opposition in B.C., referred to Mr. Johnson as "a friend to everyone."

"I came to know him very well in Victoria and have kept in touch with him since," Mr. Winch said.

Mr. Johnson termed himself a Liberal Socialist but a firm believer in the capitalist system.

He carried the vigor and good sportsmanship he learned on the lacrosse and rugby fields into his business and political life. A strong individualist, he took his own stand on questions of the day even when those views ran counter to those of his supporters.

EARLY ACTION

Forceful — sometimes explosive, he sought expansion of social services to the point where all citizens could face emergencies without financial anxiety, and one of his first acts on becoming premier was to enact the B.C. Hospitalization Plan.

Mr. Johnson was the second Victorian to become premier of British Columbia, the first being Simon F. Tolmie, born here in 1867 and premier from 1928-1933, who died in 1937.

His parents, Oliver and Gudren Johnson, came here separately from their native Iceland, learned to speak English and brought up their sons, Byron and John, with a deep love for their adopted land.

GOOD PLAYER

Born on Dec. 10, 1890, Byron attended Spring Ridge, Central and Victoria High schools. He had some trouble with English composition, liked sports better and became the idol of local fans for his exploits on the rugby and lacrosse fields.

His given name, Bjorn, was Anglicized to Bjossi and finally to Boss, and it stayed with him all his life.

He played the Inter-city Lacrosse League in Victoria for six years until he turned professional in 1913 with Con Jones' famous greenshirts. A hard-driving, speedy fullback, he also played on Victoria rugby teams, but in later years, limited himself to golf.

He got his first job as a clerk with the Tyee Copper Company on Bastion Street, but made more money playing lacrosse.

In the First World War, at the age of 25, he went overseas as sergeant of mechanical transport, British Army, and later served with the Royal Flying Corps.

BORROWED MONEY

On returning to Victoria, he and his brother, John, borrowed enough money to go into the trucking and supply business. The venture was a success from the start and years later, Mr. Johnson became president of Evans, Coleman and Gilley Brothers, now Evans, Coleman and Evans.

He also became director of the B.C. Power Corporation and of half a dozen or more subsidiaries of the building firm which bore his name.

On June 29 1920, Mr. Johnson married Kate Simpson, and one son, Byron, was born to them in 1926.

HEADED POLLS

The young industrialist entered politics in 1933, when he headed the polls as Liberal candidate for Victoria. In his maiden House speech he urged free inter-provincial and provincial-Dominion exchange of goods up to 50 per cent of goods exported.

In 1934, Mr. Johnson became general manager of Evans, Coleman and Gilley Brothers and moved to New Westminster.

In the 1937 B.C. election he again ran as candidate for Victoria but was defeated.

His return to political life came in May, 1945, in a New Westminster by-election caused by the death of Liberal member A. Wells Gray. Mr. Johnson won the seat by an overwhelming majority.

LEADER IN 1947

He was elected leader of the Liberal party on his birthday, Dec. 10, 1947, and on Dec. 29, was sworn in as premier of the coalition.

During the devastating Fraser Valley floods in 1948, he made a personal tour of the affected areas and then travelled to Ottawa to discuss rehabilitation measures.

He was never regarded as a great political orator but had an immense gift for cultivating lasting friendships. His electioneering always had a personal touch, for he knew thousands of people by their first name and remembered them.

Cuba did not sign the Moscow nuclear test-ban treaty which has been much criticized by Communist China.

But the Cuban leadership has sought to keep out of the Sino-Soviet wrangling, although it has been full of praise for Russian aid and political support.

Observers said Castro and Khrushchev also were almost certain to discuss what the Communist party newspaper Pravda today called "the courageous actions of the Panama people against the domination of American imperialism on their soil."

Children Die at Sea

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Seven persons died and 29 others were missing when a sailing boat capsized en route from Antonio Enes in Mozambique to nearby Matupane Island Saturday, the Lusitania news agency reported. It quoted the Beira Port authority as saying most of the 36 aboard were children.

. . . GAS PRICE PROBE

"If the price is still that far out of line, and I think it is worse today in most cases, then the consumers are paying $32,709,712 too much each year," he said.

Mr. Shelford's campaign for equalized gas prices forced the government into calling the royal commission.

He said today that the retail price varies from 36.9 cents a gallon in Vancouver to 47 cents in Alberni, 46 in Hope, 49.9 in Prince George, 58 in Fort Nelson and 65 cents in northern Atlin.

12.6 TO 32.5

Commercial rates vary from a low of 12.6 cents a gallon to 32.5 cents for farmers and mill operators in the Burns Lake area where he lives, Mr. Shelford said.

"I'd like to see any of my friends here today prove it isn't exactly as it was in those days (1935)," he added.

He said the executive of a major oil company told members of the legislative Press Gallery last March that the retail price was "what the traffic will bear."

Mr. Brown protested Mr. Shelford's extensive use of the Macdonald report in his brief.

'FANTASTIC'

He termed Mr. Shelford's calculation of the over-pricing of gas "fantastic."

"If this is the use to be made of the Macdonald report, then heaven help us," Mr. Brown said.

He maintained that the 1935 report was "stale news" and no longer applied today. It was also based on an entirely different set of circumstances, he said.

Judge Morrow said he would take Mr. Brown's objections "under advisement" but allowed Mr. Shelford to use the information.

ONLY ALLY

Mr. Shelford's only apparent ally among the 14 lawyers present at the hearing, held in the same courtroom at last spring's inquiry in allegations of graft in the highways department, was Lloyd McKenzie, representing the Automotive Retailers Association, which will present a brief later.

"One of the greatest weaknesses in these hearings," Mr. Shelford said, "is that on one side there is a great deal of the best legal talent to be found in the province and some from outside, representing special interest groups which have unlimited money and time.

"The representatives of the people of this province are only all laymen, donating their time as a public service."

He challenged the oil companies to send their working officials to the inquiry and not put up legal "technicalities."

K. E. H. Ellis, representing Imperial Oil Ltd., promised that company officials will testify at later sessions.

Mr. Shelford attacked oil companies for declaring in the past that it was impossible to calculate the true production cost of gasoline.

FIND TRUE COST

He urged Judge Morrow to persist in finding the true cost.

If he attempted himself, he said, "I imagine I would be about as welcome as a skunk at a garden party."

Mr. Shelford said the oil companies' bookkeeping was based on the "sales realization method."

The official cost of production was entirely based upon the retail sales figures.

PUC CONTROL

He said that if it does not prove possible to regulate the price of gas by voluntary action of the oil companies, then gas prices should be placed under the control of the Public Utilities Commission.

He suggested that the oil companies might want to cut the price from a fixed maximum, but they would not be able to increase it.

The commission hearings here are expected to last at least three days — maybe longer.

Judge Morrow, appointed by the B.C. cabinet last October, said he had originally hoped to wind up his inquiry by mid-February.

"I see now I was quite erroneous," he added.

He said he would allow anyone to express his views, and if necessary will subpoena witnesses.

Joey Gives Go-Ahead

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood announced Saturday that his government will "proceed at once" with development of a $100,000,000 hydro-electric power project at Bay d'Espoir on Newfoundland's south coast.

DIEF READS SCRIPTURE

Opposition leader John Diefenbaker read the scripture in First Baptist Church Sunday morning when he attended the service with Mrs. Diefenbaker.

His choice of scripture was Exodus 3, 1-14, which begins: "Now Moses kept the flock of Jethro his father-in-law."

Rev. John A. Watson, minister of First Baptist Church, preached on the subject of "Our Ultimate Confidence."

OAS Sets Up Peace Force For Panama

(Times News Services)

PANAMA CITY, Panama—The United States and Panama agreed today to set up a joint authority with the Organization of American States to try to keep peace along the riot-bloodied Canal Zone border, diplomatic sources reported.

The five-man delegation from the Organization of American States arranged for a final meeting, before flying back to Washington today, to settle technical details for the peace authority proposed by Argentina.

Informants said the United States and Panama would each have one military man and one civilian of the authority, with a neutral OAS representative as chairman. Alfedo Vazquez Carricosa, Colombian ambassador to the OAS, has been proposed they added.

Diplomatic sources said it had not been decided whether the peace-keeping group would use military or civilian forces to police the border area. It was said earlier that troops from both the United States and Panama might make up the patrols.

Edwin M. Martin, U.S. assistant secretary of state, represented the United States in the OAS negotiations and told reporters "we have made reasonable progress."

Galileo Solis, Panamanian foreign minister, said as he left the meeting: "Slowly we are marching forward."

The two chief U.S. representatives, Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter - American affairs, and Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance, agreed to a Panamanian government request to remain here for a possible meeting today with Panama officials.

Another Killed in Fighting Sunday

There was more violence Sunday at Colon, the Panamanian city on the Caribbean side of the canal. A Panamanian national guardsman was killed and two others were wounded, bringing the death toll since a flag - raising incident in the Canal Zone last Thursday set off the fighting. Three of the dead were U.S. soldiers.

The U.S. Army said the slain guardsman apparently was caught in a crossfire between snipers and U.S. soldiers. The army said the guardsman was hit by a high velocity bullet while the U.S. troops were using shotguns. Panamanian guardsmen searched border streets on the Colon side for snipers.

Working - class Panamanians were reported to have no meat, milk or other perishables in their homes.

About 100,000 persons turned out in the capital Sunday to follow the bodies of 14 countrymen killed in the fighting. Most of the 14 were students.

After funeral services in the Metropolitan Cathedral, the coffins were carried eight miles to the Jardin de Paz (Garden of Peace) cemetery. President Roberto Chiari led the mourners.

While the OAS delegation appeared to have set up machinery to keep the peace along the canal, major issues between the United States and Panama remained unsettled.

Panama broke relations with the United States because of the fighting. At the same time it renewed demands for revision of the U.S.-Panamanian treaty under which the United States occupies the Canal Zone. Mann and Vance are expected to arrange for discussions of these problems.

LBJ Orders Flags 'Side-by-Side'

In an effort to remove one source of friction, President Johnson's administration told all U.S. citizens in the Canal Zone that they must abide by a U.S.-Panamanian agreement of last year that whenever flags are flown in the zone, the U.S. and Panamian flags will be flown side by side.

U.S. high school students in the zone defied this order last week and raised the American flag. Panamanian students retaliated Thursday with a flag-raising of their own in the zone, and the violence mushroomed.

U.S. officials accused Panamanian supporters of Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba of taking a hand in the anti-American demonstrations. President Chiari himself said earlier that Castroites had infiltrated the ranks of anti - American demonstrators.

State Secretary Dean Rusk said in Washington Sunday night Castro - Communist elements probably saw in the flag incident "an opportunity to . . . stimulate violence."

Rusk said the United States cannot afford to pull out of the Canal Zone and that he has not heard any responsible leader raise that point. He disagreed with any suggestion that the disorders had harmed U.S. Latin American policy.

Rusk made clear the United States stands ready to open talks with the Panamanian government on Chiari's demands for revision of the canal treaty. He said when order is restored, the United States will be prepared to discuss ways of improving U.S.-Panamanian relations and of bettering conditions in Panama itself.

Financial Aid Sought For Castle

Victoria firms which cater to the tourist industry are being asked to take out $25-a-year sustaining memberships in the Craigdarroch Castle Society.

The four-year-old society lights the towers, turrets and stained glass windows of the castle and is paying electricity bills amounting to about $12 a month.

"It is hoped that some day when the school board moves out, the castle may be furnished as it was in the 1890s and opened to the public as a museum," says James K. Nesbitt, president of the society.

"If all the hotels and motels in Victoria, and other businesses which depend to a great extent on the tourist industry, would take out $25 sustaining memberships, we could do the day-to-day work and save for the day when heavy expenditures will be necessary to develop the castle as a great tourist asset."

Membership cheques may be sent to the society at PO Box 147, Victoria. Receipts and membership cards will be sent to donors.

Department of Labor Can't Rule on Tips

A labor department official has reported the person who was accused of seeking "payola" from Vancouver waitresses was their chief.

He said the waitresses complained the maitre d'hotel at their restaurant was demanding a share of their tips.

Earlier the B.C. Federation of Labor issued a statement charging that "somebdy" was demanding money from the waitresses and threatening they could lose their jobs if they didn't pay up.

The labor official said he told the girls he could do nothing about it because tips were not wages.

"It isn't anything to do with the department of labor as far as tips are concerned, unless loss of the tips would mean they were paid less than minimum wages required by legislation," he said.

However, he said he was investigating complaints by the same waitresses that they were forced to work excessive hours for standard time pay.

Parents Aren't All That Keen On Taking Math

Parent interest in the new teaching of public school mathematics has failed to meet school board expectations.

The board's adult education evening division offers parent instruction in both primary and secondary levels of the new form, to enable them to understand what their children are learning.

There are 32 enrolled in the primary course, meeting expectations, but only 16 in the advanced course.

Registrations are still being taken in a number of other courses, including basic photography, card lettering, welding, lapidary, golf and small craft handling.

HIT-RUN CHEAPER THAN IMPAIRED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Drivers are fleeing accidents rather than pay stiff fines now being levied under drinking-driver laws, say Vancouver police.

They report an increase in November of 27 per cent in drivers leaving the scene of accidents, and a 50 per cent increase in December.

The courts have stepped up penalties for impaired driving to $400, which compares with a ceiling of $200 for first offenders leaving the scene.

Canada Gets First of 3 Subs Soon

LONDON (Reuters)—The Canadian government has ordered three Oberon class conventional attack submarines from Britain at a cost of nearly £10,000,000 ($30,000,000), it was announced today.

The Oberon class submarine "Onyx" due to be launched in Chatham near London next month for the Royal Navy will be sold to Canada as soon as possible.

Two more will be built for Canada at the same yard.

Lord Jellicoe, first lord of the admiralty, said the Australian government also intended ordering two more Oberon submarines from Britain, provided price and delivery dates were right.

Oberon class submarines, 1,600 tons in weight and partly built of plastic, cost around £2,500,000 (about $7,500,000) each.

The first Oberon was launched in 1959. Attack submarines capable of high underwater speeds, they are equipped for continuous submerged patrolling.

Wind Piles Up Snow In Eastern U.S. Area

CHICAGO (AP)—A massive blizzard drowned the Eastern United States today in a sea of drifting snow.

Numerous highways were blocked, hundreds of motorists stranded and communities isolated as gale-force winds piled the snow into drifts as much as 10 feet deep.

The weather bureau in Washington issued a heavy snow warning for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and all but the northern part of New England. The warning bulletin said strong onshore winds were expected to cause tides up to five feet above normal with consequent lowland flooding along the Atlantic coast from the Virginia Cape to southern New England.

Western Pennsylvania received from five to 10 inches of snow which began falling Sunday afternoon and was still coming down Monday morning.

Huge snow drifts were reported in central Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The drifts were the work of winds up to 50 m.p.h.

DRIVING RISKY

The weather bureau urged motorists to stay off the highways in storm areas or run the risk of becoming snowbound in near-zero weather.

The fate already has befallen hundreds of motorists. In Illinois, some 500 motorists became overnight guests of the 1,200 citizens of Neoga, a farm community which opened up the local American Legion hall and Masonic temple to accommodate the stranded travellers.

In Indiana and Ohio, other hundreds of motorists abandoned autos on snow clogged highways and sought shelter at service stations, road houses and farms.

Springfield, the capital of Illinois, was virtually isolated with only one main highway into the city open. A few miles south of Springfield 25 boy scouts on a weekend camping trip awaited rescue today at their snowbound campsite.

Schools were closed in the suburbs of Washington, D.C.

Hundreds of schools in the middlewest, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania were closed.

'Boss' Johnson

BYRON INGEMAR ("BOSS") Johnson died as he had lived; undaunted by the crippling stroke he had suffered almost nine years ago, a man who realized the odds were against him but kept on fighting, and left this world with a few cheerful words for the devoted wife and son who were the light of his life.

"Boss" was one of Victoria's favorite sons. Born in this city, he started out with his late brother Johnny as a hauler of sand and gravel and worked his way up to a successful building-supply business. When, in 1933, he decided to enter public life as a Liberal party candidate, he topped the polls in Victoria. At a 1941 convention he moved the resolution for a wartime Coalition government and six years later acceded to the office of Premier of this province.

Few men in public life had more friends. There were his comrades from the First World War, where he had served overseas as a sergeant of mechanical transport in the Imperial Army, and latterly with the Royal Flying Corps. Thousands of sports fans admired "Boss" as an outstanding goal-tender, in the days of field lacrosse. Younger athletes were indebted to him for his work as Commissioner of lacrosse when, during the "Hungry 30's," he had worked with the late Joe Lally to build lacrosse boxes in many parts of the province, and supply youngsters with equipment.

During the Second World War, he was seconded by the King government, and particularly by his friend "Chubby" Power of Quebec, as a special representative in the Air Ministry. In this capacity, he was charged with the building, on a crash-program basis, of airfields at Comox, Port Hardy, Tofino, Masset, Boundary Bay and many other places in the province. For this service he was awarded an MBE.

But it is as a politician that he will be remembered, and it is curious to reflect that "Boss" was almost entirely devoid of the arts and artifices usually associated with that unique craft. He was incapable of high-blown oratory, disliked cant and conducted himself without flamboyance. On the platform—a striking figure with his mane of white hair and ruddy good looks—he preferred to talk quietly to his audience, much in the manner of a company president making a report to his shareholders.

It was often said of him that he was a "businessman in politics" and it is true that his labors with the late Hon. Gordon Sloan in forestry, with his friend E. T. Kenney in the creation of an industrial empire at Kitimat, and with British interests at Annacis Island contributed mightily to the economic boom enjoyed by this province in mid-century.

But his lasting monument will be, not a business enterprise but the social welfare project which resulted in the establishment of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Act. On the strength of this piece of legislation alone, he has earned the gratitude of hundreds of thousands of British Columbians.

"Boss" Johnson was a fine Canadian; a man of impeccable honesty, sound judgment, and infinite capacity for friendship. He was also a man of fibre, whose nickname derived from his ability to lead. And nowhere was his mettle better demonstrated than during the last decade of his life when, badly paralyzed and his faculty of speech almost gone, he faced life courageously with his head held high and his spirit undiminished.

A special vignette of the "happy warrior" lingers in our affections today. Some years after he was stricken, the former Premier accepted an invitation to watch the election returns from a Victoria newspaper office. As usual, the room was bustling with activity as late returns were snatched from the teletypes and party standings posted on large blackboards.

But when "Boss" arrived on the arm of his wife, and began to limp painfully across the floor to a seat by the main news-desk, a hush fell over the room. It was broken when one reporter stood and began to clap his hands; then another, and another, until the entire room, working press and friends, veterans of a dozen political campaigns and proud of their cynicism, filled the room with their applause. "Boss" looked up, a twinkle in his eye, and waved his hand in acknowledgement of the tribute. It was a wonderfully human and rewarding moment and we remember it today, as we remember him.

Clean Up Social Welfare

PEOPLE WHO HAVE BEEN wondering what's wrong inside the departments of Social Welfare and of Health Services will have a better idea after two statements by ministers on the weekend.

Mr. Wesley Black appeared Friday night in a television interview with Douglas Collins in Vancouver, presumably to answer the forthright charges of Mr. Dave Barrett, opposition critic on social welfare. The wonder is why. When all the mellifluous, organ tones of the minister had disappeared from the air, it was apparent that he did not have the answers. Worse than that, it was obvious that he did not even know what was going on in his own department.

Had he ever visited, in all his term of office, the school for social studies at UBC? No, said Mr. Black, "but they have visited me." (They came to Victoria to listen in the Legislature but Mr. Bennett thwarted them by delaying the debate.)

In another instance, answering a charge that per capita service today was even less than it was in 1952, Mr. Black asked: "Where did you get those figures?" And Mr. Collins replied: "From your own reports." To which Mr. Black solemnly said: "I can only conclude that they are in error."

This sorry performance was followed by a statement by Health Minister Martin, pursuant to the resignation of a senior official at Woodlands School, that he was "fed up with the whole damn deal" and threatening that he would "lower the boom on anyone who makes any fuss about it in the Legislature." This latter comment squares exactly with the attitude of Provincial Secretary Black, who told Mr. Collins that public pressure for improved conditions in mental health and social welfare was "both unnecessary and undesirable."

What makes these postures so tragic is that we are here dealing with the lives and welfare of young people who, as Mr. Collins noted, are "unable to fend for themselves." In this affluent society, mentally-disturbed youngsters are still going to jail because we have not enough treatment centres to care for them.

The increasing flow of resignations by top officials, the steady decline in services and the do-nothing attitude of the ministers indicate that sweeping revisions are long overdue.

Mr. Bennett should waste no time in ridding his cabinet of these twin disasters — the platitudinous Black and the threatening Martin—and replacing them with men of purpose, drive and initiative. The public cannot stand much longer the bumbling incompetence which has brought our social services so low.

Open Tournaments In Tennis?

WHEN AMERICAN CHUCK McKinley took the deciding match which won the Davis Cup from Australia on December 28, he may have driven tennis a long bound forward in a new direction.

The Australians had won the cup 11 times in the last 13 years, four in a row up to last month. And Davis Cup play down under provided the financial sinews for Australian tennis. That, along with Australian dominance of Davis Cup play, had made the country's tennis voice one to be heard throughout the world.

One of the arguments presented by Australian officialdom was firmly levelled against intermingling of amateurs and professionals —a procedure happily reconciled in such sports as golf and cricket. The United States, while unofficially opposed to open competition in the game, preserved a relatively neutral position in the international tennis argument.

Now, without the cup and without the finances cup finals have been bringing to the nation's tennis coffers, Australia's authority is weakened.

Wimbledon, the top individual tournament of the year, can now re-assert a more dominant role. And England, with France, favors open play. Australian stars, including some who have turned a sharp eye on expense money, will be in a less favorable position to claim it from a less wealthy Australian association.

The swing toward open tournaments could be under way.

FROM LONDON

By RICHARD PURSER

Down on the Common Market Farm

INTEGRATION of Western European agriculture was a subject of controversy long before December's lengthy series of meetings between European Economic Community ministers. Those meetings achieved a basis for detailed agreement on issues left over from a similar series of day and night marathon sessions in January, 1962, which settled the principles of the Community's common agricultural policy. The further question of integrating British and Continental agriculture was fiercely argued at the end of 1962 and beginning of 1963.

Purser

It was recognized when the Treaty of Rome was drafted that agricultural integration would be the EEC's worst problems, and the treaty deliberately omitted spelling out details of how an agricultural common market would be set up by 1970.

Farm Vote

The industrial common market is coming along very well indeed as the EEC's barriers against each other's manufactures tumble. But the differences in structure between each of the member countries' agricultural systems are great, and the farm bloc is politically important in all Six. Twenty-five per cent of the total EEC population is on farms, producing 13 per cent of Community output.

European planners originally sought a common market for agriculture to (a) smooth out the incoherencies in the various present national policies; (b) eliminate the cruel gap between the incomes of rural and urban population.

The Six are plagued by price instability within countries and variations between countries, excessively small farms (two-thirds are under 25 acres), failure of farm prices to keep up with industrial prices, and lack of capital for reorganization and modern equipment.

Despite relative backwardness vis-a-vis Europe's modern industrial plant, agricultural productivity in the EEC countries rose 28 per cent between the end of the war and 1962. The Community was 87 per cent self-sufficient in food by 1957-58. This was achieved with a 20 per cent drop in farm population and a two per cent reduction in cultivated land, reflecting a pattern evident in the agriculture of most advanced countries.

But Community experts feel the process must go further faster if farm incomes are to keep pace with future developments elsewhere and if the farm structure is to be rational. Post-war production increases, for example, have been far from uniform. Some crops have remained stationary and others have even declined owing to sales problems while others have increased greatly, even to 100 per cent in the case of sugar beets.

Food consumption has of course been rising sharply as the standard of living has increased, but EEC consumption of grains and potatoes has dropped somewhat as city dwellers turn their attention to meat, eggs and vegetables. This has enabled the Community to meet its needs in cheaper "traditional" produce like pigmeat. But egg consumption has risen so much that despite a 40 per cent rise in post-war production, the EEC has changed from a net exporter to a net importer. Beef is another extreme case where demand has caught Community producers short.

The EEC remains the world's top food importer, taking one-third of total world food exports. Food imports by the EEC run to about $3,300 millions a year over EEC food exports. Pigmeat and vegetables are the EEC's only major net exports. The EEC has thus had to face its farm problem in a world context, which is one of widespread imbalance between supply and demand.

Price Problem

Poor countries go short while producers in countries whose populations can pay for their food find their prices nosediving as production outruns purely domestic consumption. Governments in countries like those in North America find themselves maintaining artificial prices and buying up excess production to make Fort Knoxes of grain and butter.

The EEC hopes by establishment of a common market in agriculture to adjust production toward a balance of supply and demand within the Community, taking imports and exports into account. The EEC's final attitude toward imports is of great international importance. Much of the Community's internal squabbling — and it is not over yet — has been about France's desire to supply the Community with grains. Other EEC members, especially Germany, fear that any attempt by the Community to become self-sufficient in grain would lead the penalized traditional exporters — notably the United States — to act against EEC industrial exports.

Aside from the great international aspects of EEC farm production policy, the experts seek to guide Community farms toward what is called in Brussels jargon "structural reorganization." Since this means amalgamation and a reduction of farm population in the interests of modernization and greater efficiency by those remaining, the domestic political problems involved are tricky. It is hoped to give an efficient farming community a fair return by an EEC marketing policy giving producers reasonable prices.

Eye on 'Outside'

Here the eyes of Brussels must turn to the outside world again: price stabilization involves a measure of sheltering the EEC from outside speculations and fluctuations. According to an EEC publication, this must be done "without however cutting the Common Market off from the influence of long-term movements in world prices, and without slowing down the adaptation of the Community's agriculture to changes in demand."

This is a tall order, to be filled partly by a common EEC treatment of outside imports and by financing of surplus sales. The same EEC publication says the interests of consumers must also be assured by reasonable prices.

"This will mean that prices will no longer be determined by the costs of production on marginal farms."

This is a political nicety for governments of those EEC countries with a large population on marginal farms.

Without going into the details affecting individual countries or products, this general picture shows how formidable are the problems facing EEC executives and ministers as they continue to formulate what still could be either a dismal failure or a model farm policy for the future.

Investment in Self-Respect

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN style and in substance, the president's message is an intimate and personal display of the political gifts for which Lyndon Johnson is celebrated. He shows himself to be a passionate seeker with an uncanny gift for finding, beneath public issues, common ground on which men could stand. Though he is indeed just about the shrewdest practical politician that the country has known in this generation, he has come—as he has grown in experience and power—to use his talents for national purposes. No one has had better reason to appreciate this fact than his predecessor, General Eisenhower, who had to deal with him as the manager of a Democratic Senate.

Lippmann

This first message illustrates his purposes and his talents in finding the ground of concensus on the issues of spending and social welfare. Later on, President Johnson will have to pass an even more severe test on the question of race and civil rights. But now we are at the beginning, and first things come first.

The immediate problem is to combine frugality in government spending with measures against poverty and an effective stimulation of the economy. The solution he is offering is to save money by cutting down extravagance and by taking advantage of the fact that there is a pause in the cold war which enables him to begin a cautious retrenchment of military procurement.

Thus, he is able to come to the country with a general formula which goes far to combine the undeniable truths in the conflicting positions; that wasteful and extravagant expenditure is sinful; that social progress must be continued; here that if the thaw in the cold war continues, a retrenchment in spending for armaments is feasible; that the money saved can best be used by applying it to our inadequate public facilities, and that—in view of the part which the public budget plays in the national economy—the budget must not be deflationary.

Kennedy Objective

In launching a campaign against poverty, President Johnson is carrying on what President Kennedy was intending to do. I am told that the basic policy was Kennedy's and that its translation into a program is Johnson's.

On this theme, President Johnson's sincerity is most impressive. There is fire in his belly. He knows about the hidden and forgotten American poor, about the 40 or 50 million Americans who are outside the prosperity which makes this country unique in the world and indeed in human history.

It is only too easy, and it is much more agreeable, to ignore what Mr. Michael Harrington in his noble book has called "The Other America." For in a curious way the American poor are, as Mr. Harrington says, "invisible." Therefore we have not worried much about them.

"Poverty is often off the beaten track . . . The poor," says Mr. Harrington, "still inhabit the miserable housing in the central area (of cities), but they are increasingly isolated from contact with, or sight of, anybody else . . . Many of the poor are the wrong age to be seen. A good number of them . . . are 65 years of age or more; an even larger number are under 18 . . . And finally, the poor are politically invisible . . . They are without lobbies of their own; they put forward no legislative program . . . They have no face; they have no voice."

The attack on poverty is a good cause, and the health of this country will be better if we are enlisted in a good cause. The cause will be good for the poor whom it will benefit. But it will be especially good for the country which, after enlisting, will respect itself a good deal more than it does now.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Merchantmen for Warships

Peace-lovers will be pleased to know that some warships will be mothballed, but will be saddened by the fact that this causes so much unemployment.

Why can't the government induce and help our shipbuilders to build a merchant ship for every scrapped warship? With our grain sales to Russia and China, merchant ships should certainly have a good future.

'Fed Up'

May I be permitted to confirm the opinion of Mr. Chinnery of Brantford, Ontario, appearing in your issue of January 9?

This gentleman states "There is far too much catering to these minorities just to get votes."

Having lived in Quebec for many years, I believe the politicians at Ottawa are to blame for most of the trouble—and now the chickens have come home to roost! But now that Mr. and Mrs. Pearson are sending $16 per month to help an Ecuadorian boy (who by the way lives in a shack without running water), why not help some of our own living in like conditions?

Canada should take a second look at the president of the United States and his program for warring against poverty. Man has caused this cruel and brutal state of affairs.

'Me First'

I fail to appreciate Mayor Wilson's shocked reaction to a cutback in naval expenditures, particularly after the Plommer allegations. Where else can economy be achieved except in those areas where major expenditure occurs?

Too frequently of late our attitude has been me first and the devil take the hindmost and it would seem the responsibility of civic leaders to give direction and wise counsel rather than inflammatory statements.

Perhaps we should bestir ourselves from our comfortable niche and count our blessings rather than complain of hardship. There may be some truth in the saying, "I cried because I had no shoes, until I saw a man who had no feet." We are not British Columbians, and we are not Canadians, we are both. For the privilege of being one, we share the responsibility of being the other.

A wealthy province such as we profess to be should not waste time in recriminations but vigorously find ways to fill the gap. Our present dog in the manger attitude is one in which we can take no pride and if we are serious about preserving Confederation we should take a good hard look at ourselves.

Marx and Cyprus

The description offered by some people of the strife in Cyprus as being between two racial groups is very obscure indeed.

A philosopher once wrote that in considering revolutionary changes and conflicts you have to distinguish between the real causes and development on the one hand and the "ideological forms" in which the people concerned saw and expressed the conflicts on the other.

His name was Marx and his advice could well be used to delve below some of the smoke-screens being laid down today. For instance Russia and China. Instead of an ideological rift over "Marxism" and Leninism, we might find economic differences over profit-oriented trade, investments, raw materials, and territory in Mongolia.

Also, the current cleavage in Canada, between Quebec and the rest of the country, may not be over a separate culture, language and equality of rights, but really the desire of some Quebec capitalists for mineral rights now controlled by Ontario, or annexation of most of the territory of Labrador, or for amalgamation to the U.S.A., or all of these things and others, as a solution to their profit problems.

The same thing applies to Cyprus, where the old combatants, Greece and Turkey, both want ownership and control of that strategic island, with Britain being a disinterested arbiter no more than any other power entity since she needs Cyprus as a military base to help maintain her oil and other resources in the Middle East against U.S. and Russian encroachment.

The old philosopher's analysis and solution are, if anything, more valid today than they were in his time, when capitalism was in its prime.

'Backward, Fly Backward'

May I be so bold as to pass on a remark made recently in a Victoria book store.

"For heaven's sake, why don't they get a decent picture of Arthur Mayse? I remember him at University, and he isn't that old . . ."

For my part, anyone who writes as lively and perceptive a column is surely entitled to a more flattering picture.

Shared Sentiments

When Oliver Cromwell dissolved the English Long Parliament in 1653, he pointed to the mace and said to one of his soldiers: "Take away that bauble."

In Thursday's Times, a writer, "One of the Employers," was critical of the absenteeism of so many members of Parliament at Ottawa and of the orgy of spending by the federal government.

His opinions are shared by many less articulate but equally resentful Canadian citizens.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

There is as much value and pleasure in the anticipation of cabinet changes as in the appointments. During the speculative period everyone has some attractive possibilities. Even foes can hope. Anything seems possible. Cabinet-making is a most arbitrary act of power by one man. Mr. Pearson can take almost anyone he wishes and place him or her where he wishes in the seats of power.

Until the PM announces the changes this month discussion will continue on the weaknesses of the present ministry, the parliamentary talent available, and the direction of the government and the Liberal Party at this time. Mr. Pearson tips the future more readily than did Mr. Diefenbaker. Thus we have had a more candid, semiofficial discussion on needs and prospects, all very serious. Quite a contrast to the funny duping of press and politicians two years ago when all holiday time was given over to wild conjecture.

The culmination was the train excursion to Quebec City, preceded by stories of substantial switches. The consequence was almost nothing, a real mocking of those of us who joined in the game. We presume Mr. Diefenbaker enjoyed the charade. We assume Mr. Pearson is less droll. One imagines he is twisting and turning all the utopian possibilities of the ideal cabinet. One can see him looking at all the worm and devil factors of our politics; race and religious and geographic bias; the choice of loyalty or ability when you cannot have both.

It fascinates me to read in Dawson and Neatby on Mackenzie King how that wily man built, handled, and reconstructed cabinets. The elementary question was the prospect's loyalty to him and the party. Then he wondered whether the man could administer a department capably and acquit himself well in the House. Top performance in the House might not be as important as running a department well, but if a man could do neither, then he was a dead loss. One finance minister was slick in the House but had no control of his department or officials. King wanted him out. So often King was inaccurate in his judgments. Cabinet experience did strange things to men. Further, King was always conscious of the groupings and linkings that emerged in his cabinets. Odd combinations had to be watched, individual aims bent within the over-all plan.

Loyalty or Ability

We would bet that Mr. Pearson is conscious of this point: that the balance in his cabinet has swung to the conservative or administrative-centred group exemplified by Pickersgill, Hellyer and Sharp. These three are pragmatic men, little moved by grand concepts or ideas which lead to strong government action. The other side of the cabinet would centre on the three ministers closest to Pearson: Lamontagne, MacEachen and Walter Gordon. How does the PM keep this radical, intent force within the ministry on the move? Messrs. Sharp and Pickersgill look formidable blocks to one who wants to change the direction of the nation.

Mr. Sharp has come on fast, perhaps too fast for a prime minister's comfort. Mitchell Sharp is the expert on everything. (He'd make a good columnist.) He reminds me of a Sunday school superintendent of my boyhood: decent, capable, confident, always available and ready to help on anyone's problems, and so full of unavoidable rectitude. Mr. Sharp is a great asset, a real discovery. But if he gets much more weight and influence, one can foresee the fading away of the radical impetus of the government in favor of administrative competence and caution.

Therefore, I believe Mr. Pearson would like to bring in left-wingers and radicals. The departure of Messrs. Chevrier and Denis opens two posts and the chances for many shuffles. It will be hard, however, to escape naming two more French Canadians to the cabinet. We think Mr. Pearson seeks or needs radicalism. Therefore, Maurice Sauve or Jean Luc Pepin seem promising. Everyone, including these men, says that they are radicals. Yet one keeps hearing about the claims of Guy Rouleau and Yvon Dupuis, two other young Canadians with more seniority than the first pair. We hear that protagonists of all four are circling the prime minister with cries of acclaim for their men. In a nutshell, Dupuis and Rouleau are loyal, party stalwarts. They are long on loyalty and short on either talent or appeal in House of Commons terms. As they grow older, each will look more and more like an Azellus Denis.

Sauve has given a most entertaining performance since Pearson left him outside the cabinet last spring—the man of worth passed by. He has not been impressive in the House or in the defence committee, but everyone swears he is very able, that he represents something known as the new guard in Quebec, and that Mr. Pearson needs him terribly. If I were Mr. Pearson I'd bring Mrs. Sauve into the cabinet (she's the TV interviewer) or Mr. Pepin or both. Mr. Sauve should be commissioned to see if he cannot do as much as a press agent for the PM as he has done for himself.

Talent in the Room

If the PM wants to please one of his ablest and closest confidants he could bring Tom Kent in. Certainly, that would help the radical wing of the cabinet. To get Mr. Kent in, some English area MP has to resign. Everyone thought or hoped that Bill Benedickson, the minister of mines, might be the one. Either the transfer of Mr. Benedickson is more difficult than it looks or Mr. Pearson does not want Mr. Kent very desperately.

It isn't hard to draft a short list of present Liberal talent. In my opinion, only John Turner stands out well ahead of a group of able MPs which would include Jack Davis (Coast Capilano), Pauline Jewitt (Northumberland), Larry Pennell (Brant Haldimand), Ed Benson (Kingston), Jean Chretien (St. Maurice-Lafleche), Maurice Moreau (Scarboro) and John Stewart (Antigonish Guysborough).

If talent is the important quality, new ministers come from these people. How will the new ministers do? Will the new cabinet be stronger? So much depends on publicity and breaks! A year ago the two big Liberals in Canada were Walter Gordon and Jean Lesage: today it's Sharp and Favreau. Why the change or switch? Events. Performance.

Reputations will go up and down; the prime minister is likely to remain. He has enormous power. It will be present in his choice of cabinet ministers shortly. Will he use that power? Will he be ruthless in the cause of ability and purpose or cautious in the name of party loyalty? You know how I am betting? On Rouleau and Dupuis.

Time to Clear That Workbench

Hilda

The potting shed work bench in the average greenhouse becomes positively chaotic during any period when major projects are not under way.

During the past three weeks ours became like the proverbial family sewing basket that is filled with all the tag ends of patches, wools, threads and buttons deposited there because they may some day be used again.

But now I'm back at work on regular winter greenhouse projects and need the work bench spick and span for another season's beginnings.

The bits and pieces of evergreen and shrub which were discarded from bowls of decorations, the various used and unused containers assembled to select the most suitable, these have now been removed.

There was a heap of wooden pot labels, used in the spring to mark each potted geranium cutting for flower color, and then discarded when the plants were put out into baskets and tubs.

Since many labels will be needed again this spring for temporary marking of newly sown seed, I found a tail end of white paint in a can and gave the labels a quick wipe over with a small paint brush.

A few minutes work and 200 labels were ready to use after being dried thoroughly.

Empty clay pots which always seem to accumulate have all been scrubbed and stacked in rows on the shelves, inviting their use again for the potting-up of cuttings which have rooted during early winter.

Next thing I have to get into is the top of the so-called writing bench. It is littered with scraps of paper covered with notes written to myself about a variety of things. One says "roast in oven"—another was to remind me to feed a whole list of potted plants on a certain date. Most are unintelligible at this date so into the fire they'll go.

Somewhere amongst them I'll probably find the packet of gentian seed I meant to sow in the early fall.

Well, another year, another fresh start.

And when all is in order, I shall begin the sowing of the annuals which need a long growing time indoors—the lobelias and snapdragons; and those which like cool, early growing conditions outdoors, the pansies and violas.

My sowing bench will become as orderly as the sewing basket of a needleworking housewife after she spring-cleans.

QUINTIN HOGG
. . . blocked

Hailsham First Choice Of Mac?

LONDON (AP) — Randolph Churchill claimed in a book published today that Harold Macmillan secretly advised Quintin Hogg, formerly Lord Hailsham, twice last fall to stand by to succeed him as Britain's prime minister.

Only the violent opposition to Hogg of a powerful section of the Conservative party with its implication of a governmental collapse thwarted the plan of the former British leader, according to Churchill.

The writer, son of Sir Winston Churchill, reported that Macmillan then turned to Sir Alec Douglas Home as a second best candidate for the succession.

Yet even after it became known that Sir Alex had won more party support than any of his three fellow contenders for the leadership, two strong attempts were made by influential cabinet colleagues to block his appointment, the author says.

The first attempt, Churchill wrote, was by a group of five including Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, himself a candidate.

The second bid, Churchill asserted, was by Hogg, who offered to serve under R. A. Butler, then Douglas-Home's strongest challenger, if only Butler would give a lead.

Butler, now foreign secretary, declined the offer, Churchill says in his book entitled "The Fight for the Tory Leadership."

Canadian News Bureau In Peking?

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian government thinks it would be desirable for this country to increase its commercial and cultural contacts with mainland China and other Communist nations, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said here Saturday.

Mr. Martin told a press conference that Canada's policy is to encourage interdependence rather than isolation in the field of East-West relations.

Mr. Martin said the next step forward in Canadian-Chinese relations may be the establishment of a Canadian news bureau in Peking. A large Canadian newspaper wants to start a bureau there—"and I am considering the application right at the moment."

Ten Mexican Students Visit Uvic

By BETH BOYLE
Times University Reporter

The University of Victoria is unofficially bilingual for the month of January.

But it is "buenos dias" rather than "bonjour" that one is likely to hear on campus. The reason is the visit of 10 Mexican students sponsored by the Experiment in International Living in co-operation with the Alma Mater Society of the University of Victoria.

The Mexican students, six boys and four girls, are billeted in the homes of Victoria students until Feb. 2. While in Victoria they will sightsee and attend lectures and functions at the university.

On Friday afternoon members of the faculty and student body met the Mexican visitors at a reception held in the Student Union Building.

A chat with two members of the group, Señoritas Luz Maria Lopez and Challo Paillaud, revealed many interesting facts about their tour.

The Experiment in International Living was started three years ago by a group in Putney, Vermont, and now involves 20 countries including Nigeria, Sweden, Australia, and of course, Mexico. Under its auspices students travel in foreign countries not only as a tourist group but also "to learn the language and customs of other peoples" as Luz put it in her perfect English.

To enable them to do this the students spend a fair length of time living with families in the tour's main stops. The students pay for the trip themselves or receive partial scholarships to cover expenses.

The group comes from all over Mexico. Luz hails from Mexico City where she graduated from university last year and now teaches biology. Challo, a native of Guadalajara, works in a motel when not studying.

This is the second time the University of Victoria has played host to Mexican students in an effort to broaden the international contacts of its students. Mike Hutchison, second-year arts, is in charge of the arrangements.

The young Mexicans' reaction to Victoria?

"It is lovely and the people are so warm, but your weather is very cold."

Delegation To Discuss Tariff Cuts

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Committed to opening Canada's doors to an increased flow of imported goods as well as to provide greater opportunities for Canadian producers to sell abroad, the federal Liberal government will send a trade delegation to Geneva at the end of this month.

That group will seek to determine the level of tariff cuts that are expected to be agreed to between the United States, the United Kingdom and the Common Market.

Canada has agreed to play a full and active part in the coming trade negotiations.

After this country's trade group has gauged the extent of the proposed tariff cuts, it is the intention of Trade Minister Sharp to set up a group to work with GATT on tariff cuts. That group will consult with private industries in Canada.

It will determine from industry here what advantages would accrue to Canadian industries from other countries' tariff cuts. It will enquire as to how far this country can go in respect to different industries in the cutting of Canadian tariffs.

Dolly Varden Silver Vein 'Promising'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. F. C. Buckland, president of Dolly Varden Mines Ltd., said Friday extensive underground work carried out at the company's big silver property near Alice Arm in northwestern B.C., indicates "a major silver ore body, long and wide and of excellent grade."

In a report to shareholders, Dr. Buckland said this confirms previous convictions that work on the Wolf vein "would prove us to be a silver prospect of major proportions."

The Wolf vein is but one of several properties making up the Dolly Varden camp.

He also informed shareholders of an underwriting which placed $55,000 in the company treasury for further underground work. Because of the excellent results obtained in tests so far a major American silver mining company is negotiating with Dolly Varden for a development agreement.

Trade Service Proves Success

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—The federal government's foreign trade service "influenced" more than $100,000,000 in new business for Canadian exporters last year, Jean-Luc Pepin, parliamentary trade secretary to Trade Minister Sharp, said here.

He told the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce that the trade service, with 65 offices in 47 countries, last year assisted in setting up more than 1,300 agencies or buying connections for Canadian exports and handled more than 4,000 inquiries from Canadian businessmen about foreign markets.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Firmness in rye and fair action in flax were featured near the close of trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The rye market received stimulus from higher United States prices, influenced by a United States government report showing much lower farm stocks of rye than existed a year ago.

FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

Small Centres, More Staff Hold Key to Brighter Life

Mental disorders can often be cured or alleviated if treatment is given when the patients are young—yet there are few mental health facilities for children.

Times reporter Leslie Millin interviewed social workers, psychologists, phychiatrists and patients' families to prepare this series on the predicament of Victoria children stricken with mental disorders. This is the last of three parts.

By LESLIE MILLIN

Staff and small institutions—these are needed if Victoria's mentally handicapped youngsters are to have their futures brightened.

Health Minister Eric Martin said last year his department wants to do away with long-term custodial care in massive provincial institutions.

Since then, Colquitz mental home here has been closed.

Mr. Martin also said in July extensive changes in provincial mental health legislation were being considered.

Early this year, when Dr. L. A. Kerwood of Woodlands School for the Retarded told the Times about the need for more facilities, Mr. Martin repeated that new legislation was forthcoming.

Decentralization, he indicated, will be the key to the new legislation.

Great News

For most workers in the mental health field, no news could be better.

Small institutions—day clinics, special schools, occupation centres, sheltered workshops — generally are cheaper and more efficient than big centres.

A local example is the Sevenoaks centre for emotionally disturbed children.

At present, it accommodates 16 — and treatment director James Mair wants it kept a small institution.

He feels staff and treatment efficiency would suffer if Sevenoaks were suddenly subjected to a big expansion.

Coun. Gregory Cook, of Saanich, has suggested that the Colquitz mental home, instead of becoming a prison, should be made into a school for retardates.

"This would be a much more humanitarian use of the property," he said.

Biggest objection would be the forbidding look of the grim old building, but "the grounds could be used, anyway," said the councillor.

Good Grounds

Dr. W. H. Gaddes, a phychologist, suggests some local needs could be met by:

A school for retardates (this has been promised);

A special school for brain damaged children (there is nothing like this in the province;

Facilities for emotionally disturbed and autistic children.

Dr. Gaddes, who is doing research on problems of brain-damaged children, notes that in other parts of North America schools for them are attached to hospitals.

"This is one definite need that is not being met," he says.

"Just doing research and diagnosis isn't much comfort to parents who then find nothing more can be done for their children."

He adds that the provincial government has made available to him funds for research into brain-damaged children.

"I hope this may lead to establishment of a centre for them here—attached to the university or some research facility," he says.

Also needed, says a Victoria psychiatrist, is a local centre for diagnosis and treatment of psychotic children.

The Bay Pavilion at Royal Jubilee Hospital will sometimes take children if the case is unusually urgent — there is a girl with suicidal tendencies in there right now — but there are no wards for psychotic children anywhere in B.C.

Staff Problem

And if the institutions come into existence, staffing them will be another major problem.

"Staff is the crux of the problem," says Robert Dudley, executive director of the Victoria branch, Canadian Mental Health Association.

"Discussion of physical facilities is academic unless the staff problem is discussed also."

Mr. Dudley says he knows of three patients from mainland institutions whose treatment was hampered because of a language barrier — the patients could speak English but the doctor couldn't.

"Staff is even more crucial when it comes to treating children.

"We need a child psychiatrist willing to go into practice in this area.

"However dedicated they may be, trained staff must be paid a living wage.

"It is unreasonable to expect a psychiatrist or a registered nurse to work for less than a steam shovel operator."

JOHNSON PRESIDED OVER MAJOR TURNING POINT IN B.C. HISTORY

'The Father of Hospital Insurance'

By LESLIE FOX

Byron "Boss" Johnson will be remembered in British Columbia's public life for two important events, and a great turning point in the province's political history.

He was the "father" of the province's widely hailed universal hospital insurance scheme, the first major task he tackled when he became premier late in 1947.

He also was the man who broke up B.C.'s wartime Coalition of Liberals and Conservatives—a gamble which, incalculably, removed the two old-time parties from the dominant positions in B.C. government which they had held for 50 years, and paved the way for Social Credit and CCF (now NDP) to become the major forces.

His leap into the premiership without ever having been in the cabinet was a spectacular one. By a margin of eight votes he won a Liberal leadership convention over the then attorney-general, Gordon Wismer. This automatically game him the premier's chair to replace the late John Hart, who had decided to step down as head of the Coalition administration.

Elected Here

But "Boss" had had previous political experience. He got his "feet wet" in 1933 by winning election as a Liberal member for Victoria, topping the polls in the four-seat riding.

In that first term his major interest was in the building up of Pacific trade and the general expansion of exports that would give British Columbia a balance of payments for the expensive manufactured goods it must buy from Eastern Canada and the United States markets.

He was touted then as a cabinet possibility under the late T. D. Pattullo.

But before the election of 1937 his business interests required him to move to New Westminster. The Victoria voters at the polls rejected their "hometown boy," perhaps because he was living on the mainland.

For eight years he was out of the House, devoting his energies to his private affairs and subsequently to the building of wartime airports in B.C., for which he was awarded the Medal of the British Empire.

He returned to the political fray in 1945 by winning the New Westminster seat, and once again became a force in the Liberal party, though not in the cabinet. However, in 1941, as a Liberal delegate, he had moved the resolution which put the party into coalition with the Conservatives.

His big opportunity came in 1947 when Premier Hart, after more than 30 years in B.C. politics, decided to lay down the reins of office, and, of course, the Liberal leadership.

The Liberals had the largest group in the legislature and thus dominated the Coalition, which meant holding the premiership.

Before Mr. Johnson won as Liberal chieftain there were storm clouds on the horizon for the Coalition. Herbert Anscomb, the Tory leader and finance minister, insisted that he in fact was deputy premier and should automatically inherit the top job when Hart retired.

But in politics it is numbers that count and the Liberal convention proceeded on the assumption that the man it picked would be the new premier.

It was held in the Vancouver Hotel on December 10, 1947, his 57th birthday, and the battle between Johnson and Wismer created what, on the surface, appeared to be one of the most bitter splits in the party's history.

Eight-Vote Win

The result was an eight-vote margin for Johnson among more than 700 delegates.

This was only part of the battle for Johnson.

He then had to come to terms with Mr. Anscomb on what was, in effect, a new Coalition agreement, superseding a war-time pact made in 1941 between Mr. Hart and the then Conservative leader, R. L. Maitland.

This arrangement included such things as the respective party rights on organization, cabinet representation and similar items. There were several meetings before agreement was rached and Mr. Johnson moved into the premier's office. But most observers realized then that the seeds of dissension within Coalition had been sown.

Hospital Insurance

However, it appeared they did not sprout fast. One of the first jobs Mr. Johnson tackled was that of hospital insurance.

Before the war the Liberal government had attempted to set up an over-all health insurance scheme, covering both medical and hospital care. Legislation was passed and an administration appointed, but numerous bugs, including lack of an agreement with the doctors, prevented it coming into operation. Then the war had intervened.

Mr. Johnson decided to tackle only the hospital side and conducted an intense campaign to show how many families were crippled by huge hospital bills for major illnesses, while hospitals themselves were in continuous trouble.

His first scheme was based on premiums payable by everyone. The act went through in 1948 and the plan came into operation.

Mr. Johnson took another bold step. He agreed to the retail sales tax to assist social services and municipalities—a step to which his predecessor, Mr. Hart, had always objected. The big provincial postwar road program was also given a good boost.

Utmost Confidence

Thus when Mr. Johnson faced his first general election in 1949 it was with the utmost confidence.

He stumped almost every riding in the province. His pleasant, athletic manner, his enthusiasm and optimism, along with plans for extending the PGE Railway to the north, the Kitimat project, development of sustained forest yield and various other policies fell on welcome ears.

The result was a smashing victory for Mr. Johnson in his first election as government leader. Coalition won 39 of the 48 house seats and reduced the opposition CCF from 11 to seven members.

It was a notable political triumph, but the huge majority also contained the elements of trouble.

Since shortly after the war there had been factions within both Liberal and Conservative parties, tied as they were to their federal counterparts who were at odds in the national field, who wanted to return to the old line system and dissolve the Coalition.

Climate Right

On the face of it the climate seemed to be right since they now controlled more than three-quarters of the legislature between them.

It was with this in mind that the government sponsored a new system for elections, the alternative vote.

The idea behind it was that a voter who did not want a Liberal, but was not for the socialistic CCF, could vote Conservative and give his second vote to a Liberal. The same with the anti-Conservatives. In all it was supposed to work out that the three parties could go to the country without the three-way split creating a minority socialist government.

Troubles Multiply

When this act was passed in 1951 it was quite abvious that troubles between Mr. Johnson and the forceful Mr. Anscomb were multiplying.

Hospital insurance had got into financial difficulty through non-collection of some premiums, increasing costs of hospital administration and other factors. It was no secret that Mr. Anscomb, as finance minister, was insisting that it must stand on its own feet. And he may have, although it did not come out too publicly, been opposing the idea of increasing the sales tax (as was later done by Social Credit) to finance the scheme without premiums, and thus give the public something it did not seem to be paying for directly.

That was the background when two completely unpredictable events occurred.

Mr. Johnson, in September of 1950, had been attending a dominion-provincial conference in Ottawa when he became involved in an automobile accident in the East. His leg was seriously injured, including a nerve. His recovery was slow and never complete, so that he did not retain the full capability to do his daily work when he returned to his office.

The second, of course, was the spectacular decision of the present premier, W. A. C. Bennett, to desert the Coalition and Conservative cause.

Bennett Lost

Mr. Bennett had challenged Mr. Anscomb for the Conservative leadership and lost out at a convention.

But he retained his ambitions.

He sensed the infighting that was going on within Coalition and the reaction it was having in the backwoods. He also realized that the alternative voting system was the perfect formula for the rise of a third "free enterprise" party.

It was with this in mind that he made his sensational "disassociation" speech at the 1951 session and walked across the floor of the legislature to join the opposition. A few days later the late Mrs. Tillie Rolston of Point Grey joined him. They had always been good political friends in the Conservative party.

Misread Opinion

Many political observers have wondered whether Mr. Johnson assessed how deep was the public feeling represented by Mr. Bennett's rebellion. In November the same year Mr. Bennett sponsored A. C. Wurtele (now Esquimalt's reeve) as his candidate in an Esquimalt riding by-election. Mr. Wurtele, a bang-up second to the CCF winner, soundly beat the candidate for the Coalition party, which had held the seat previously.

At any rate this did not seem to concern Mr. Johnson in the events of the folowing year.

These began when Mr. Anscomb went to Ottawa for another in the long series of Dominion-provincial meetings which dealt with their intermingled affairs. Mr. Anscomb, as finance minister, had been fighting to get more money for B.C., as most finance ministers do. It must be remembered there was a Liberal government in power at Ottawa. Mr. Anscomb was a Conservative, as well as a Coalitionist.

At any rate when Mr. Anscomb returned to Vancouver late in January of 1952, he made a public statement regarding his negotiations. It appears that this was at variance with Mr. Johnson's views and had not been clared with him.

Fired Anscomb

Mr. Johnson acted swiftly. Using his powers as premier, he fired Mr. Anscomb and the rest of the Conservatives followed him out of the cabinet, thus ending the Coalition regime after nearly 11 years of joint power by the two parties.

It does not seem that this was a carefully planned break-up in the Coalition, despite the fact the background had been laid for it by the alternative vote. Rather it was an action created by the circumstances of the moment.

Once the step was taken Mr. Johnson was faced with another major political decision, greater perhaps than the first one of firing the Tories.

He had at least 22 members in the 48-seat House who were classed as Liberals and would undoubtedly support him.

There were several other members who had no direct party affiliation and had been elected only as Coalitionists. It is conceivable Mr. Johnson could have commanded a House majority and carried on in power.

Very powerful factions within the Liberal party urged him to do this in the belief there were several, including many Tories, who did not want an immediate election.

People's Decision

But it was then, probably, that Mr. Johnson's sporting instincts came to the top and he made his decision on a basis something like this:

"I have broken the Coalition after 11 years. The voters have elected us twice before as Coalitionists and they are the ultimate referees. Now we are back in separate parties, they should decide who shall govern."

So he met the legislature, secured a budget to carry on the day-to-day government functions and went to the country in a general election in June.

The result of that vote was the greatest turnover in British Columbia's political affairs since party government began in 1903.

Under the alternative vote counting system it took four weeks to determine the results because of the transfer system.

The end decision was: Social Credit, 19; CCF, 18; Liberals, 6; Conservatives, 4; Labor, 1.

Lost Their Grip

Which meant that the Liberals and Conservatives had lost their grip on B.C. affairs, that Social Credit had come out of the blue to become a major force, and that the alternative voting system worked against the party in power since it did nothing but lose votes on second and third counts. (Mr. Bennett took a lesson from this and scrapped it very quickly.)

Mr. Johnson had one more very serious decision to make before he stepped out of office.

As an experienced (19 years) politician Harold Winch, the CCF leader, commanded a group of 18 members. Social Credit, with 19 members, had no leader (Mr. Bennett was chosen leader after the voting).

Mr. Winch insisted that he be given the right to form a government. He believed that, with his background, he might get enough Liberal support to carry a majority.

The final task of a defeated premier is to recommend to the lieutenant-governor the party he thinks can command support.

Good Friends

Mr. Johnson and Harold Winch were good friends at the personal level. Mr. Bennett, of course, had been a thorn in his side.

Had he been vindictive to Mr. Bennett, Mr. Johnson might have proposed Mr. Winch as premier, with some semblance of constitutional right.

But "Boss" had always been for free enterprise and against socialism. Thus he reasoned that, as the new House was composed, Mr. Bennett would have the better chance of carrying on and he so recommended.

As on Aug. 1, 1952, when he turned over the reins to Mr. Bennett, Mr. Johnson had experienced one of the great upheavals and turning points in B.C.'s affairs.

But nothing will take away from him the title of "father of hospital insurance."

It was a great tragedy that this fine sportsman in 1955 suffered a stroke which kept him incapacitated during the latter years of his life.

WILL HE QUIT?

All Eyes Are on American Smoker

By JOHN BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American smoker, still lingering over the grim facts of a U.S. government report branding cigarette smoking a health hazard, is on centre stage to a big audience this week.

Legislators, investors, tobacco growers, cigarette manufacturers, legal and health authorities want to know: Will he quit? Will he cut down? What will happen to cigarette sales? Just how loud will the public reaction to the federal report be?

On these questions hinge a number of important decisions in coming days:

1. The tobacco companies have been invited to meet with the television code review board in Miami Beach, Jan. 22-23. Subject: The federal report and what it means to cigarette advertising on television.

2. The American Cancer Society's board of directors meets this month to assess educational campaigns against cigarette smoking, called by the federal report the major cause of lung cancer, the leading fatal malignancy in men.

3. Several bills will be introduced designed to better arm federal agencies to regulate the sale and advertising of cigarettes and to force the cautionary labelling of cigarettes as potentially hazardous.

4. Federal courts may be the scene of another test of the scientific report. Will it encourage further damage suits against tobacco companies by lung cancer victims? Will it improve their chance of collecting?

CAUSES LUNG CANCER

The new report—14 months in the making — cited cigarette smoking as the major cause of lung cancer, a significant cause of cancer of the larnyx, and associated it with a number of other cancers from those of the oral cavity to the bladder.

And there was an association —but not yet a proof of cause —between cigarettes and heart and blood vessel disease, and peptic ulcers.

So strong is the evidence of health hazard, the committee said, that it called for corrective action.

The surgeon-general's advisory committee on smoking and health surprised most observers with the strength of its denunciation of cigarette smoking. Even an official of the American Cancer Society, long an enemy of cigarettes, said he was pleasantly surprised by the forthrightness of the report.

But there appeared to be initial caution on the part of regulatory federal agencies—despite assurances the report would be no foot-dragging in filling what the scientific committee called a need for remedial action.

Senator Maurine Neuberger (Dem. Ore.) plans to introduce two bills this week, one to put a cautionary label on cigarettes, the other to start a federal educational program against cigarette smoking.

The success of either proposal in Congress will certainly depend on public demand, and how heavy it weighs against a $7,300,000,000 a year industry and the economic impact on 750,000 tobacco-producing farm families.

WON'T HURT SALES

As for sales, judging by past examples, the federal report is not likely to have a great or lasting effect.

Sales slid when the American Cancer Society in 1954 linked smoking to a shorter life, lung cancer and other disease, but they soon recovered.

In England, there was a 12½-per-cent drop in cigarette sales after the British ministry of health and the Royal College of Physicians indicated cigarettes as a lung cancer cause. But the scare had little lingering effect, and sales went back to normal levels.

In the United States sales of cigarettes continue to grow each year. And so do the numbers of deaths from lung cancer. The yearly toll now is 41,000.

Tobacco stocks on the New York stock exchange, however, have never quite got over the traumatic linkage of cigarettes and lung cancer. The levels are on the low side of some middle ground, and far from historic highs.

U.S. REPORT MAKERS JUST KEEP PUFFING

WASHINGTON (AP)—Of the five smokers of 10 scientists who wrote Saturday's U.S. government report on smoking and health, one says he plans to quit.

Two more admit to some personal soul-searching about the habit. The other two are just continuing to smoke.

The man who ordered the report 14 months ago—Surgeon-General Luther L. Terry—switched from cigarettes to a pipe two months ago.

And the secretary of health, education and welfare, Anthony J. Celebrezze, who has smoked pipes, cigars and cigarettes off and on for years, told a reporter:

"I am now limiting my smoking to an occasional pipeful of tobacco or cigar."

PAPER PLANS TO REFUSE 'SMOKES' ADS

TROY, Ohio (UPI) — The Troy Daily News today said in an editorial it would no longer accept national or local cigarette advertising.

"We believe sufficient evidence is available to indicate we should not in any way contribute to anyone either starting or continuing the habit," the editorial said.

German Cig Report Will Differ

DUSSELDORF (Reuters) — Polluted air is a more likely cause of lung cancer than cigarette smoking, according to a West German report on smoking due to be published soon.

Professor Reinhold Poche, head of the pathological institute at the Dusseldorf Medical Academy and chief of a team of scientists studying the effects of smoking on health for the last five years, said Sunday the report will clash with the latest U.S. and British reports on the subject.

But he said the team had concluded that heavy cigarette smoking definitely shortened expectation of life through other illnesses, mainly involving heart and blood circulation.

Among the main air pollution factors likely to contribute towards cancer is exhaust fumes of motor vehicles, he said.

Fire Claims Three-Year-Old As Father Rescues Four

CAMPBELL RIVER — Fire officials had praise today for a father who burst into his blazing home and tossed four of his five children to safety through a smashed window.

A fifth child, Debra Ann Hackett, 3, died when she apparently became frightened and hid under a bed as flames engulfed the family home on the Surges Narrows Indian Reserve 25 miles northeast of here Saturday.

Police said Charles Hackett, 28, and his wife Emma, were clearing land 300 yards from their home when the fire broke out. The husband raced to the house, smashed a window with his hands, climbed in and called to his children.

Delvis, 5, Harold, 4, Vincent, 2 and Charles Jr., 1, responded and were tossed out the window to safety by the father.

"But the little girl didn't come and he couldn't find her," a police officer said.

The body of Debra was found huddled under the ruins of a bed after the blaze had destroyed the home.

A neighbor rowed across Surges Narrows to radio for help. Hackett and Charles Jr. were flown to hospital here. The father was treated for hand burns and cuts and his son is in satisfactory condition with burns to hands and legs.

Fire officials said it is believed the fire started when one of the older boys threw gasoline on the cook stove.

DUNCAN—An overheated furnace pipe today was blamed by Fire Chief Pat Clackson for a fire which gutted a Baker Road house Friday night.

The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Barclay, and their two young children, were out when the blaze broke out at about 9:30 p.m.

The five-room bungalow is owned by A. G. Baker of Duncan.

The family had left home about 8:30 p.m. and the blaze was spotted about on hour later by neighbors.

The home pas partly insured but the family's belongings were not.

HILLIERS—A father of a a family of five received a shock Saturday when he arrived home from his job to find his house had been levelled by fire the day before.

Neighbors forgot to telephone the owner, Simon Fleischer, who works at Port Alberni.

His wife was in the hospital and he had left his children with his 14-year-old daughter.

The girl called neighbors and led the other children to safety but after the fire no one thought to inform the father.

Neighbors managed to save the TV set and a refrigerator. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Two Escapees Nabbed Hiding In Truck Cab

CAMPBELL RIVER—Wilmer Nielson, 20, a convict who escaped with two others from Lakeview Forestry Camp Friday, is still at large, RCMP said today.

His companions, William George Konkin, 20, and Francis Gigliotti, 22, were recaptured early Sunday morning. They were found hiding in the cab of a logging truck about eight miles north of the camp.

Police said Nielson, who is suffering from a leg injury, was last seen entering dense bush near the camp. He is serving time on a charge of possessing stolen goods.

They believe he has emergency rations with him. They were acquired during survival training.

The camp is a minimum security prison and is situated north of Campbell River.

TOOK MACHETTES

The two walked out of the cookhouse after supper Friday.

Guards missed them when checking prisoners a short while later and at the same time discovered machettes were missing from the tool shed.

Police said Konkin was serving time for breaking, entering and possession, and Gigliotti for possession.

Nielson's time was up on July 12 of this year.

RE-ELECTED chairman of rural Saanich School Board No. 63 is Reginald Sinkinson of Cordova Bay. He is starting his ninth term.

Air Service Studied By Nanaimo Chamber

NANAIMO—Chamber of Commerce president Dave Jones says his group is carrying out an air service feasibility survey in this area.

The survey concerns an air connection between this city and Vancouver.

"The survey is not completed," he said. "So far it is progressing favorably. When we have fuller details, I will be able to give a broader picture."

In 1962 and 1963 two companies proposed air connections between the two cities. One offered a 40-minute round-trip service by an old Stranraer flying boat and the other, by a Nanaimo group, suggested a link with an SRN-2 Hovercraft.

This latter proposal is still under survey by Westland Aircraft, designers of the Hovercraft, with Frank Ney heading the local enterprise. A fare of $5 per person one way was quoted.

Hull's Streak Has Fans Agog —And Guessing

By The Canadian Press

At least 30 for sure, probably 40, possibly 50 and —according to past performance—maybe even 60.

That's the trend of guesswork these days among National Hockey League fans who have started to speculate on how many goals Chicago's Bobby Hull will score this season.

His most avid admirers are convinced their blond hero will pass 50 and break the record he shares with Bernie Geoffrion and Maurice Richard. When he reached that milestone in 1961-62, he had only scored 13 goals in the first 35 games and needed a whirlwind finish to do it.

This season he passed the 21-goal mark midway through the season and that's why his boosters believe he will establish a new record for most goals in a season.

FOUR-GOAL WEEKEND

Hull needed 37 goals in his last 35 games two years ago to do it and this weekend embarked on another race to the wire with a four-goal performance in two games. The second half of the schedule is only six games old and he has seven goals, giving him a total of 28 in 41 games.

Hull scored three times Saturdy night to erase a 1-0 Detroit lead and rocket the Hawks to a 6-3 victory over the Wings. He scored again Sunday night but in a losing cause as Montreal edged Chicago 2-1.

Toronto missed a chance to gain ground on the Hawks when they split a home-and-home series with Boston, winning 3-1 at home but losing 6-3 at Boston Sunday. In the only other game played, Detroit beat New York 5-3.

FIRST IN CHICAGO

Bernie Geoffrion's 11th goal of the season gave the Canadiens their first victory on Chicago ice, but only their second win against the Hawks in nine games this season.

Gilles Tremblay opened the scoring at the six-minute mark of the first period while Pierre Pilote was in the penalty box for Chicago. Hull tied it up minutes later.

HULL RAPS IN THREE

But a Chicago audience of 15,514 wasn't let down Saturday as Hull rapped home three goals between 2:14 and 8:35 of the second period to deflate the Wings. Stan Mikita, Murphy and Kenny Wharram were the other Hawks marksmen.

Floyd Smith gave the Wings a 1-0 lead but Detroit buckled under Chicago's 45-shot assault and third-period goals by Pit Martin and Alex Delvecchio came too late.

The Wings came from behind twice Sunday night and fired 53 shots at New York's Jacques Plante for their 5-3 victory. Gordie Howe scored twice and set up Ed Joyal's game-winner. the final frame. Terry Sawchuk made 28 saves to Plante's 48.

Johnny Bucyk and Bruins both snapped 11-game slumps and goalie Ed Johnston made 38 saves in the 6-3 dumping of Toronto.

Bucyk had not scored and the Bruins had not won a game since Dec. 18 until Sunday night. Bucyk counted two goals to spark the Bruins.

Firemen Win Cup Third Time

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Firefighters captured soccer's Anderson Cup for the third year in succession Sunday, defeating North Shore United 3-0 in the final of the annual competition before almost 2,000 fans.

However, the Firemen got a lucky break for their first goal just before half time and added two more on breakaways in the second half, despite continuous North Shore pressure.

Leftwinger Louis Trischuk scored the first two goals for Firemen with inside right Tom Millar adding the third near the end.

'Y' Kids Hard on Visitors

Athletes of the Victoria YM-YWCA came through with flying colors Saturday in intercity competition.

Victorians took both sections of a swimming meet at Crystal Garden against Vancouver Central YMCA. Boys chalked up a 103-83 triumph over their mainland rivals and the girls breezed to a 144-28 victory.

West Vancouver YMCA ran into a rough reception at the "Y," were trimmed 162-67 by the host squad in a girls' gymnastic meet.

Individual honors also went to local gymnasts. Mardi Campbell was the best all-rounder in the intermediate division, Barbara Smythies was best in the junior section, and 10-year-old Janet Terry won five events to top the prep division.

Standouts for the Victoria swimmers in the 13-14 age group were Ricky Green, who won two events and shared a relay victory, and Brenda Aylward, winner of three events.

Aussie Side Pulls Ahead

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) Lefthander Bill Lawry (89) and Norman O'Neill (88) placed Australia in a good position with a second wicket stand of 140 on the third day of the third Test against South Africa here today.

When bad light and rain ended play for the day soon after tea, Australia, which won the second test after drawing the first, was 201 runs ahead with six second-innings wickets in hand. Australia was then 243 for 4. It scored 260 in its first innings, South Africa replying with 302.

Visiting Hoop Squads Hit Three-for-Four

Local schools managed only one victory in four attempts Saturday night in final games of a pair of senior high school exhibition basketball tournaments.

Visitors swept the boards in the girls' tourney at Victoria High.

Qualicum, paced by Barb MacDonald's 17-point effort, trimmed Vic High 49-33 and North Surrey's Queen Elizabeth High downed Oak Bay 19-14 in a defensive battle.

St. Louis College made it two straight victories in the boys' tournament at Esquimalt High, whipping South Burnaby 64-43.

Esquimalt lost 53-35 to Eric Hamber of Vancouver in the other Saturday game.

In Friday's opening games, Esquimalt defeated South Burnaby 46-38 and St. Louis edged Eric Hamber 31-28.

A PASS TO GLASS . . .

. . . was not intended by West quarterback Johnny Unitas but Bill Glass (80) made a fine interception and rambled 26 yards Sunday to set up a field goal by the East in the pro bowl game at Los Angeles. Unitas and West had most of the cannons, however, to post 31-17 win.

All-Stars Again Prove Power Lies in West

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Western Conference of the National Football League now has a third exhibit in support of its claim to superiority over the Eastern Conference.

The champion Chicago Bears of the Western Conference won the NFL title Dec. 29 by defeating New York's Eastern Conference champions 14-10 at Chicago. Then the Playoff Bowl game at Miami Jan. 5 saw the West's No. 2 team, Green Bay, score a 40-23 victory over Cleveland, the Eastern Conference runner-up.

Now to top it all came Sunday's annual Pro Bowl game, played before a crowd of 67,242 here and won by the Western Conference All-Stars 31-17.

The Western Conference submits that this sort of thing has been going on, almost without interruption, since 1957.

SIX OUT OF SEVEN

Of the last seven NFL title games, Western Conference teams have won six. In the Pro Bowl, the West has won six of the last eight.

Baltimore quarterback John Unitas threw two touchdown passes and Green Bay fullback Jim Taylor gained 98 yards rushing including a touchdown run of 37 yards, Sunday as the West scored its ninth Pro Bowl victory in 14 tries.

Unitas, for the third time in this series, was named player of the game. And Baltimore's retiring defensive end, Gino Marchetti, was named lineman of the game.

Cleveland fullback Jim Brown scored both of the East's touchdowns and led all rushers with 101 yards in 15 carries. Taylor got his 98 yards in 14 carries, averaging seven yards to Brown's 6.73.

Green Bay's Jesse Whittenton, Detroit's Gail Cogdill and Ray Berry of Baltimore scores other TDs for the West.

THIRD STRAIGHT WIN BREEZE FOR OLYMPICS

MANNHEIM, West Germany (CP) — Canada's young Olympic hockey team flashed to a 13-0 victory Saturday over Erc Mannheim in an exhibition game.

The victory was the third straight for the Canadians in a pre-Olympic European tour.

The Canadians, getting vocal support from more than 500 Canadians—servicemen and their families—showed superior puck control and their fast, clean play drew loud cheers. Only one penalty was handed out to each team.

Wall Ends Famine In San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Art Wall Jr., returned to the tournament spotlight after several so-so seasons with a victory Sunday in the $30,000 San Diego Open.

Wall, who hasn't had a really big year on the professional golf circuit since 1959 when he won among others the Masters and the Bing Crosby National, carved a par 70 in the final round for a 72-hole score of 274, six shots under par for the Rancho Bernardo Country Club course.

His last major victory was the 1960 Canadian Open.

Tony Lema finished with a rush-30 on the backside—and tied with Bob Rosburg at 276 for second. Rosburg had a 70.

National Open champion Julius Boros had a 74 for 282; Gene Littler 73 for 280; British Open champion Bob Charles 66 for 277, and Al Gieberger 71 for 279.

PALMER HAS 281

Arnold Palmer, finally shaking off a flu bug which had harrassed him all week, rallied with a 66 for 281.

Only one member of the Canadian contingent finished in the money. George Knudson of Toronto with 68-76-71-69 for a 284 total won $362.50. Out of the money was Al Johnson of Montreal with 75-69-76-71—291.

Al Balding of Toronto and Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg failed to survive the 144 cutoff after two rounds.

Junior Chinooks Sew Up Top Spot

Saints Catch It As City Cagers Rebound In Style

VANCOUVER — Victoria Chinooks have erased any doubts of their ability to climb off the deck like champions.

Chinooks bounced back from the first defeat of the season with a blistering attack here Sunday afternoon to defeat CYO Saints 88-70 and sew up first place in the Inter-City Junior Basketball League.

Riding an 11-game victory streak and needing only one more victory to clinch the league title when they arrived here for a pair of weekend games, Chinooks played probably their worst game of the season Saturday night and went down to a 75-66 defeat at the hands of Vancouver YMCA.

NO PANIC

If there was a time for the Chinooks, playing their first season in the inter-city circuit, to push the panic button, Sunday appeared to be it. They had to tangle with the Saints, the only club with a chance to knock the Islanders out of the top berth.

But the Chinooks, who had huddled without their coaches to discuss reasons for their defeat after Saturday's game, left no doubt they were back on the right trail after the opening minutes.

They ran too fast for the Saints, grabbed more than their share of rebounds, passed and checked tenaciously to pull steadily away from their rivals.

Chinooks were on front 23-18 at the quarter, 50-39 at half time and 67-53 after three quarters.

JACKSON SPARKLES

Ken Jackson turned in a spectacular effort for the Islanders, scoring 27 points to match Neil Williscroft of the Saints as the day's top point-collector.

Steady John Lauvaas made his jump shots good for 20 Victoria points, Gary Grunlund played a fine two-way game and tossed 15 points, and Ron Bowker was an outstanding rebounder for the Chinooks.

League officials announced Sunday that playoffs will start in Vancouver Jan. 30 and in Victoria Feb. 1 with the Chinooks meeting the fourth-place finishers and the runners-up clashing with the third-place team.

Semifinals will be best-of-three and the final will be a best-of-five series.

KEPT CLOSE

Although lacking their usual smoothness, Chinooks were in the battle until the closing minutes in Saturday's struggle with YMCA.

They blew a 41-33 lead in the third quarter, bounced back to within two points, at 61-59, in the fourth but could not keep up with the fast-breaking Y crew in the home stretch.

Chinook hopes of a late rally faded with seven minutes remaining when Ken Gregory, their scoring leader with 20 points, fouled out. With two minutes on the clock, Jackson fouled out after contributing 19 points.

Guards Hugh Bruggencate, Jim Harrison and John Drew paced the Y, collecting 17, 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Scoring:

Victoria—Ron Bowker 8, Doug Richardson 2, Bruce Robertson 7, Mike Gallo 2, Gary Grunlund 15, Jim McKeachie 2, Ken Jackson 27, John Lauvaas 20, Dave Russell 5. Total 88.

CYO—Brian Adams 13, Ian Donald 7, Bob Dumont 2, Mike Eivemark 7, Bob Fraser 1, Roger Kettlewell 6, Neil Worboys 2, Al Warwick 5, Neil Williscroft 27. Total 70.

SATURDAY

YMCA—Moore 10, Carter 10, Stewart 2, Harrison 16, Drew 14, Myers 2, Claridge 2, Turriff 2, Bruggencate 17. Total—75.

Victoria—Gregory 20, Bowker 4, Turner 4, Gallo 2, Jackson 19, Lauvaas 16, Russell 1. Total—66.

NOCTURNES GRAB FIRST

Bakers Split With Grocers

It could be worse.

Haida Chiefs, faced with a possible sudden-death game for a playoff berth in the Intercity Basketball League, now have two chances to make the grade . . . if they need them.

Chiefs meet Vancouver Bakers on the mainland next Sunday. At stake—fourth and final playoff spot. Chiefs lead by two points. If they win it's all over for Bakers. If they lose, a sudden-death game will be necessary.

This complex state of affairs arose out of a weekend which saw Bakers split with Vancouver Grocers (winning Saturday 72-66 and losing Sunday 58-54) and Harlem Nocturnes regain first place from Alberni Athletics.

The A's took command Saturday 97-65 and fell Sunday 69-54. Both were knock-'em-about affairs with Athletics often most prominent in the eyes of the referees.

Without a league game, Chiefs kept in trim by bouncing Bellingham All-Stars 76-52 in an exhibition at Central Junior High.

FADE AT END

In Vancouver Sunday Bakers were two minutes away from their second straight victory over Grocers when the glue came unstuck. Mel Brown gave Grocers the lead, 54-52 with one minute 50 seconds to play. Mike Potkonjak tied it with two free throws and then John Kootnekoff looped one in with 25 seconds and that was it. Had Bakers been able to hold on, their next Sunday date with Chiefs would have been for keeps.

A concerted team effort enabled Alberni to handle Harlem Saturday. Big Neil Dirom played a major role. He held Harlem's high-scoring Billy Joe Price to 11 points in the first half. Price went on to finish with 24 after Dirom fouled out but by then some fine Alberni shooting had lifted the A's too far ahead to be caught.

FOULS HURT

Their temporary lease on first place came to an abrupt end Sunday. Ironically it was a team effort that brought defeat. The A's were tagged with 35 fouls (out of 61), lost their big men Don Krego, Dirom, Denny Grisdale and Sig Kuehn in the third quarter.

SUNDAY

Grocers—Forsyth 4, Terriw, Pederson, Candlish 22, Kootnekoff 10, Hik 5, Dixon, Anthony, Predinchuk, Lemon 13, Brown 4. Total 58.

Haidas Sharp

Victoria Haida Chiefs, hoping to clinch an Inter-City Basketball League playoff berth in their final league game at Vancouver next Sunday, looked sharp in a tune-up tussle Saturday night.

They trimmed Bellingham All-Stars 76-52 in an exhibition game at Central Junior High School although playing without scoring ace Darrell Lorimer, sidelined with a strep throat.

Pete Simmonds potted 24 points for the Chiefs and Norris Martin added 18.

Chiefs—Wilson 10, Simmonds 24, Devlin 4, Spotswood 4, Steele 6, Gilbert 4, Sadler 2, Cunningham 4, Martin 18. Total 76.

Cougars Beat Sailors; Regals Trip Pontiacs

Navy and Pacific both went down to weekend defeats as they prepared for an Esquimalt and District Hockey League battle Tuesday night.

Navy took on the Victoria Junior Cougars Sunday at Memorial Arena and came out on the short end of a 7-3 count.

Pontiacs hopped over to Powell River Saturday, ran into a second-period slump and were thumped 11-5 by the home-town Regals.

Regals scored six times in the second period.

Two goals by Bill German and single tallies by Joe Iannarelli, Orv Coulter and Keith Lawrence accounted for the Esquimalt scoring.

JOHANSEN GETS FOUR

The line of Les Johansen, Don Wilson and Paul Bion set the victory pace Sunday as the Cougars outskated the sailors.

Johansen fired four goals and earned one assist, Wilson picked up four assists and Bion chipped in with a goal and two helpers.

Ed Hastings played a strong game in goal for the Cats, blocking 34 shots. He was beaten twice by Claude McKenzie, once by Ron Cooke.

Tuesday's game at the Sports Centre is a replay of league game played Jan. 3, won by Pontiacs and successfully protested by Navy. Game time is 8 p.m.

Forwards Add Speed, Shots To Repertoire

Shooters started shooting, and the fast, young legs started running.

Those were some of the more obvious factors that helped Victoria United to fashion its 3-1 victory over Vancouver Wallaces in Saturday's Pacific Coast Soccer League joust at Royal Athletic Park.

Perhaps not as obvious but equally instrumental was George Paul.

The veteran centre-forward was the key that turned United's young front line into a surprisingly strong production unit. Paul, often maligned because of his slow, deliberate play, figured in two of Victoria's three goals.

The likes of Russ Ball, Ash Waldal, Jimmy Clarke and Henry Vanderhorst supplied the speed. It was Paul, feeding his linemates beautifully, who supplied the all-important cohesion.

It wasn't an all-conquering display. Still, United's attack was a vast improvement over what Victoria fans had grown accustomed.

BALL POTS PAIR

Ball scored two of the goals and Pat Mulcahy supplied the clincher in a victory that propelled United into sole possession of fourth place in the eight-team league.

Victoria leads North Shore by two points but the fifth-place club, however, has two games in hand.

In another Saturday game, played at Vancouver, wee Normie McLeod scored three goals to lead league-leading Canadians to a 4-1 victory over New Westminster Royals.

Ken Ferrier scored Canadians' other goal, while inside left Ron Paton rapped in Royals' goal in the second half.

SHOT OFTEN

In Victoria, 469 customers found much to talk about in the improvement of United's offence. Making it so was a sudden willingness, on the part of Victoria players, to shoot more often than usual.

Ball, finishing off a double relay from Waldal and Paul, opened scoring at the 13-minute mark. He made it 2-0 six minutes after the interval, springing loose from a scramble in front of Wallaces' goal to rap the ball into an unguarded net.

Waldal, playing his first home game of the season, was instrumental in setting up the score with some fine dribbling inside the Wallace penalty area.

TWO CHANCES

Mulcahy made it 3-0 23 minutes later, from the penalty shot. Actually, Mulcahy had to score twice to get credit for one goal.

Paul, moving in with Mulcahy on a break-away, was upset by Wallace goalkeeper Ed Christian. Referee Keith Bickmore failed to concede United the advantage and whistled the play dead as Mulcahy drove the ball into the open net.

Taking a second chance, Mulcahy made no mistake.

Sigi Gohringer, Wallaces' best performer, scored for the Vancouver side 10 minutes before full time, taking advantage of sloppy United clearing to score from a scramble.

SCORES THREE GOALS

Dillon a Villain To Boot Rivals

Ranjit Dillon is only a paperweight among Victoria and District Soccer League players, but as far as Victoria West is concerned the fleet little forward is worth his weight in gold dust.

As far as Esquimalt is concerned, he's a villain.

Ranji was buzzing at his best at Bullen Park Sunday and rapped home three goals to keep the front-running Wests three points ahead of the First Division pack.

Ahead 2-0 at half time, Wests got an unexpectedly stiff battle from lowly Esquimalt before collecting a 4-2 triumph. Maurice Bunyan twice lifted Esquimalt within one goal before Al Metcalfe fired the clincher for Wests in the closing stages.

Brodies Bakery kept pace with Wests in the only other first division match played Sunday. The Bakers moved past idle Gorge Hotel into second placed with a 3-2 decision over Kickers.

Ralph Marwood, Ian Harris and John Craig counted for Brodies, who have a game in hand over the leaders. Otto Essege and Manfred Heider scored for Kickers, who finished with 10 men after one of their players was banished for "ungentlemanly conduct" shortly before the intermission.

In the second division it was a happier afternoon for Kickers in a day of shutouts. Kickers remained deadlocked with Oak Bay in first place by blanking Navy 2-0 while the Bays were blasting Gorge 3-0.

Dunlops, who had scored only nine times in 13 previous outings, fired four goals to trim Kings 4-0 and climb out of the cellar.

Racing Strike Settled . . . Neither Side Wins

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The strike that cancelled five days of horse racing at Santa Anita Park—at a loss estimated by management at $5,000,000—was settled Sunday in a 12-hour bargaining session.

Santa Anita plans to resume racing Tuesday.

Don Smith of La Jolla, president of the Federation of California Racing Associations, who made the loss estimate, said "neither side won."

Management and union sources said settlement terms of the three-year contract include:

A 75-cent daily raise now, a similar raise in a year and another a year later—a total of $2.25—for about 1,400 employees at this and other tracks.

JANITORS, USHERS

The workers include parimutuel employees, janitors, ushers, gatemen, guards, jockey valets, assistant starters and veterinarian assistants. Pay now ranges from about $24 a day for ushers to $70 a day for parimutuel calculators.

Health and welfare costs for retired employees are to be met in whatever proportion the union decides, out of the $2.25 total wage package.

Twice last week negotiations broke down completely. Executives of the track said they were seriously considering turning it into a shopping and residential development.

Island Curling Picture Completed by Thomson

Esquimalt's hopes for the men's Island curling championship ride with Harv Thomson, Jim Crawford, Bill Fussey and Phil Roberts.

The Thomson-skipped crew defeated Dave Haywood's rink 11-8 Saturday at the Sports Centre to emerge as the top quartet in Esquimalt's eight-rink, round-robin series.

Losers of their first game, the Thomson foursome reeled off six straight victories to finish with a 6-1 record. Runers-up were Lyle Gordon and veteran Jack Moir, each with 5-2 marks.

Gordon, unbeaten heading into the last two games of the competition, had a chance to force a playoff on Sunday. However, Gordon, 5-1 heading into Saturday's round, was beaten 10-7 by Alec More.

Esquimalt is the last of seven clubs to name a representative in the Island finals.

The men's Island series will be played Jan. 18-19 at Courtenay while the women's event is scheduled for Nanaimo Jan. 20-21.

Oak Bay, Vics Hoop Victors

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Island teams Saturday night wrapped up a two-day four-game exhibition high school bsketball series in Vancouver with convincing victories.

Victoria High defeated Vancouver College 47-34 and Oak Bay beat Lord Byng 57-35.

In the opening games played Friday night Victoria High defeated Lord Byng 48-35 and Oak Bay downed Prince of Wales 51-30.

Ernie Hits Guard; Hec Collects Cars

CALGARY (CP)—Hec Gervais of Edmonton scored a thrilling 8-7 verdict over arch-rival Ernie Richardson of Regina to win the second annual Masters curling championship here Saturday night.

Gervais, 1961 Canadian and world champion, drew his last rock around a guard fully to the button and took home first prize of four compact cars when Richardson nudged a guard with his last rock.

Defeat was a bitter disappointment for Richardson, the defending champion. It was his first loss of the bonspiel after six consecutive victories—compared to Gervais' record of 8-3.

Richardson blanked the 11th to keep last rock going to the final end but the strategy backfired.

Gervais, curling behind Ron Anton, Ray Werner and Wally Ursuliak, advanced to the final against four-time Canadian and world champion Richardson Saturday afternoon with an 11-6 decision over Merv Mann of Saskatoon.

Ron MacLeod Best by Four

Professional Ron MacLeod fired a two-under-par 68 at Uplands Golf Club Sunday to grab a four-stroke lead in the opening round of the second city winter medal golf series.

Deadlocked in second place with 72s were Chemainus pro Norm Boden and amateur Bill Wakeham.

Dr. Roger Ross and Claude Heggie, who also carded 72s, shared the low-net lead with Cliff Soberg with net 67s.

Dick Munn, winner of the first three-round series, struggled to a 77.

Nanaimo Curlers Take Challenge

DUNCAN—Barney Holm skipped his Nanaimo rink to a 9-7 victory over Duncan's Harvey Hodge Sunday night to capture the Grand Challenge event in the 12th annual Duncan curling bonspiel.

Holm also won the fourth event Sunday and other honors in the 32-rink 'spiel were divided between Duncan, Victoria and Vancouver.

Lowell Berkey of Duncan captured the first event Saturday night, scoring four on the eighth end and going on for a 12-8 decision over Vancouver's Ron Andrews.

Larry Marshall's Victoria rink, skipped by Norm Richardson, came out on top in the second event by downing the Hodge quartet 10-6 in the final.

Sam Finkbeiner collected a victory for Vancouver by downing Duncan's Mike Willis in Sunday's third event final.

Holm bested Mike Smith of the host club to reach the semi-finals of the Grand Challenge, open to rinks reaching semis of the four other events. Hodge marched into the final round by downing the Marshall-Richardson combination.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Peter Eager, age 11, of Sherrill, N.Y., for his question:

What is density?

The number of different materials in the universe is countless. But all of them are fragments of matter such as molecules, atoms and atom particles. They may be solids, liquids, gases or plasmas. Yet all kinds and states of matter have certain properties. All matter has mass, or weight, and density.

A measuring cup of mercury weighs 13.5 times more than one of water. A pot made of iron is almost three times heavier than its twin model made of aluminum. These weight differences are due to density, a quality of matter which is related to weight and volume. Weight is the pull of the earth's gravity upon an amount of matter. Volume is the amound of space which the material or matter occupies.

Mercury is 13.5 times denser than water and iron is almost three times denser than aluminum. The density of an object is its weight divided by its volume. Suppose we have a boulder which occupies a volume of 100 cubic feet and its weight is seven tons, which is 14,000 pounds. Its density per cubic foot is 140 pounds. The density of water per cubic foot is 62.4 pounds, of lead 705 pounds, of air 0.08 pounds.

The differences, of course, depend upon the amount of matter or material packed into the same volume. Matter is made of atoms—perhaps there are more atoms in a denser substance, but not necessarily. A liter of air and one of hydrogen contain the same number of atoms. But the weight and therefore the density of the air is almost 15 times greater.

Atoms Closely Packed

Atoms, of course, come in assorted weights and sizes. Perhaps the denser materials are made of the big, heavy atoms. This may be part of the story. The iron atom is twice as big and more than twice as heavy as an atom of aluminum. And iron is almost three times denser than aluminum. The gold atom is almost twice as heavy as the silver atom, and the density of gold is almost twice that of silver. But this cannot be the whole story. The mercury atom is heavier than the gold atom, and gold is almost twice as dense as merucy. The density of a substance is caused by the weight of its individual atoms and how closely these atoms are packed into a given space or volume.

For measuring the density of solids, scientists use the cubic centimeter, which is about half a thimbleful. The density of gases is measured by the liter, which is about a quart. Specific gravity is another way of measuring density. In this method, a volume of, say, iron or aluminum is compared with an equal volume of water. The specific gravity of iron is 7.80, of aluminum 2.70. Iron is 7.8 times denser and aluminum 2.7 times denser than water.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book globe to Laurie Hoffman, age 9, of Rochester, N.Y., for her question:

How much does the sun weigh?

The sun is more than a million times bigger than our little earth. You might expect it to weigh a million times more than our world, but it does not. Its weight is about 333,000 times more than the weight of the world. Experts call the weight of a heavenly body its mass, which means the amount of material stuffed into it. Weight depends upon gravity, which is different in different places. Mass is always the same.

The mass of the earth in tons is about 6.580 sextillion. This figure is 6,580 followed by 18 zeros. The mass of the sun in tons is this huge figure multiplied by 333,000. In round figures, this is 2,270 followed by 24 zeros, which is roughly the mass or weight of the sun.

JFK Threat Dismissed

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A federal grand jury refused to indict Russell W. McLarry Friday on a charge of threatening the life of President Kennedy. The Secret Service charged that the 21-year-old McLarry told fellow students at Arlington State College that "he would be waiting with a gun to get the president" when Kennedy came to Dallas Nov. 22. McLarry resided in Dallas.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Let's face it," says Al Martino. "A year ago, I was dead on records. I was a has-been . . .

"Nothing much had happened to me in 11 years, not since I did 'Here in My Heart,' in 1952."

Suddenly the Philadelphia bricklayer-singer of pop and semi-classical songs switched to "country music"—and in six months he knocked off three hits ("I Love You Because," "Painted, Tainted Rose" and "Living a Lie") and sold 1,500,000 records and 250,000 albums. At 36, he has staged a genuine comeback.

"How broke was I?" Al said. "Let's say I didn't have enough money to eat in my favorite restaurant, Marchi's.

"I didn't, as they say, have anything going for me."

The Al Martino comeback is a story of one man's refusal to be beaten. Having nothing much in America after that "Here in My Heart" hit in '52, he went to Europe for six years then came back to find music patterns all changed. He was in a strange land . . . his own.

"I had to get out there and make them believe in me again,' Al remembered, spinning the tale in Lindy's the other afternoon.

"But I couldn't even get a recording session.

BORROWED $14,000

"I borrowed $14,000—yeah, from my mother—that is, she was my sponsor with the bank—to get together an album titled 'The Exciting Voice of Al Martino.'

"Our family did all right as bricklayers. Jack Kelly did all right as a bricklayer, didn't he?

"The agreement was that if that album sold enough for the recording company selling it to break even, I would get a crack at a single session.

"I had to sel 40,000 albums. That's 40,000 more than I'd sold in 11 years.

"I borrowed enough money to tour the country and get all the information I could about the music business. There was no end to the expenses. I used about 50 musicians in the album session. My mother had to sign it for me at the bank. Good old Mom! My mother sponsored me on the 'Here in My Heart' song when I recorded that, too."

At last—when the album paid its way—Al was ready again but looking for material.

"Nat (King) Cole had done 'Ramblin Rose' country style. He was pop and I was pop. Maybe I could sing country!"

FIRST ONE

Last February, Al asked a music publisher to let him have some country albums.

"The publisher left some Eddie Howard albums on his desk. The first one I picked up had 'I Love You Because.'

"I took that home to Philadelphia on the train and put it on my record player, and played it over and over for about two hours. I kept saying, 'That record's a hit.' But I worried that if Eddie brought out his before mine, it would ruin me. I would just have to keep it quiet."

When Al long-distanced Capitol Records vice-president Voyle Gilmore in Los Angeles about the song, the latter said, "Sing it on the phone!"

He did, Gilmore was impressed, and they were off.

RAN AWAY

"You're a country singer—have you ever been in the country?" I asked Al.

"When I was 13, I ran away from home . . . down south to New Orleans . . . I was staying at the Salvation Army and I got an old man there to pose as my father and give me permission to enlist in the navy. I was the only Yankee in the outfit.

"I was always singing and playing a guitar. That started it.

"Just the other day," Al continued, "I paid off that $14,000 loan. I had to live with that loan for three years. My mother worked hard for that money. I'd have been in hock for the rest of my life if I hadn't made good. I couldn't ever have built enough brick walls to pay that off. . . ."

Barbara Streisand, who shopped at the Thrift Shop not long ago, just gave 'em $500 worth of clothes—and that's what one year can do for you in show business. . . Paul Anka received 50 souvenir Eiffel Towers during his French tour—all made in Japan.

A biography of the President's Lady will be titled "First Lady Bird." . . . Comic Rip Taylor'll do his "cry" routine in the Robert Goulet film, "Richest Girl in Town."

Yul Brynner's air fares in '63 totaled $34,000; Bobby Morse cracked, "Think what he'd save if he was afraid of flying." . . . Milton Berle, who played a dramatic role on the Chrysler TV series, said, "It's quite a switch not getting laughs"—and added jokingly, "Without trying to, I mean."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: It's a secret, whispers Bob Orben, but one of those African nations has its own H-bomb. Their prob is building a blowgun big enough to handle it.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Jimmy Dean defines a H'wood marriage: "It starts with sentiment and ends with a settlement."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Something worth remembering is the fact that you only have one chance to make a first impression."—Pat Buttram.

EARL'S PEARLS: One thing about television—the more unsuitable it is for children, the quieter it seems to keep them.

New Rudyard Kipling Scores A Canadian Postal 'First'

The Rudyard Kipling is the first apartment block in Canada to have mail delivery to each floor.

Permission had to be obtained from the post office department in Ottawa for the 10-storey block in Oak Bay, built on the site of the former Old Charming Inn, to provide this service. Its builders say they sought the innovation as the final touch in planning for gracious living.

The Rudyard Kipling, whose first tenants have just recently moved in, was the brainchild of F. Maurice McGregor, well-known pioneer Victoria flier and airlines official.

F. M. McGREGOR
. . . created concept

His career has included opening Trans-Canada Airlines first office, flying its first flight, helping stretch its service and that of Canadian Pacific Airlines (which he later joined) around the world. He also helped establish Pakistan's international air service before returning to take over B.C. Airlines.

Mr. McGregor says that his experience in spotting and developing new business possibilities for the airlines was a key factor in the creation of The Rudyard Kipling.

Not Stereotyped

"After selling out B.C. Airlines I became interested in real estate and building projects," he says, "and I thought I recognized in the Old Charming Inn an excellent site for a first-class apartment."

In November, 1961, he discussed the matter with B. Russel Ker and then with a group of Victoria business and professional men formed Chatham Estates to build The Rudyard Kipling.

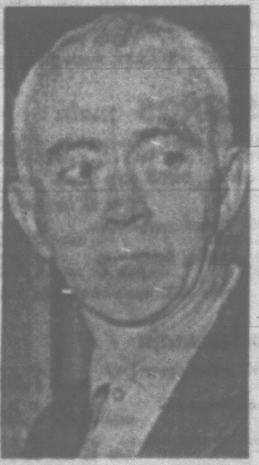
W. D. Buttjes, European-born architect whose ability had been proven in two previous Victoria apartments and a number in Vancouver, was retained.

"We asked Mr. Buttjes to design and develop a building that was not stereotyped in any way," Mr. McGregor says. "It was to have large suites and a spacious lobby.

Used Antiques

"We wished the building to retain as many characteristics as possible of the Old Charming Inn and yet be a monument to modern gracious living."

Biely Construction Co. of Vancouver, with the experience of 50 apartments behind them, was retained. "The architect and contractor between them have superbly achieved our objective," Mr. McGregor said.



ALLAN EDWARDS
. . . designed lobby

Furnishings and decorations of the lobby were placed in the hands of Allan Edwards of Victoria, who has decorated Hilton hotels in Beverley Hills, Puerto Rico, Havana and Cairo, the interior of the Royal Hawaiian in Honolulu, and three hotels for Pakistan, and is a member of Victoria's advisory planning commission.

He designed special lamps, found a chandelier in Los Angeles, and incorporated the best of the Old Charming Inn antiques, particularly in an alcove off the lobby to be known as The Old Charming Inn Lounge.

Wide View

Sod-turning ceremony took place in November, 1962, and actual construction the next month.

The building contains five large apartments on each floor above the ground floor, with two penthouses on the top. Every apartment has a better than 180-degree view including the Oak Bay waterfront. Mt. Tolmie, Mt. Baker and the Olympics are all clearly visible from the flats.

Solid teak doors, each with a "porch light," open into the apartments which range from 1218 to 1410 square feet. Each has a balcony, 6½ feet wide and at least 20 feet long, big enough to barbecue on, two bedrooms, double plumbing and astounding cupboard space are provided in each, with laundry facilities on every floor.

There are four telephone outlets in each apartment, including one in the master bathroom. Cablevision will be installed.

Management of The Rudyard Kipling is being handled by Ker and Stephenson Ltd.

Maids' Rooms Provided

In addition to lobby, caretaker's suite, lockers and offices, The Rudyard Kipling's ground floor contains living quarters for maids of the tenants, with their own sitting room.

Wrote There in 1907

Kipling Desk Pride of Lobby

Pride of the large lobby of Oak Bay's new luxury apartment block is an old inlaid desk. The desk carries a bit of Victoria's history and gives the block its name.

For it was at that desk, when it was in the lobby of what was then known as the Oak Bay Hotel, that Rudyard Kipling sat to write his oft-quoted words of praise about the city.

But he didn't write only praise. He wrote some rollicking sad verses too.

John Virtue, who had built the Oak Bay Hotel (it became the Old Charming Inn much later) was known as a convivial host. Kipling was a "special" guest.

And at the desk Kipling wrote a poem. "A gilded mirror and a polished bar" he began. "That's my recollection of last night." And ended: "Did I swear off? I got drunk again!"

MISS EWING

Charming Inn Owners Like History Tie

The people who knew the Old Charming Inn best came to pay their respects to The Rudyard Kipling apartment block the other day.

Mrs. F. M. Armour came to see what had been done on the site of the old Oak Bay landmark where she had lived for 15 years of the 17 years it was owned by her sister, the late Miss J. M. Ewing. She liked what she saw.

"My sister named the old place," Mrs. Armour said, "and she turned it back into a hotel."

When she entered the Italian marble foyer she paused to look at two of the antique tables from the Old Charming Inn. Beyond them was the inlaid desk at which Rudyard Kipling wrote his praises of Victoria during a visit in 1907.

"It's wonderful to see the old things again," she said. "Oh, don't I know them well."

But her eyes were quickly caught by the new as well.

"I like this carpet, and I just love the panelling."

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Morrow, who ran the inn for 10 years until it was sold to make way for The Rudyard Kipling, were equally enthusiastic.

"You can't compare the old world and the new," said Mrs. Morrow. "And just as lovely as the old inn was to its day, this is to its day—and we are living in our day after all."

She was especially pleased to see the old Russian oak wardrobe in the Old Charming Inn Lounge of the apartment's lobby.

"I had always hoped to have something on this corner that was outstanding and I think we've got it," Mr. Morrow said.

Two Elevators, Covered Parking

Two self-serve elevators, one large enough for most furniture, speed residents and guests of The Rudyard Kipling at 100 feet a minute to their apartments. Covered parking is provided on two levels, one underground.

Lobby Locked

Entry to the lobby of The Rudyard Kipling is controlled by residents. All suites are connected by inter-com to the main entrance which has an electrically-operated lock.

BLOCK GETS TENANTS FROM U.S., EAST

The Rudyard Kipling's appeal is not confined to Victorians.

First tenants to sign a lease were a couple of prominent San Franciscans who have vacationed in Victoria for several summers. They picked their suite from the plans. First to move in were a couple from Montreal who have retired to Victoria. Others are coming from Vancouver.

First Victorians to move in sold their home in favor of apartment living.

Apartments De Luxe

Offering Premium Suites Overlooking Victoria's Beauty

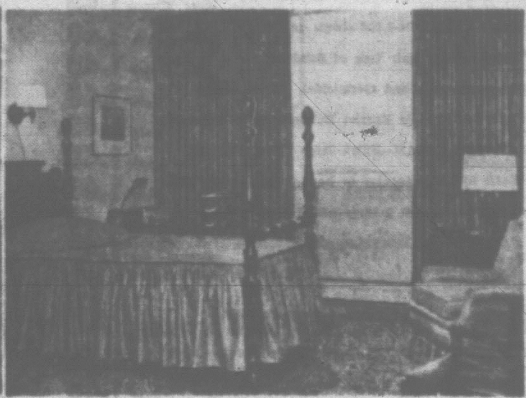
Where The Old Charming Inn once stood on Beach Drive, overlooking the waters of Oak Bay, the stately new Rudyard Kipling apartment complex now dominates the shoreline.

The owners, Chatham Estates Ltd., fully conscious of their responsibility in obtaining such a magnificent site, have spared no expense in making these exclusive apartments the epitome of luxurious living, for the discriminating person. Special arrangements have been made for mail delivery on each floor and there are two elevators for extra convenience.

Imaginative design and meticulous construction combine harmoniously to bring comfort and elegance to The Rudyard Kipling. The quiet, tastefully decorated suites, with their large rooms, broad halls, high ceilings and airy balcony patios will appeal to those who accept only the best as their normal way of living.

- Elegance is the keynote in the spacious living rooms. Sliding floor-to-ceiling glass doors open on the wide individual balcony patios, each with a spectacular view of the city, ocean and mountains. Considerable discrimination has been used in the choice of hardware and lighting fixtures including the exquisitely wrought Italian crystal chandeliers.

- Kipling Kitchens are models of modern efficiency and beauty. Tastefully colored General Electric ranges, refrigerator-freezers, and dishwashers blend with the warm wood tones of solid maple cabinets. Counter space is ample, and the floors are of easy-care vinyl tile.



- Each master bedroom in The Rudyard Kipling has its own private bathroom en suite. These are completely tiled, featured Dial-Cet bathtubs, triple mirrors, maple cabinets and a telephone outlet to make tub-talk feasible!

- Every suite commands a breathtaking, ever-changing view of Victoria, with its surrounding water and mountains. Mount Baker, the Gulf Islands, the Olympic Mountains . . . all are spread out below for your enchantment. And at night the scene is even more beautiful, when the lights of the city twinkle and sparkle out of the blackness.

- Without a doubt, The Rudyard Kipling, alone in Victoria offers ALL the amenities that combine to make apartment dwelling a truly luxurious and desirable adventure in gracious living.

RUDYARD KIPLING and Victoria

In 1907, Rudyard Kipling was a guest at the Old Charming Inn, then called the Oak Bay Hotel. Mr. Kipling was so enchanted with Victoria that he was moved to write these words about our city:

"The high still twilights along the beaches are out of the Old East just under the curve of the world, and even in October the sun rises warm. Earth, sky and water wait outside every man's door to drag him out to play if he looks up from his work; and though some other cities in the Dominion do not quite understand this immoral mood of nature, men who have made their money in them go to Victoria and, with the zeal of converts, preach and preserve her beauties."

Calls are now being accepted for appointments to view. Please phone Russel Ker or Norman Featherstone of Ker & Stephenson Ltd., exclusive agents for The Rudyard Kipling, EV 5-3411.

Topics of the Day

Wind and tide that jammed Horseshoe Bay with driftwood logs have taken them all back out to sea again.

A storm in Juan de Fuca Strait Thursday night jammed logs into the little bay at the foot of Beacon Hill Park until it was filled from headland to headland.

They were all driftwood logs—no booms have been reported broken up in the strait since early December.

Tide and wind began to disperse the logs again Saturday, leaving the bay virtually free of driftwood by this morning.

Trailer Fan To Form City Club

Poor trailer facilities — or total lack of them here—is a detriment to tourism and could be improved with a trailer owners' club, Charles Cameron, 1568 Oakcrest, said today.

Mr. Cameron, who has been trailer travelling for 14 years and is now in his seventh trailer, invites any of the estimated 200 Victoria trailer travellers to meet at his home at 8 p.m. Friday to form the first local trailer club.

COMMON IN U.S.

These clubs are a common thing in the U.S., Mr. Cameron said. They are formed to enhance the enjoyment of trailer travel and to promote the improvement of trailering facilities, wherever trailer travel is feasible.

He said existing facilities in the city and in Vancouver, too, are limited and inadequate.

'ASHAMED'

"I'm ashamed to tell people what we have here," Mr. Cameron said.

If there were better facilities here more tourists would come to take advantage of them, he said.

Most developed American trailer sites for tourists—aside from permanent trailer locations—have a swimming pool, laundering and shower facilities, a concrete pad and other amenities, Mr. Cameron pointed out.

Plucky Sitter Fights Thief For Handbag

Tug-of-War Won By 15-Year-Old

A 15-year-old babysitter fought off a prowler Saturday night when he broke into the home she was minding and grabbed her purse.

The two had a tug-of-war over the purse—and the babysitter won.

Her attacker is described by Saanich police as about 18, 5'10" with dark hair, wearing a black leather jacket.

HEARD NOISE

The girl was watching television about 11:45 in a basement rumpus room when she heard a noise upstairs. There were several children in the house. She went up to investigate.

After finding the front door open, she checked a bedroom and saw the shadow of a man.

He rushed at her, pushed her into the room and slammed the door behind her.

TAKING PURSE

When she got the door open she saw him in the kitchen taking her purse from the table.

She grabbed it and held on, forcing him to let go to get away.

He escaped out the front door, empty-handed.

Seven Rezoning Bids Tonight In Saanich

Seven Saanich rezoning applications will come up at a public hearing tonight in Saanich municipal hall.

Rezoning would permit operation of:

A veterinary clinic on the Pat Bay Highway near Elk Lake;

A private swimming pool at Pear and Shelbourne;

An archery range at Vanalman and Glanford.

A private hospital at Cook and Maplewood;

A motel in the 5400 block Pat Bay Highway;

A marine sales and service store at 736 Cloverdale;

A commercial zone at the corner of Shelbourne and Donnelly.

The hearing starts at 7:30.

TREASURE ISLAND GOES UNDER

Treasure Island has had it.

Visitors' Bureau commissioner Alan Maclean doesn't like the name as a tourist lure to Vancouver Island.

And he told the Times today: "Tourists confuse the name Vancouver Island with the city of Vancouver. We must have a distinctive name."

Mr. Maclean will consider any suggestions sent to him at the Visitors' Bureau, 786 Government.

Bennett Set To Act On Welfare

Premier Bennett returned from holiday today with a promise of salary boosts and other measures to improve social welfare services.

Questioned as he arrived at Vancouver by air from Hawaii, he said the salary increases would be for B.C.'s social service workers.

He was irked at a recent remark by Campbell River magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown, who said welfare services have stood still for 12 years.

"LOOK AT BUDGET"

Mr. Bennett said it was a stupid remark.

"We haven't stood still at all. Look at the salary and the budget figures since 1952.

"And we are going to increase salaries in the next budget," he added. He said he was not finding fault with social welfare critics.

"Of course there is more to be done, and we are going to do it," he said.

A controversy erupted in B.C. last week over charges that social workers are overworked. At the time Welfare Minister W. D. Black said the root of the trouble was a shortage of social workers.

But sources close to the social workers said there would be no shortage if pay was better. They said it is so poor now that trained social workers are deserting the profession.

Ottawa Approves Landscaping Loan for Square

Ottawa cleared the way today for calling tenders on the $130,000 landscaping project for Centennial Victoria Square.

Approval for a $28,000 loan under the Municipal Development and Loan Act was received at City Hall for the work.

City manager Dennis Young said this will provide the balance required for the landscaping segment of the program which already has received a $70,000 grant from Capital Improvement District Commission and $30,000 from the three outside municipalities for a centennial fountain.

An informal meeting of aldermen was scheduled for later in the day to look at working drawings for the civic theatre. If these are adopted at city council meeting Thursday, the call for tenders for the theatre also is likely to be authorized.

WOMAN ROBBED OF $13 WALKING FROM CHURCH

A purse-snatcher with an accomplice in a getaway car robbed a churchgoer of $13 Sunday night.

Miss Nora Couchman, 937 Pembroke, was walking home from church on Pandora Avenue when a dark-haired youth grabbed her purse.

She chased him through a lane onto Fernwood, where he threw the purse into a parked car and ran on.

Miss Couchman told police the car then started up and about a block away picked up the still-running youth.

She lost $13 and some personal papers with the purse.

Exam Results Given 700 Uvic Freshmen

Seven hundred first-year University of Victoria students got their Christmas exam results this afternoon as the rest of the enrolment waited for the end of the week.

Registrar'se office said today it is still processing marks from the fall term examinations, but expects to have lists posted covering all exams in the next few days.

Education faculty marks were also expected today, the office said.

WHO GOES?

Meanwhile a faculty committee is meeting to decide which borderline students will be urged to drop out and which will be expelled as failures.

The average Christmas drop out rate at the university is 4.5 per cent, which is lower than many comparable institutions, the registrar said.

Some are volunary for financial or personal reasons, some because failure is suspected anyway, the others at the suggestion or order of the registrar.

There were 732 first year arts students registered in October, but a number have dropped out voluntarily since then, the registrar's office said.

Based on total enrolment in September, a 4.5 per cent drop out rate would mean 93 students would leave the university.

INJURED BOY lay unconscious for 20 minutes on Hillside this morning while police tried to get an ambulance to take him to hospital. Two Uvic students who were on scene just as Ian McLeod, 13, fell from his bike covered him with their coats and tried to keep him warm. They are David Mathers, 20 Sylvan Lane, and Adele Trottier, 649 Mount Joy Ave., shown here being assisted by Constable Cliff Harrison. (Strickland photo.)

Boy Forced to Wait In Ambulance Snafu

A 13-year-old boy lay unconscious for 20 minutes on Hillside Avenue this morning while city police frantically tried to get a city ambulance to take him to hospital.

Eventually a Saanich police officer radioed Saanich fire department and had the Saanich ambulance rush to the scene and take the injured boy to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Ian McLeod, 3001 Quadra, was reported in fairly good condition after treatment. He regained consciousness soon after admission to hospital. He was injured when he fell off his bicycle.

WAGONS BUSY

At the time of the accident one of the police wagons used by city as an ambulance was broken down and the other was on an emergency run.

Saanich detective Robin Stewart was driving along Hillside when he saw the boy lying on the road near Higgins. He immediately radioed the city to find if city police knew an ambulance was needed.

They didn't and he told them to send one right away. Two minutes later he was told no vehicle was available. The boy had been lying on the ground for five minutes at this time.

Three city police cars arrived at the scene but the officers were reluctant to move the boy without a stretcher. He lay at the side of the road, cradled by two university students who had arrived on the scene just seconds after he fell off his bike.

Det. Stewart radioed Saanich to send an ambulance but the Saanich vehicle was then on a routine run to St. Joseph's Hospital and couldn't attend.

After about 10 minutes, when a city ambulance still had not arrived, Det. Stewart again radioed Saanich. Saanich then redirected the ambulance from St. Joseph's Hospital to the accident scene.

The Saanich ambulance had taken the boy away by the time the city ambulance arrived.

Bank Thief Gives Self Up After Trip to California

The man who robbed a bank teller of $33 last Tuesday gave himself up to Victoria police at the weekend after a drinking binge that took him all the way to Los Angeles.

Donald T. Campbell, 335 Gorge Road West, pleaded guilty to the theft when he appeared in court today and was remanded to Jan. 21 for a probation report and sentence.

Det. Walter Calwell said Campbell left the city minutes after he robbed the teller at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Bay and Douglas.

Campbell was on a drinking spree and ended up in Los Angeles. He returned to the city at the weekend and immediately gave himself up to police, said the detective.

Campbell had gone into the bank to change $70 into U.S. money. When the teller left her wicket to obtain some U.S. bills, he grabbed $33 in U.S. money that she had placed on the counter and walked out of the bank.

ALL'S QUIET ON HOME FRONT

Victoria's court of revision on local improvement assessments convened this morning for its annual session of listening to home owners' complaints — and found no one had any beefs.

The surprised aldermen complimented city staff on apportioning costs in some 200 cases so well that no one appealed.

$100,000 Damage At Mine

Estimate Hiked Sharply Following Big Landslide

Restoration of Cowichan Copper Co.'s Sunro mine at Jordan River could cost $100,000, four times the original estimate when flood waters filled the diggings last month.

Company president Oswood G. MacDonald said in Vancouver today the repair bill could be high, although insurance adjusters have not appraised the damage.

The mine was fraught by two misfortunes in just over a month.

The first was when the Jordan River broke through a mined-out stope, flooded the works and resumed its natural course via the main portal 1½ miles later. The second came when flood waters broke surface, caused a landslide and washed thousands of dollars worth of outside mine property into the river.

BY MONDAY

Mr. MacDonald said men working around the clock should have the river diverted from the original cave-in by next Monday or midweek, allowing miners to get at repairs to the mine itself.

Their main effort will be to seal the old stope off from the rest of the mine. They will then be able to pump it dry, get machinery in working order and resume production of copper ore concentrate.

The diversion creek means cutting a new river channel for 500 feet through a bed which is largely solid rock. The way is now clear, leaving considerable blasting to be done to lower the channel to a safe depth, Mr. MacDonald said.

REFITS

Laing Says East Needs RCN Work

A West Coast cabinet minister today refused to join in the local protest against Pacific fleet naval vessels going to Eastern Canada for costly refitting.

Arthur Laing, minister of northern affairs and national resources, told the times from Vancouver: "It's a case of spreading out the work."

Mr. Laing said eastern shipyards are "crying just as loud" for work.

And he said it is his understanding that one of the three vessels concerned will be modernized at a West Coast yard.

Mr. Laing was contacted for comment after Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson said Saturday that he would protest to Ottawa.

"ONE OR MORE"

Local shipyards and the business community were upset by reports that a defence production spokesman in Ottawa said "one or more" of the planned $3 million conversions would be undertaken in the east.

The ships which will be converted to helicopter-carrying anti-submarine vessels with new variable depth sonar are three St. Laurent class destroyers.

The mayor wired Prime Minister Pearson today stating that eastern yards already receive a disproportionate number of government contracts from the department of transport.

"Western shipyards face a crisis and employment of our people should be the most important concern," he said. Copies of the wire went to defence and production ministries.

50 Union Laborers Unemployed

The employment situation for construction laborers is "very bad," according to union secretary John Gallow.

With 50 union men out of work, Mr. Gallow blames wet weather and slow starts on construction projects.

He said the position should have improved this month after two bad months at the end of 1963.

The carpenters' union, with 80 unemployed, is in a similar position. Last year's jobless figure for this period was 25, according to secretary James Laming.

"The Mayfair shopping centre accounted for much employment, but not all," he said.

STILL AWAITED

Projects still to begin include the new St. Joseph's Hospital wing, a Uvic lecture theatre and the YM-YWCA building.

Mr. Gallow said he has not known Farmer Construction Ltd. to employ so few in the past 15 years.

He said one problem in construction at present is extremely muddy ground and the difficulty of getting materials to the site. He said a spell of dry frosty weather would help.

He sees no employment improvement until the end of February.

Assessments Up $5.5 Million In Saanich

Saanich has increased its property assessment $5½ million for 1964 in a partial reassessment of the municipality.

This puts the total Saanich assessment at $100,250,000.

Most of the boost is accounted for by new construction, says Saanich assessor Jack Lindsay.

MOSTLY ON LAND

In properties being reassessed, land values were mostly up, improvement values usually down, he said.

This results in a higher tax base, as tax is calculated on 75 per cent of improvement value, but 100 per cent of land value, Mr. Lindsay explained.

In the part of School District 61 that lies in Saanich, land assessments went up $1,700,000 and improvements went up $2,600,000—"basically new construction," said Mr. Lindsay.

"As sewers and things get put in, land just becomes more valuable," he said.

Q. How old is the Dr. Zorba of the Ben Casey TV series?

A. Sam Jaffe, who portrays Dr. Zorba, is 65 years old.

NEW TOURISM CHIEF WORKS ON IDEAS FOR HOLIDAY MONTHS

Under the Tallest Totem, a Colorful Indian Festival

By RAY SINCLAIR

Lodge houses colorful in the summer sunlight with Indians weaving and carving, and the world's tallest totem towering over the firelit Indian dance at night.

This could be the scene next summer if city tourism promoters take up a suggestion made recently to Visitors' Bureau commissioner Alan Maclean.

Visualizing a week-long Indian Festival possibly in the large vacant space around the Beacon Hill Park totem, Mr. Maclean said he is enthusiastic about the idea.

"We've been letting the Indian heritage slip away from us—at least in the Victoria area," he said. "There is a great deal the Indians can contribute to our tourism industry."

He said he would not like to see a commercialized midway develop, but there could be knowledgeable people standing by to explain displays of the native culture.

Tiered seats in the area could hold visitors and Victorians each night for the Indian dances.

The Indian Festival is just one of many ideas received by Mr. Maclean or initiated by him.

"We're only a clearing house for these ideas," he said, "unless there's a special agency set up to co-ordinate them. But we will help in any way we can if the idea has enough merit."

A favorite idea of the commissioner is formation of a police boys' band.

"They could be dressed in the old bobby uniform," he said. "I always regretted the passing of the bobby here.

"The band could fulfill two purposes—create a better atmosphere between police and youth, and provide the Continent's most distinctively-uniformed boys' band."

From several local people has come the suggestion for a village fair in the English style, and held in city streets.

To this, Mr. Maclean ties his own idea for four weeks of British festival—one English, one Scottish, Welsh and Irish, all with their own local theme.

"This would fill in four more of the 32 weeks we have with little tourist activity," he said.

Deeper in his heart is a Yuletide Festival.

"It's a natural for Victoria. What a classic time for people to visit here, when we're all in a happy mood. With Dickensian costumes, chartered London buses and our beautiful suburban decorations, we could create a great impression."

Other ideas on file include more golf matches, world bridge tournaments, curling, lawn bowling, art displays, a two-week yachting regatta revolving around the Swiftsure race, and square dancing—possibly in front of the legislature, or in Centennial Square.

"That could set up a spirit of welcome, and bring residents and visitors together," he said.

Mr. Maclean said he would be happy to hear from any citizen with good ideas for tourist and local entertainment.

"There must be many good ideas around," he said. "We want to think in terms of annual events, rather than one-shot things."

Just write Alan Maclean, Victoria Visitors' Bureau, 786 Government Street.

Lighter weight fabrics for sheath dresses and skirts are also on sale and include such fabrics as English wool flannel which normally sells at $4.59 a yard.

Ideal for the latest trends in jumper and sleeveless jacket styles is French broadcloth in blue, green, brown, peacock or beige, and muted, worsted wool tartans. French broadcloth sells regularly for $8.49 a yard and the muted tartans at $6.75 a yard.

Shop is also carrying a new stock of dress and suit fastenings. These include various sizes of wooden buttons, fancy cloth buttons, tassels and frogs. Price ranges according to size of fastening. And, if you're looking for something to dress up last year's suit, shop has fur buttons priced at 59 cents each.

DEAR ABBY . . .

The Women's Fault?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY. Why do so many women object to a man growing a beard? I am sure that the good Lord didn't put hair on the faces of men so that a razor company could sponsor boxing matches. And you line right up alongside the rest of the women and say, "If the beard scratches—scratch him!" Men parted with their beards about the same time women were given the right to vote and permitted to drive automobiles (you can do neither intelligently) but knowing how you women stick together I'll bet ten bucks this never sees print.

TED W.

DEAR TED: You lose! Now send that ten bucks to the cancer society.

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen a problem like ours in your column, and hope you can help us. Three years ago my husband accidentally hit a boy on a bicycle, and the boy was killed instantly. It was a foggy night, the boy darted out in front of the car, and my husband was not exceeding the speed limit, so no charges were brought against him. He was so heartsick he lost 30 pounds. Our problem is: Every Christmas since that happened we have sent the boy's family a lovely basket of fruit and a large wreath of flowers for the boy's grave. I have the feeling that perhaps we should not do this because it reminds them that their son is dead and my husband is still living. We surely don't want to cause them any more heartaches in the future. Can you or someone who has been through this advise us?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: You didn't say how the family reacted to your gifts. If they appear appreciative, by all means continue. If your gifts are acknowledged cooly, or not at all—discontinue the practice.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "NOT MOVING" gives me the impression that you are plain stupid. I agree with the letter, NOT with your answer. I have 30 minutes for lunch and I don't aim to spend it moving around so that people can sit together at a lunch counter. I also refuse to move. Why should I? I've never asked anybody to move for me. I'll bet you would stand in a line at a grocery check-out with 6 or 7 people who each had about $15 worth of groceries, and you'd let someone ahead of you with a loaf of bread and a pound of butter. I wouldn't, but I think you are stupid enough to. Yours truly,

HOMER IN SOUTH GATE

DEAR HOMER: You sure have me pegged, Buddy. I frequently let someone ahead of me with a loaf of bread and a pound of butter. And I'm stupid enough to enjoy it.

DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me there is nothing to dreams. My husband tells the truth more times when he's sleeping than he does awake. One night he did a lot of talking in his sleep. When he woke up I asked him about it. He laughed it off, saying he didn't know what I was talking about. In a few months there will be living proof that he was not lying in his sleep. I am glad he talks in his sleep. Otherwise, when it comes to telling the truth, he would bat zero.

At His Side—But in Background

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Mrs. John D. Diefenbaker, wife of the Leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition, has lost none of the charm and friendliness that always marked her progress back and forth across Canada.

In Victoria at present, at the tag end of a fishing trip for her husband, in the waters near Vancouver Island, and with a Canadian Club speaking engagement thrown in for good measure, Mrs. Diefenbaker still keeps her chosen place, at John Diefenbaker's side—but, also, well in the background.

She gives very few interviews, and so far she has steered away from officially addressing any large gathering.

She has said on occasion that there is only room for "one speaker in a family."

The man she married and the one she has always listened to with rapt attention on the political platform is THE speaker in the Diefenbaker family.

Nevertheless, the warmth of her smile and her interest in everyone she meets is so evident she has gained hundreds of friends in the role she has chosen as John Diefenbaker's wife.

I first remember her smile when I was in Ottawa for the visit of Her Majesty the Queen and Prince Philip, Thanksgiving weekend, 1957.

STRONG INFLUENCE

The royal plane was only minutes away from Uplands RCAF Station when a big, black limousine drove up to the edge of the tarmac and the Diefenbakers (he had only been prime minister four months) stepped out.

Almost as soon as their automobile rolled away they realized the timing had gone wrong and that they had arrived before Governor-General Massey.

There was an awkward few moments as they waited. Then the governor-general's car appeared and all three walked out along the red carpet to the place designated for them to meet the plane.

It was obvious to newsmen and women, who sat in tiered stands at the edge of one of the hangars, that the wrongly timed arrival and the few minutes wait had ruffled the prime minister's calm.

Olive Diefenbaker, warmly clad in heavy coat and with a scarf tied firmly around her head, came ashore on Saturday, after a fishing trip with her husband. The weather had been wet and chilly—but she was still smiling.

But his wife kept smiling. She smiled at him. And, as she smiled, she talked to him.

When the governor-general did arrive John Diefenbaker had regained his calm and he, too, was smiling.

I remember Olive Diefenbaker, too, on that long Thanksgiving Day when the excitement of having the Queen open Parliament was at its height.

The Senate Chamber, despite special air-conditioning units, was hot and stuffy.

Before the ceremony concluded, the temperature had risen well over the hundred mark. Mrs. Diefenbaker remained cool and serene and her smile never wavered.

EASILY RECOGNIZED

That same Thanksgiving night, after a state dinner at Government House (Rideau Hall), where the Queen and Prince Philip were in residence, there was a reception for several hundred high-rankig guests.

A few newsmen and women, chosen by draw, were placed in a curtained alcove above the state ballroom. There, we were told, we could take turns "peeking" at the glittering scene.

One of the first persons I recognized on my initial peek was Olive Diefenbaker. She was still smiling warmly at the circle of guests around her.

Next night, the Diefenbakers welcomed Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip at a small dinner party in the prime minister's residence, 24 Sussex Street.

No news coverage was allowed inside the residence but a few of us waited outside to see the royal party depart.

After all guests had left, we were invited into the residence.

Tired as she must have been, Olive Diefenbaker took us on a personally conducted tour of the rooms that had been used. And her smile was still as warm and friendly as it had been when she welcomed the first guest to her dinner party much earlier in the evening.

That is over six years ago now.

In the time between I have met Mrs. Diefenbaker several times and I have interviewed her twice.

DEDICATED

She is always friendly and her smile is always warm. But she leaves no doubt in anyone's mind that she is dedicated to one cause—and one cause only.

That is, to be a good helpmate to the man she married.

Many Canadian writers have put this fact into far better words than I can ever hope to do.

Latest—and one of the best—is Peter Newman who, in his book, "Renegade in Power—the Diefenbaker Years," devoted an entire chapter to praise of Olive Diefenbaker.

In it she is set forth not only as a wonderful example as a helpmate to a political leader, but as a great influence on his life.

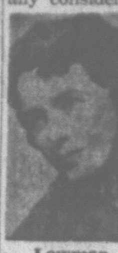
"By offering him a centre of loving calm, giving advice that he grew to respect and effectively campaigning at his side, Olive Diefenbaker significantly influenced her husband's success," Peter Newman wrote.

In the closing paragraphs of the chapter, Mr. Newman quotes the following remark made to a friend by John Diefenbaker, in regard to his happy marriage and the good press his wife received: "You know, no matter what they say about her, it will always be an understatement."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When thinking of becoming more attractive a woman usually considers first her figure and her complexion. Certainly both are an important part of any self-improvement routine. Recently I have already brought you directions for weighing and measuring yourself and counting calories. Today let's think of skin care.



Lowman

It is really wonderful what improvement daily care can make in the complexion. Our outer coating responds with beauty when it is given a chance and ages prematurely when it is neglected. When reducing a woman should give her complexion special care. Fats are cut low in the diet and the skin must shrink to meet new proportions. For this reason I also recommend the use of a body lotion at this time even if you do not always use one.

First let us consider the woman who has a dry complexion. Daily lubrication is an essential. Be sure to let a good cream soak into your face and neck for at least 30 minutes a day. Even better, leave a cream or oil on all night.

The woman who has a dry skin should use a cleansing cream instead of soap and water. It is also well to remember that even though you may have a normal skin its natural oils decrease as you grow older. Even if the woman with a dry complexion does not leave her lubricating cream on all night she should pat an eye cream about her eyes each night before going to sleep.

Suppose you have an oily complexion! It's lots of soap and water for you! If your skin is extremely oily you should treat it with suds several times a day. You can also use an astringent regularly.

The hair responds just about as happily as the complexion does to daily care. It does not matter whether your hair is oily or dry, daily brushing or scalp massage is important. This stimulates and tends to normalize the little oil glands in the scalp.

I have been bringing you my BIP routine (Beauty Improvement Plan) for a week. If you have missed it or would like to have the complete course and the BIP wall chart (on which you can watch your weight line drop while your beauty line rises), send 25 cents (plus 15 cents for postage and handling) with your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

'Top of the Fair' Panorama Intrigues

NEW YORK—Heigh-Ho, I've been to the fair! I'm writing this at midnight after having spent six hours at the scene of the 1964-65 New York World Fair, as guest of the Clairol Company of America. The fair opens on April 22 and, as you can imagine, many of the buildings are more or less complete.

We went directly from buses to a large room in the administration building where we were oriented to the layout of the fair by means of a scale model.

An attractive young woman was our instructor, standing at a panel of buttons from which she flashed lights, indicating the area or building she was discussing.

At the close of her lecture, overhead lights were extinguished and the fascinating scale model had all the aspects of a big city as seen from a mountain top. We stood on an overhead ramp. Below, the tiny monorail cars moved swift and silent on their tracks. The swaying chairs of the ski-lift moved slowly above the snow and trees and thousands of twinkling lights sent out invitations to "Come to the Fair."

Scale model of the Clairol Pavilion at the New York's World Fair 1964-1965 was exhibited at press preview held at the "Top of the Fair" restaurant. Building is a delicate, circular, cage-like glass structure, decorated with sweeping flower forms and mounted six-foot butterly shapes.

HELICOPTER DECK

A bus tour of the grounds was followed by cocktails and dinner at the "Top of the Fair" restaurant, located just below the 120-foot-high landing deck for helicopters.

Another highlight of this week was a look at the latest in hair fashions. With a replica of the Clairol carousel as background, six of New York's leading hair stylists gave their versions of the new three-dimensional look at a show in the Pierre Ballroom. The word in hair fashion this spring is "movement."

Navy blue was a favorite color in show, given by Roxanne, designer for Samuel Winston, who uses flounces and frills and suggests "The Ruffle of Spring" as a good name for the Winston show. As a matter of fact, there's a strong revival of navy for spring. The three-quarter or seven-eighth coat costume leads the parade in street looks—usually in a contrasting color—and, that color is usually light or vivid over a dark dress.

Donald Brooks of Townley allows a woman to change her mind . . . even in the middle of her own party. His hostess pyjamas with matching overskirt reverse from black, white and green to solid green.

Most dazzling dress in this collection is Donald Brooks' own giant poppy print in an empire gown with shoe string straps setting an ultra-feminine mood for spring.

Imagine winning a trip to Paris!!! One of our Canadian girls, Stasia Evasuk of the Toronto Telegram, did just this. Trip is a gift from the International Silk Association.

Stasia replaced the late Lillian Foster on the Ontario paper. We West Coasters were particularly thrilled at her win—Stasia was with the Vancouver Sun for a number of years.

Famed Actress Deplores Accent on Youth

By ELIZABETH FORBES

In Europe and in England neither age or youth matters, Cornelia Otis Skinner says, it's ability. Petit point is her means of relaxation on tour "especially in planes." Square, with carnations, she is working on is one of six flower panels that will be joined to make a carpet for her home.

As long as her health is good and she maintains her vim and vitality, Cornelia Otis Skinner promises she will continue her career on the stage.

"Retire?" she says, with a hint of dislike in her voice.

"Just sit? . . . I couldn't do it!

"It would be too vegetable-like an existence."

This well-known actress, who started her career as a small child with her father, the famed Otis Skinner, is outspoken in her belief that experience is important in any field of endeavor and that "age doesn't count."

Present-day accent on youth is "absolutely absurd" she says.

"Today—especially in the United States—we have adopted the childish attitude that youth is the main attribute. Experience counts for nothing.

"Don't misunderstand me—it's wonderful to be young. And, I'm thrilled when I encounter a young actor or actress with ability.

"But I deplore the lack—or the wish—in so many of our young people, to take the time to learn.

ABILITY INCREASED

"I was trained and educated in France, where no one considers age a detriment and where the belief is inherent that while years bring maturity they also increase ability."

The youth of today so often does not wish to wait for maturity. Youth wants everything—now."

Miss Skinner will be remembered for her appearance in Victoria in 1948 in "Lady Windermere's Fan."

"I fell in love with your city then and I've been hoping to get back ever since. Four years ago, when I toured Alaska, I was sure I'd make it. But no luck!"

With her secretary, Miss Eleanor Walsh, she has spent four days in the city this time—"and enjoyed every minute of them."

The Royal Theatre, where the talented actress will present her monologues tonight, has more than a passing interest for her.

AN ANNIVERSARY

"My father, Otis Skinner, opened your theatre with a performance of "Kismet", she reminisces. "That was 50 years ago."

You sense in the quiet words that Miss Skinner is very proud to perform on the Royal Victoria stage during its golden anniversary.

She likes to appear in a monologue program, too. "There's nobody to steal a scene from me," she says.

But she confesses there is much more challenge in a stage play. And she is already looking forward to rehearsals with Cyril Ritchard for "The Irregular Verb To Love", which will be presented in the southern holiday spots next winter.

Miss Skinner calls New York home. There, she and her husband, Alden S. Blodget, live in the apartment at 66th and Lexington, where her famed father once lived.

They have a summer place on Long Island, "where we spend a lot of time" and now, they have "a very special interest" in Los Angeles.

Their son, Otis Skinner Blodget (known down there as Dick) and his wife, live in Los Angeles. Eight months ago, their first grandchild, Michael Alexander, was born.

The end of the present tour will see Miss Skinner playing in that city. And, she's already looking ahead — as all fond grandmothers do.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fletcher

50th Anniversary Marked

Sunday was a "red letter" day for one of Victoria's outstanding sportsmen and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fletcher. It was their golden wedding anniversary.

Appropriately enough, the occasion was marked with a family dinner at the Uplands Golf Club, where both are members, Mr. Fletcher being a life member.

Mr. Fletcher is also a life member of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association and the British Columbia Lacrosse Association.

One of the greatest honors conferred on Mr. Fletcher for his contribution in the field of sport came in 1951 when he was awarded the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy for being the most outstanding figure in sport.

Last year, Mr. Fletcher received the "Best Citizen" award.

Both Mr. Fletcher and his wife were born and brought up in England. Mr. Fletcher came to Canada in 1911, returning to Leicester, England, in 1914.

They were married in St. George's Church, Leicester, on Monday, January 12 of that year and came to Canada immediately. They have made Victoria their home since that time.

There are two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Poyntz and Mrs. Kenneth (Joan) Lawson. The couple has four grandchildren, Denise and Linda Poyntz, Betty Jean Lawson and Murray Lawson. All were present at Sunday's celebration.

Mrs. Fletcher will have to wait until August before receiving an anniversary gift from her husband. But it will be worth it!

To mark their 50 years of marriage, Mr. Fletcher plans to take his wife on an eight-week tour of Europe. It will be their first trip back to the "old country."

Announcement

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Johnston, 354 Moss Street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Margaret, to Rev. David George Simmers, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Simmers of Wellington, New Zealand. The wedding will take place on Tuesday, Feb. 4 at 7 p.m. in Fairfield United Church. Following their marriage, the couple will make their home in Auckland, N.Z.

Home from Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bell recently returned to their home on Central Avenue following a month-long holiday in Hawaii. While there, they stayed in the Reef Towers at Waikiki and toured three of the other islands.

Presentation

Last Friday afternoon, Miss Margaret Graham, stenographer at the Empress Hotel, was presented with a copper chafing dish by hotel manager, Mr. L. C. Parkinson, and maitre d' hotel, Mr. J. Zanichelli, on behalf of her co-workers. Miss Graham leaves here in early February to travel to Hawaii where she will be married.

Carpet Comment

Dear Carpetorium:
We're moving to a new home in a few weeks. Can you tell me whom I should call to advise me as to how I can use my rugs to best advantage in our new home?
Mrs. D. B. N.
Victoria, B.C.

Your professional rug cleaner is usually the best one to advise concerning the moving and altering of your rugs. If you should have wall-to-wall carpet in any of your rooms, it is important that this carpet be cleaned in a rug cleaning plant such as the Carpetorium while it is up. This is the only time plant cleaning is economically feasible for wall-to-wall carpet, when it is necessary to take the carpet up to move it.

8 CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement in the loss of our mother, also for the beautiful floral offerings. We wish to thank the nurses and staff of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.—Mr. and Mrs. Alex McAllister and family, Mrs. C. E. Robertson and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ellis and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Blake and family.

To our many friends and neighbors who during the long illness of my dear wife visited and comforted her, also for their beautiful floral offerings, I am deeply grateful. Also I want to thank Drs. Newton and Lougheed, the Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, the Rev. Hatfield for the care and attention they gave her. I will forever be grateful to all these wonderful people. —J. Harding

9 IN MEMORIAM

KEAN—In loving memory of my dear husband, Edward Kean, who passed away on Jan. 13, 1958.

His thoughts were all so full of me.
He never could forget,
And so I think that where he is,
He must be watching yet.
As angels keep their watch up there
Please God just let him know
That I down here do not forget,
I love and miss him so.

—Lovingly remembered by his wife, Beatrice, and daughter Maude.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

The late Louis Watson once conceived the idea of making a fortune by offering to listen to any bridge story for one dollar and to express sympathy if given a double fee.

Opening lead—♣2

I was reminded of that when West came to me with his hard luck story. He started by telling me his hand and asking, "Everyone vulnerable. Your partner opens one spade: Second hand bids two hearts. What do you do?"

Before I could reply he gave me all the bidding up to his double of seven hearts and said, "Naturally, I led my deuce of clubs. South's ace pickled my partner's king. South drew trumps, finessed against my partner's jack of clubs and made his contract. Do you think I am the unluckiest player in the world?"

He paused for breath and I made a reply that probably made me a mortal enemy. The reply was, "No. But your partner may well be."

My full sympathy goes out to poor East and I am sure even Watson would have failed to charge for sympathy had East come to him for condolences.

East picked up a beautiful hand and bid it right up to six spades. He would have had no trouble making it, but South went to seven hearts whereupon West doubled and picked out the one opening lead that gave South the contract.

Of course, had West made his normal spade lead, South might still have guessed the club situation, but the chances are that he would have taken a simple finesse and gone down two tricks. East and West still would not have been happy, but at least they would have shown a profit rather than a 2,470-point loss.

FRONTIERS OF SCIENCE

MIND VS. MACHINE - Part 1
ONE OF THE GREAT CONTROVERSIES IN SCIENCE TODAY IS OVER MAN'S PLACE IN SPACE RESEARCH.
AS MAN LEAVES HIS OWN ENVIRONMENT TO EXPLORE THE UNIVERSE, THE NEED TO PROVIDE HIM WITH A "LIFE-SUPPORT" SYSTEM ASSUMES PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE.
1-20
IN THE PAST, FOOD AND WATER WERE BASICALLY ALL AN EXPLORER NEEDED.
TODAY, IN THE HOSTILE REGION OF SPACE, MAN NEEDS NOT ONLY FOOD AND WATER, BUT AIR, HEAT AND PROTECTION FROM RADIATION — AND THE PROVISION OF THESE IS ONE OF SCIENCE'S BIGGEST CHALLENGES.

"WOT ! ! ! ; ; ; WOT'S THAT!—GO OUT TO GO DOWN? This is accompanied with a full baring of the incisors, and wild rolling of both eyes, starboard, anticlockwise, and the port orb clockwise, and on one occasion, the opposite rotation was observed. Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Stephen

If you ever have occasion to eavesdrop on a conversation spiced with such words as "woofer," "tweeter" and "hand wired cross-over," don't call for help. It's not an invasion from the Outer Limits. Usually it's just a discussion between hi-fi addicts. It's their jargon.

Television also has developed its own special jargon. It's an eye-opener to walk into a television studio to see what is used in program production. It's an education to hear the industry slang used as easily as the Queen's English.

The language is a show business composite, most of it having been borrowed from the theatre, motion pictures and radio.

CBS recently distributed some 1964 diaries with definitions of about 400 common television words and phrases. Some of the more colorful are as follows:

Barn doors—Shades, horizonally hinged, on spotlights and used to narrow the field of light.

Belcher—Performer with a frog in his throat.

Billboard—Announcement at the beginning or end of a program giving the sponsor credit.

Bird's eye—A camera shot from a point high over the stage.

Blow or muff or fluff—A performer's action when he forgets or stumbles on his lines.

Burp—Extraneous noise on television circuits.

Cold—A dramatic scene played without background music.

Cowcatcher—A commercial at the start of a program for a sponsor's product which is not advertised later in the program.

Crawk—A performer with the ability to imitate a wide variety of animal sounds.

Fat—Ideal performing conditions, with sure-fire jokes or easy lines.

Fishpole—A manually operated rod with a microphone on the end.

Hitchhike—A commercial at the end of a program for a sponsor's product which is not advertised earlier in the program.

Nut—The complete cost of producing a program

Pipe—A telephone installation.

Senior—A 5,000-watt spotlight.

String Bean—A small, thin portable microphone.

Woodshed—a rehearsal that is taxing to the performers, or a musical director who ad libs in rehearsal.

! WE'RE HOUSE-PROUD !

In Gordon Head!! We custom designed and built this 3-bedroom basementless home for the present owner just 2½ years ago, and we're proud as punch when he asked us to build another. Low set ranch style with carport, blacktop drive, custom built-in stove with oversize oven, wall-to-wall carpet, and you can have all this for exactly what it's costing us!! $16,400, full price with $2,500 cash down and you're not paying a plug nickel for all that landscape and shrubbery!! It's a pleasure to show you!! Call Mr. Jones, 385-2496.

Victoria Rubs It In By Weather Reports

Prairie provinces in the grip of their usual harsh winter will be indirectly exposed to Victoria's mildness for the next six weeks.

From Edmonton to Prince Albert, from Calgary to Saskatoon, Regina and Winnipeg, radio stations will follow their cross-Canada temperature reports with "spot" advertisements promoting Victoria.

And the whole thing will be followed by an up-to-the-minute temperature report from Victoria.

Visitors' Bureau commissioner Alan Maclean said the six-week promotion is designed to follow up a recent B.C. Government Travel Bureau campaign on the Prairies.

FRANCIS VERNON SMITH, formerly of 217 Michigan Street, Victoria, B.C., Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that creditors and others having claims against the estate of the above deceased are hereby required to send them to the undersigned executor at P.O. Box 338, Victoria, B.C., before the 14th day of February, 1964, after which date the executor will distribute the said estate among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which he then has notice.

Motorists Pay Too Much Gas Price Inquiry Told

CUBAN PREMIER Fidel Castro towered over Soviet Premier Khrushchev when they embraced at reception in Kremlin today. (AP Wirephoto.)

Castro Makes Surprise Trip To Visit Nikita

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived here today following a surprise announcement Sunday night that he would meet with Soviet Premier Khrushchev to discuss "questions of interest."

Castro stepped from a special jetliner into Moscow's below-freezing temperatures and was greeted warmly by Khrushchev and other Russian leaders.

In a welcoming address, Khrushchev hailed the visitor as the "head of the Cuban nation, the first in America to choose the socialist road."

Chinese Communist Ambassador Pan Tsu-li also was among the dignitaries waiting to meet Castro.

Delegations of Moscow workers, many of them carrying Cuban and Russain flags, gatheed at the airport to greet the Cuban premier as he flew in from Havana.

WILL ALSO HUNT

An official statement issued here Sunday night said Castro, who visited Russia last spring, would intersperse his talks with Khrushchev with a rest and some hunting in the Russian forests.

On arrival Castro and Khrushchev embraced as a 21-gun salute was fired and the anthems of the two countries were played.

Khrushchev assured the Cuban leader in his speech that "no attempts of Cuba's enemies, no economic blockade of the imperialists, can block the grand march of the great Cuban people."

Thanking the Soviet Union for its aid, Castro said: "Some of the difficulties that the Soviet people experienced in their time we are now experiencing. But there can be no comparison because we have the help of the Soviet Union."

'EXAMPLE FINDS FAVOR'

Attacking "American imperialists" who, he said, were trying to force the Cuban people to their knees, he said that despite this "the people and party are more united than ever . . . the example of our revolution has become more and more attractive to other countries."

Most observers considered Castro and Khrushchev would discuss Russia's ideological dispute with Communist China

75 Killed in India Hindu-Moslem Riots

CALCUTTA, India — Indian Army troops patrolled Calcutta and its suburbs today with shoot-to-kill orders to check Hindu-Moslem violence that has claimed at least 75 lives during the last four days. Most of the dead are Moslems.

Widespread looting and arson was reported in and around Calcutta. More than 4,000 persons were arrested.

It was the worst communal outbreak since 1947, when the Indian subcontinent was partitioned and hundreds of thousands were massacred. Refugees from neighboring East Pakistan have reported 29 dead there in attacks on Hindus.

The religious rioting followed reports that Moslems were slaughtering Hindus in the East Pakistan city of Khulna, 75 miles east of Calcutta, in retaliation for the disappearance of a hair said to have come from the beard of the Moslem prophet Mohammed. The hair, which disappeared from a shrine in Srinagar, capital of the Indian-controlled section of Kashmir, has ben recovered. Indian authorities reported the hair was "surreptitiously" restored to its normal resting place Jan. 4—a week after its disappearance. But in Pakistan it was charged the restored relic was not the true one.

Ex-Premier 'Boss' Johnson Dies at Home

Hundreds of men and women from all walks of life will attend funeral services for ex-premier Byron Ingemar "Boss" Johnson in First United Church Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

SEE PAGE 8 STORY ON JOHNSON'S POLITICAL CAREER

Rev. R. J. D. Morris, minister of First United, will officiate at the public service which will be followed by cremation.

Personal friends and ex-cabinet ministers will be pallbearers, with Haywards Ltd. in charge of arrangements.

Premier of British Columbia's Coalition government from 1947 to 1952, Mr. Johnson died suddenly at his home at 2895 Beach Drive early Sunday at the age of 73.

COLLAPSED

His son, Byron Jr., who was spending the weekend at the house, found his father sitting on the edge of his bed around 7 a.m. and asked if he was unwell. Mr. Johnson reassured him, but collapsed and died soon after.

A strikingly handsome man, of courteous demeanor, Mr. Johnson spent the last nine years of his life as a semi-invalid after suffering a serious stroke on April 16, 1955.

CAR ACCIDENT

Earlier, in September, 1950, he was seriously injured in a car accident in Quebec.

He was British Columbia's last ex-premier and the first major political victim of Premier Bennett's Social Credit victory in June, 1952.

His death cuts another link with a bygone political era, for of the leading figures in his Coalition government only Conservative Herbert Anscomb and Liberal Gordon Wismer remain.

Mr. Johnson's political fortunes and misfortunes were closely bound up with the two.

He became premier of B.C. when his predecessor, John

U.S. Hatred Whipped Up In Peking

PEKING (Reuters) — Hundreds of thousands of persons paraded through the centre of Peking shouting anti-American slogans today.

Communist China's campaign against U.S. actions in Panama developed to an intensity reminiscent of the hostility against Britain and France during the Suez crisis of 1956.

The well-organized demonstrators — from factories, offices, schools and militia units in the city — waved banners bearing caricatures of President Johnson as they moved in a vast column several miles long through the city.

All newspapers used their biggest headlines and largest and blackest characters to splash across the top half of front pages a rare public statement by Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung supporting the "heroic struggle being waged by the people of Panama against U.S. aggression."

Zanzibar Coup Ends Arab Rule

(Times News Services)

ZANZIBAR — African nationalists proclaimed a republic Sunday on the African spice island of Zanzibar—once the centre of Arab slave traders—after overthrowing the Arab sultan in an overnight revolt.

A state of emergency was in force in the former British protectorate following a warning from the new government that all foreign ships should stay outside the island's territorial waters.

Several persons, including policemen, were reported killed and many others wounded in heavy fighting that erupted Saturday night and raged into early Sunday around police stations, an armory and the residence of Prime Minister Mohammed Shamte Hamadi.

MOMBASA, Kenya (Reuters)—The ousted sultan of Zanzibar arrived here by ship today but was refused permission to land under a decision made by the Kenya cabinet at a special meeting.

KARUME
. . . African in

A radio station, identifying itself as "the freedom fighters of Zanzibar," said at least two policemen were killed during the successful storming of the armory. There were reports another policeman was killed defending the prime minister's home.

The rebel broadcast said Hamadi and Sultan Seyyid Jamshid Bin Abdulla had taken refuge on a cruise liner in the harbor.

SEIZE BUILDINGS

By late Sunday night the rebels were reported to have seized control of all but one strategic building in or around Zanzibar city.

The United States sent the destroyer Manley to remove American women and children. But a U.S. state department source in Washington said the 57 Americans stationed on the island at a tracking station for the Project Mercury satellite program appeared to be in no immediate danger.

The British frigate Owen was dispatched to remove British citizens if necessary.

The revolt occurred a month and two days after Zanzibar gained independence. It was a British protectorate for 73 years. Zanzibar remained in the British Commonwealth, and the rebel broadcasts gave no indication that this tie would be broken.

The rebel station said Sheik Abeid Karume, head of the Afro-Shirazi party, was named president of the new republic. Sheik Abdul Rahman Mohammed Babu, whose leftist Umma party was banned earlier this month for trying to incite a revolt, was named foreign minister. Kassim Hanga was made prime minister.

$32.7 Million, Says Shelford

B.C. motorists may be paying more than $32,700,000 too much each year for their gasoline, a special government investigation was told today.

The charge was made by Cyril Shelford, Social Credit MLA for Omineca, at the opening of the royal commission into gasoline prices at the law courts here.

14 LAWYERS

Mr. Shelford, who advocated a single retail gas price everywhere in B.C., said he felt like "a mouse in the lion's den" when confronted by a battery of 14 lawyers, most of them representing the major oil companies.

He said that electricity and liquor are two examples of one-price commodities in the province.

"Apparently the province believes everyone should be able to get gassed up at the same price with liquor," Mr. Shelford declared.

He urged royal commissioner Judge C. W. Morrow of Prince George to determine what should be a fair price for gas.

He suggested that in order to have true free enterprise competition the oil companies should be prevented from retailing gasoline to the public.

Commented Judge Morrow: "There's one price in Russia, but no service stations—just pump outlets—and very few cars to burn the gas."

Mr. Shelford tangled with what he called "legal talent" early in the hearings, when D. McK. Brown, acting for Shell Canada Ltd., challenged his claim that motorists may be paying $32,709,712 too much for gas each year.

WORSE TODAY

Mr. Shelford calculated the figure on the basis of findings of B.C.'s last gasoline inquiry, conducted by former Judge M. A. Macdonald in the mid-1930s.

In 1935, the Macdonald report recommended price cuts which would have saved $4,672,816.

At that time B.C. gas consumption totalled 44,534,667 gallons a year, Mr. Shelford said.

Mr. Shelford said today's consumption totals 310,293,379 gallons.

RCAF Losing Punch

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF will be withdrawn from all its combat roles, with the possible exception of anti-submarine patrol work, within five years, authorities forecast today.

They predicted that the service will become an almost exclusively transport force and that its combat roles in home air defence and in nuclear bombing in Europe will be eliminated by 1969 or earlier.

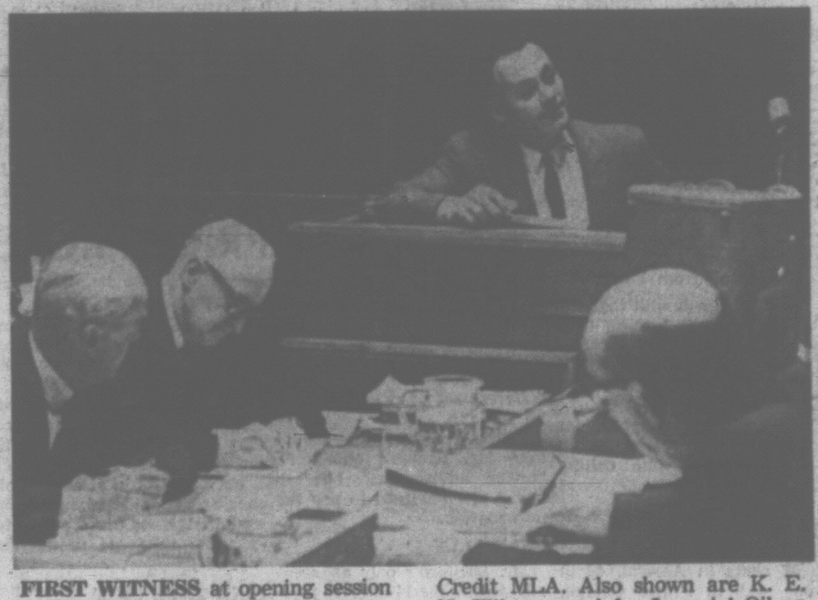
Plans are already being made to expand the RCAF base at Trenton, Ont., headquarters for Transport Command.

The lessening emphasis on the role of combat jet planes is already cousing considerable embarrassment in the RCAF because it is just in the process of introducing all-jet training. By the time this training program is in full swing there may be few if any jets for the air force to fly—except the jet trainers.

Defence Minister Hellyer has announced rejection of the RCAF's request for more CF-101B Voodoo jet interceptors and CF-104 nuclear jet bombers. The air force has 64 Voodos and 200 CF-104s.

The CF-104 base at Gros Tenquin, France, is expected to be closed and the CF-104s at Marville, France, converted to a photo-reconnaissance role.

Associate Defence Minister Cardin announced Friday disbandment of two Voodoo squadrons, leaving three.



FIRST WITNESS at opening session of B.C.'s royal commission into gasoline prices today in Victoria was Cyril Shelford, Omineca Social Credit MLA. Also shown are K. E. H. Ellis, counsel for Imperial Oil on Mr. Shelford's right, and commission secretary Capt. F. G. Hart, left.

Arabs Set Aside Feuds To Unite Against Israel

CAIRO (AP)—Leaders of 13 Arab states comprising 100,000,000 people met today in a summit conference seeking a unified front against Israel.

At the call of Egypt's President Gamel Abdel Nasser, Arab kings, princes, presidents and emirs put aside their own numerous feuds and met on outward terms of friendship in the Nile-side headquarters of the Arab League.

In a wood-pannelled room carpeted in red, the rulers sat in red leather chairs to consider counter-measures against the impending Israeli diversion of the Jordan River waters. Israel has indicated it is going ahead with the plan regardless of what action the Arab rulers might take.

The Arab summit meeting was preceded by suspension of the bitter feud between the United Arab Republic and Jordan, which fell out in 1961 when Jordan recognized the Syrian regime that pulled out of the U.A.R.

Informed sources said President Nasser of the U.A.R. and King Hussein of Jordan agreed to resume diplomatic relations after a two-hour conference.

Nasser called the conference ostensibly to counter Israel's threat to put its 15-year-old irrigation project into operation this summer. But some observers saw the conference as an attempt by Nasser to reassert his leadership of the Arab world.

In the past, Arab leaders have threatened war if Israel goes ahead with the scheme. Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon all draw water from the river.

Recently Nasser's controlled press has been saying war is virtually impossible because of Israel's membership in the United Nations and certain intervention by the United States. Israeli leaders say they are not worried because their army can defeat the Arabs.

Observers said one aim of the conference would be to get the squabbling Arab nations to agree among themselves.

The United States contends that Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon should share the waters of the Jordan and its tributaries. But there is little or no likelihood that the Arab states will agree to any common plan that includes Israel.

Many observers felt the Arab leaders were mainly concerned with the political and military implications of the Israeli scheme.

They felt, observers said, that if Israel succeeded in diverting the river waters to the Negev in southern Israel, its economy would be boosted enough to absorb 1,000,000 or possibly 2,000,000 more Jewish immigrants,

TALLY HO TYPES SABOTAGED

It Takes Foxiness to Outfox Fox Hunters

TORQUAY, Eng. (Reuters)—Hounds of the South Devon Hunt were outfoxed Saturday by a new anti-blood sports group known as the Hunt Saboteurs.

The hounds were sidetracked by lumps of fresh meat along the trail, led by a false scent into a cul-de-sac, and bewildered by a series of false hunting horn calls.

Some of the 20 saboteurs who took part in the operation said that hunt followers became so incensed they charged them on horseback.

John Prestidge, 21-year-old chairman of the group, said: "There were scuffles all along the first part of the hunt route. I somehow got a punch in the mouth, and others got punches too."

The hounds were led up the cul-de-sac by one saboteur who was sitting in a tree with a silk stocking impregnated with the scent of a fox. "The hounds started coming up the tree, but were whipped off by the huntsmen," he said.

Hunters also had their hands full trying to stop the hounds eating meat dumped along the hunt route. "Fortunately the hounds managed to gobble up quite a bit before being whipped off by hunt officials," Prestidge said.

Prestidge and another saboteur were chased and arrested by police after feeding the hounds meat. He said later: "We got a pretty rough handling by all and sundry. After the police caught us, a sergeant told us we would be charged with depositing litter in the roadway."

Another saboteur, 18-year-old Graham Cummings, was armed with a hunting horn. He said: "For some time we had the unhappy hounds running from one side of the field to the other answering first our hunting calls and then those of the huntsmen.

"In the end some of the hunt followers got so angry they charged us on horseback and lashed out with whips."

When the hunt ended, more than half the field had already quit. A spokesman for the hunt said: "We didn't make a kill, but nevertheless we have enjoyed ourselves."

SMOKING, HEALTH REPORT

Industry Has No Worries

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Gordon Bell

The big question today is how the U.S. surgeon-general's report on smoking and health will affect the huge tobacco industry which is such a large contributor to the agricultural, manufacturing and government revenue sectors of the economy.

Looking back to 1959, when the first prominence was given to possible links between smoking and lung cancer, the record shows that for the first time in many years there was a substantial decline in the per capita consumption of cigarettes in Canada. From a peak of 1,939 per capita in 1959, consumption declined the following year to 1,925 per capita.

In 1961 the trend was up again with an increase in consumption of 6.35 per cent, higher than the over-all post-war average annual increase of 6 per cent. However, in 1962 the rate of increase dropped to 4.9 per cent and for the first six months of last year it was under 3.5 per cent.

LESS IMPRESSED

There doesn't really seem to be much worry in the tobacco industry, neither in Canada nor the U.S., that adverse medical reports will halt the rise in consumption. For one thing, younger people are still taking up the habit in great numbers—a U.S. survey indicates better than half of all 18-year-olds are steady smokers—and the youngsters are less impressed than their elders by the health arguments.

Of the two publicly-owned tobacco companies in Canada, Imperial and Rothmans, the former holds a little over 50 per cent of the market and the latter a little over 20 per cent. Macdonalds is estimated to have about 25 per cent of the market with the remaining less than 5 per cent held by several smaller firms such as Benson and Hedges.

Industry leader Imperial expects 1963's net profit to be down moderately from the 1962 figure of $13¼ million or $1.33 per share due to lower sales and higher costs. Rothmans, which has increased its share of the market, announced some time ago that it expected increased earnings. Both companies' shares are selling well below their 1962 and 1963 highs but still above their lows of the last 10 years.

Sometimes the simplest ideas can turn out to be money-makers.

Take the canning of water on a commercial basis, for instance, which has been started by a Vancouver company, Enswa Enterprises Ltd. Raw material costs are practically negligible—cans, pure Vancouver water and a minute amount of sodium phosphate — while capital costs are held down by having a local canning company put up the water in slack periods.

Yet a company representative said in Victoria this week that since the first production run in October the market inquiries have been astonishing.

The primary market was water-short Hong Kong where the first shipments have already been sent, but there also seems to be a good potential demand in other areas for a reliable source of pure water for cocktail bars, campers, boaters, hospitals and others who need a standby water supply.

Enswa Enterprises, a private company headed by Harry Chin of Vancouver, has even started selling gift certificates so local Chinese and others can send water to relatives and friends in Hong Kong. The canned water costs 40 cents for 48-ounce tin, not a lot of money by Canadian standards, but prohibitively expensive for most people in Hong Kong.

Biggest selling point of the Enswa water is that it is pure water, pasteurized and treated to give it a shelf life of at least five years. Previous canned waters on the market have remained palatable for only a matter of a few months to two years and have been much higher in cost.

Sinclair M. Stevens, 36-year-old Toronto lawyer and financier, announced in Vancouver Friday initial financing plans for the proposed Bank of Western Canada. Mr. Stevens is the prime mover along with Philip MacDonald of Toronto and former Bank of Canada governor James E. Coyne in organizing the new chartered bank.

Mr. Stevens said it was intended to establish the bank with $10 million of paid-up capital of which $4 million will be subscribed by finance and trust and savings companies he heads and the remainder by public offering.

The first funds will be raised through sale of shares in Wellington Financial Corp. Ltd., which will later take about $3 million of the bank stock. Wellington will issue rights to present shareholders Jan. 17 to buy addition common shares at $5 each for the 170,000 shares outstanding.

Following this Wellington will raise $3 million through underwriting 500,000 shares at $6 each and proceeds of this issue will be used to subscribe for the bank stock. Two other Stevens companies, York Trust and Savings Corp. and British International Finance (Canada) Ltd. will take the remaining $1 in bank shares between them.

Nesbitt, Thomson and Co. Ltd. will make a public offering of 100,000 preferred shares of Slater Steel Industries Ltd. next week.

The shares, valued at $2 million, are 5½ per cent cumulative redeemable class B, $1.10 series and will be accompanied by common share purchase warrants.

Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Co. Ltd. reported its daily deliveries during 1963 averaged 191,821 barrels.

Estimated deliveries for this month are 216,000 barrels daily including 6,000 barrels of butane per day.

PRESS OWNERSHIP

Publishers Give Divided Opinion

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian newspaper publishers are expressing divided opinion on the issue of government restrictions on foreign ownership of Canadian newspapers.

At least two have requested the government to proceed with legislation involving such ownership. Others have expressed strong opposition to any form of government control in the newspaper field.

Publisher Roy Thomson, who arrived from London last weekend for a Canadian visit, said on his arrival that any kind of government restriction in the newspaper field "would be a disaster."

In Toronto, The Telegram in editorials has opposed any legislative control, saying "such interference would set a precedent that would alarm all who hold the freedom of the press freedom to express political opinions without fear of political reprisal—to be one of the main supporting pillars of democracy."

EXAMINING CONTROL

On Tuesday Prime Minister Pearson told an Ottawa press conference that the government has been making a wider examination of foreign control of Canadian communications media than was made during 1961 by the royal commission on publications. That commission, headed by Senator M. Grattan O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal, made a number of recommendations covering the periodicals field, but Parliament did not act on them before being dissolved in 1962 and 1963 for federal elections.

Mr. Pearson said the cabinet now has considered legislative steps, although he added that this did not mean a decision had been made for or against government action. He expected to make the government's intention known before Parliament reconvenes in February

St. Clair Balfour, president of the Southam Company Limited, which owns a group of Canadian newspapers, said at the time of the Pearson press conference that his company has requested from members of the government legislation covering foreign ownership of newspapers in Canada.

"I told them we felt the only practical alternative to preserve Canadian control of newspapers was to do it by law as France has done," he said.

"Magazines may not seem such an attractive purchase to non-Canadians right now, but newspapers do. They are still profitable in this country."

ALSO FAVORS CONTROL

John McConnell, president of the Montreal Star, followed Mr. Balfour in calling for legislation restricting outside ownership of newspapers, saying: "There is nothing at present to prevent foreign groups from getting control — except the refusal of the owners to sell."

The Toronto Star, in an editorial supporting government legislation against foreign ownership, said the fear that freedom of the press would be endangered is "nonsense," adding:

"There is no proposal here to censor Canadian newspapers or to prevent Canadians, as individuals, groups or parties, from starting up publications of any kind."

The Windsor Star said in an editorial that neither Canadian newspapers nor magazines need protection from foreign competition. "If they do then there is something wrong with the Canadian product."

In a newspage story Tuesday The Telegram quoted three other publishers as opposing restrictive legislation:

Michael Wardell of the Fredericton Gleaner; "It's a damn lot of nonsense. People can look after themselves and their interests without government legislation."

Stuart Keate of the Victoria Times: "Seventy per cent of the world's press is controlled to some extent. We're in the 30 per cent that isn't. Let's keep it that way."

Max Bell of the Calgary Albertan: "I hate to see more government control of anything. Restrictions on stock control should be done by individual companies rather than the state."

WEEK IN BUSINESS

LBJ Plans Get Good Reception

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson's prescription for the U.S. economy, given in his State of the Union address Wednesday, was generally well received by business. But there was some scepticism about whether he would meet his goals.

The stock market rose to a historic high immediately after Johnson delivered his message to Congress. Wall Street felt that chances of early passage of income tax-cut legislation had been improved.

"However proud we may be of the unprecedented progress of our free enterprise economy over the last three years, we cannot permit it to pause," Johnson told Congress.

"We need a tax cut now to keep this country moving."

Businessmen also were pleased with Johnson's proposed cut in the budget to $97,900,000,000 from the estimated spending total of $98,400,000,000 the current fiscal year, and a reduction in the deficit from $10 billion to $4,900,000,000.

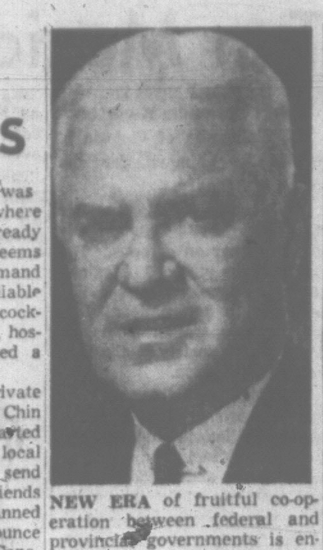
DOUBT EXPRESSED

Some expressed doubt that a proposed $1,000,000,000 appropriation for a war on poverty could make such of a dent.

Stuart Saunders, chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said of Johnson's economy program:

"His strong advocacy of reduction in government spending, along with a tax cut, clearly shows that renewed emphasis is going to be placed on the private sector of the economy. This is something that the business community has been advocating for some time."

Charles M. Beeghly, chairman of Jones and Laughlin Steel Co., commented that the president's message "gives a note of further optimism to the economy."



NEW ERA of fruitful co-operation between federal and provincial governments is envisioned by federal Forestry Minister Jack Nicholson. Speaking in Vancouver the minister said both federal and provincial governments now recognize that it is essential there should be a much greater degree of co-operation. This was evident from the recent federal-provincial conference he said.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Bull Wave Creates Big Surge

By IAN MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock markets in Canada continued to surge forward on the crest of a bull wave, while the main news item of the week was the appointment of George Hees as president of the Montreal and Canadian exchanges.

The flamboyant ex-federal minister of trade and commerce and one-time centre with the Toronto Argonauts succeeds Eric Kierans, who resigned last summer to take the post of revenue minister in the Quebec government.

Indications are that Mr. Hees will continue his predecessor's policies of opposing additional restrictions on foreign investment while at the same time urging that incentives be granted to encourage Canadians to invest in Canada.

WELL RECEIVED

Mr. Hees' appointment has been well received across the country and his ability to speak French—which he intends to perfect—appears to have staved off criticism from French-Canadians who had hoped for a French-Canadian president.

Action from the United States in the form of an amendment to the proposed equalization tax on the purchase of foreign securities by U.S. citizens has also caused comment.

The amendment provides that companies listed on American markets and having more than 50 per cent American ownership be exempted from the tax.

So far 13 companies, including giant International Nickel Company of Canada, have qualified and have been removed from the Foreign market boards of Canadian exchanges.

Meanwhile speculative eyes are being cast on the Canadian copper industry with the growing possibility of the disruption through political and labor forces of more than 50 per cent of the world's copper output from Northern Rhodesia, Chile and the United States this year.

Delegation To Discuss Tariff Cuts

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Committed to opening Canada's doors to an increased flow of imported goods as well as to provide greater opportunities for Canadian producers to sell abroad, the federal Liberal government will send a trade delegation to Geneva at the end of this month.

That group will seek to determine the level of tariff cuts that are expected to be agreed to between the United States, the United Kingdom and the Common Market.

Canada has agreed to play a full and active part in the coming trade negotiations.

After this country's trade group has gauged the extent of the proposed tariff cuts, it is the intention of Trade Minister Sharp to set up a group to work with GATT on tariff cuts. That group will consult with private industries in Canada.

It will determine from industry here what advantages would accrue to Canadian industries from other countries' tariff cuts. It will enquire as to how far this country can go in respect to different industries in the cutting of Canadian tariffs.

Dolly Varden Silver Vein 'Promising'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. F. C. Buckland, president of Dolly Varden Mines Ltd., said Friday extensive underground work carried out at the company's big silver property near Alice Arm in northwestern B.C., indicates "a major silver ore body, long and wide and of excellent grade."

In a report to shareholders, Dr. Buckland said this confirms previous convictions that work on the Wolf vein "would prove us to be a silver prospect of major proportions."

The Wolf vein is but one of several properties making up the Dolly Varden camp.

He also informed shareholders of an underwriting which placed $55,000 in the company treasury for further underground work. Because of the excellent results obtained in tests so far a major American silver mining company is negotiating with Dolly Varden for a development agreement.

Trade Service Proves Success

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—The federal government's foreign trade service "influenced" more than $100,000,000 in new business for Canadian exporters last year, Jean-Luc Pepin, parliamentary trade secretary to Trade Minister Sharp, said here.

He told the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce that the trade service, with 65 offices in 47 countries, last year assisted in setting up more than 1,300 agencies or buying connections for Canadian exports and handled more than 4,000 inquiries from Canadian businessmen about foreign markets.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Firmness in rye and fair action in flax were featured near the close of trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The rye market received stimulus from higher United States prices, influenced by a United States government report showing much lower farm stocks of rye than existed a year ago.

Wind and tide that jammed Horseshoe Bay with driftwood logs have taken them all back out to sea again.

A storm in Juan de Fuca Strait Thursday night jammed logs into the little Bay at the foot of Beacon Hill Park until it was filled from headland to headland.

They were all driftwood logs—no booms have been reported broken up in the strait since early December.

Tide and wind began to disperse the logs again Saturday, leaving the bay virtually free of driftwood by this morning.

Trailer Fan To Form City Club

Poor trailer facilities — or total lack of them here—is a detriment to tourism and could be improved with a trailer owners' club, Charles Cameron, 1568 Oakcrest, said today.

Mr. Cameron, who has been trailer travelling for 14 years and is now in his seventh trailer, invites any of the estimated 200 Victoria trailer travellers to meet at his home at 8 p.m. Friday to form the first local trailer club.

COMMON IN U.S.

These clubs are a common thing in the U.S., Mr. Cameron said. They are formed to enhance the enjoyment of trailer travel and to promote the improvement of trailering facilities, wherever trailer travel is feasible.

He said existing facilities in the city and in Vancouver, too, are limited and inadequate.

'ASHAMED'

"I'm ashamed to tell people what we have here," Mr. Cameron said.

If there were better facilities here more tourists would come to take advantage of them, he said.

Most developed American trailer sites for tourists—aside from permanent trailer locations—have a swimming pool, laundering and shower facilities, a concrete pad and other amenities, Mr. Cameron pointed out.

Plucky Sitter Fights Thief For Handbag

Tug-of-War Won By 15-Year-Old

A 15-year-old babysitter fought off a prowler Saturday night when he broke into the home she was minding and grabbed her purse

The two had a tug-of-war over the purse—and the babysitter won.

Her attacker is described by Saanich police as about 18, 5'10" with dark hair, wearing a black leather jacket.

HEARD NOISE

The girl was watching television about 11:45 in a basement rumpus room when she heard a noise upstairs. There were several children in the house. She went up to investigate.

After finding the front door open, she checked a bedroom and saw the shadow of a man.

He rushed at her, pushed her into the room and slammed the door behind her.

TAKING PURSE

When she got the door open she saw him in the kitchen taking her purse from the table.

She grabbed it and held on, forcing him to let go to get away.

He escaped out the front door, empty-handed.

Seven Rezoning Bids Tonight In Saanich

An archery range at Vanalman and Glanford.

A private hospital at Cook and Maplewood;

A motel in the 5400 block Pat Bay Highway;

A marine sales and service store at 736 Cloverdale;

A commercial zone at the corner of Shelbourne and Donnelly.

The hearing starts at 7:30.

WOMAN ROBBED OF $13 WALKING FROM CHURCH

A purse-snatcher with an accomplice in a getaway car robbed a churchgoer of $13 Sunday night.

Miss Nora Couchman, 937 Pembroke, was walking home from church on Pandora Avenue when a dark-haired youth grabbed her purse.

She chased him through a lane onto Fernwood, where he threw the purse into a parked car and ran on.

Miss Couchman told police the car then started up and about a block away picked up the still-running youth.

She lost $13 and some personal papers with the purse.

Exam Results Given 700 Uvic Freshmen

Seven hundred first-year University of Victoria students got their Christmas exam results this afternoon as the rest of the enrolment waited for the end of the week.

Registrar'se office said today it is still processing marks from the fall term examinations, but expects to have lists posted covering all exams in the next few days.

Education faculty marks were also expected today, the office said.

WHO GOES?

Meanwhile a faculty committee is meeting to decide which borderline students will be urged to drop out and which will be expelled as failures.

The average Christmas drop out rate at the university is 4.5 per cent, which is lower than many comparable institutions, the registrar said.

Some are volunary for financial or personal reasons, some because failure is suspected anyway, the others at the suggestion or order of the registrar.

There were 732 first year arts students registered in October, but a number have dropped out voluntarily since then, the registrar's office said.

Based on total enrolment in September, a 4.5 per cent drop out rate would mean 93 students would leave the university.

TREASURE ISLAND GOES UNDER

Treasure Island has had it.

Visitors' Bureau commissioner Alan Maclean doesn't like the name as a tourist lure to Vancouver Island.

And he told the Times today: "Tourists confuse the name Vancouver Island with the city of Vancouver. We must have a distinctive name."

Mr. Maclean will consider any suggestions sent to him at the Visitors' Bureau, 786 Government.

Bennett Set To Act On Welfare

Premier Bennett returned from holiday today with a promise of salary boosts and other measures to improve social welfare services.

Questioned as he arrived at Vancouver by air from Hawaii, he said the salary increases would be for B.C.'s social service workers.

He was irked at a recent remark by Campbell River magistrate Haig Roderick Brown, who said welfare services have stood still for 12 years.

"LOOK AT BUDGET"

Mr. Bennett said it was a stupid remark.

"We haven't stood still at all. Look at the salary and the budget figures since 1952.

"And, we are going to increase salaries in the next budget," he added. He said he was not finding fault with social welfare critics.

"Of course there is more to be done, and we are going to do it," he said.

A controversy erupted in B.C. last week over charges that social workers are overworked. At the time Welfare Minister W. D. Black said the root of the trouble was a shortage of social workers.

But sources close to the social workers said there would be no shortage if pay was better. They said it is so poor now that trained social workers are deserting the profession.

Ottawa Approves Landscaping Loan for Square

OTTAWA cleared the way today for calling tenders on the $130,000 landscaping project for Centennial Vicotria square.

Approval for a $28,000 loan under the Municipal Development and Loan Act was received at City Hall for the work.

City manager Dennis Young said this will provide the balance required for the landscaping segment of the program which already has received a $70,000 grant from Capital Improvement District Commission and $30,000 from the three outside municipalities for a centennial fountain.

An informal meeting of aldermen was scheduled for later in the day to look at working drawings for the civic theatre. If these are adopted at city council meeting Thursday, the call for tenders for the theatre also is likely to be authorized.

INJURED BOY lay unconscious for 20 minutes on Hillside this morning while police tried to get an ambulance to take him to hospital. Two Uvic students who were on scene just as Ian McLeod, 13, fell from his bike covered him with their coats and tried to keep him warm. They are David Mathers, 20 Sylvan Lane, and Adele Trottier, 649 Mount Joy Ave., shown here being assisted by Constable Cliff Harrison. (Strickland photo.)

Boy Forced to Wait In Ambulance Snafu

A 13-year-old boy lay unconscious for 20 minutes on Hillside Avenue this morning while city police frantically tried to get a city ambulance to take him to hospital.

Eventually a Saanich police officer radioed Saanich fire department and had the Saanich ambulance rush to the scene and take the injured boy to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Ian McLeod, 3001 Quadra, was reported in fairly good condition after treatment. He regained consciousness soon after admission to hospital. He was injured when he fell off his bicycle

WAGONS BUSY

At the time of the accident one of the police wagons used by city as an ambulance was broken down and the other was on an emergency run.

Saanich detective Robin Stewart was driving along Hillside when he saw the boy lying on the road near Higgins. He immediately radioed the city to find if city police knew an ambulance was needed.

They didn't and he told them to send one right away. Two minutes later he was told no vehicle was a vailable. The boy had been lying on the ground for five minutes at this time.

Three city police cars arrived at the scene but the officers were reluctant to move the boy without a stretcher. He lay at the side of the road, cradled by two university students who had arrived on the scene just seconds after he fell off his bike.

Det. Stewart radioed Saanich to send an ambulance but the Saanich vehicle was then on a routine run to St. Joseph's Hospital and couldn't attend.

After about 10 minutes, when a city ambulance still had not arrived, Det. Stewart again radioed Saanich. Saanich then redirected the ambulance from St. Joseph's Hospital to the accident scene.

The Saanich ambulance had taken the boy away by the time the city ambulance arrived.

Bank Thief Gives Self Up After Trip to California

The man who robbed a bank teller of $33 last Tuesday gave himself up to Victoria police at the weekend after a drinking binge that took him all the way to Los Angeles.

Donald T. Campbell, 335 Gorge Road West, pleaded guilty to the theft when he appeared in court today and was remanded to Jan. 21 for a probation report and sentence.

Det. Walter Calwell said Campbell left the city minutes after he robbed the teller at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Bay and Douglas.

Campbell was on a drinking spree and ended up in Los Angeles. He returned to the city at the weekend and immediately gave himself up to police, said the detective.

Campbell had gone into the bank to change $70 into U.S. money. When the teller left her wicket to obtain some U.S. bills, he grabbed $33 in U.S. money that she had placed on the counter and walked out of the bank.

ALL'S QUIET ON HOME FRONT

Victoria's court of revision on local improvement assessments convened this morning for its annual session of listening to home owners' complaints — and found no one had any beefs.

The surprised aldermen complimented city staff on apportioning costs in some 200 cases so well that no one appealed.

$100,000 Damage At Mine

Estimate Hiked Sharply Following Big Landslide

Restoration of Cowichan Copper Co.'s Sunro mine at Jordan River could cost $100,000, four times the original estimate when flood waters filled the diggings last month.

Company president Oswood G. MacDonald said in Vancouver today the repair bill could be high, although insurance adjusters have not appraised the damage.

The mine was fraught by two misfortunes in just over a month.

The first was when the Jordan River broke through a mined-out stope, flooded the works and resumed its natural course via the main portal 1½ miles later. The second came when flood waters broke surface, caused a landslide and washed thousands of dollars worth of outside mine property into the river.

BY MONDAY

Mr. MacDonald said men working around the clock should have the river diverted from the original cave-in by next Monday or midweek, allowing miners to get at repairs to the mine itself.

Their main effort will be to seal the old stope off from the rest of the mine. They will then be able to pump it dry, get machinery in working order and resume production of copper ore concentrate.

The diversion creek means cutting a new river channel for 500 feet through a bed which is largely solid rock. The way is now clear, leaving considerable blasting to be done to lower the channel to a safe depth, Mr. MacDonald said.

REFITS

Laing Says East Needs RCN Work

A West Coast cabinet minister today refused to join in the local protest against Pacific fleet naval vessels going to Eastern Canada for costly refitting.

Arthur Laing, minister of northern affairs and national resources, told the times from Vancouver: "It's a case of spreading out the work."

Mr. Laing said eastern shipyards are "crying just as loud" for work.

And he said it is his understanding that one of the three vessels concerned will be modernized at a West Coast yard.

Mr. Laing was contacted for comment after Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson said Saturday that he would protest to Ottawa.

"ONE OR MORE"

Local shipyards and the business community were upset by reports that a defence production spokesman in Ottawa said "one or more" of the planned $3 million conversions would be undertaken in the east.

The ships which will be converted to helicopter-carrying anti-submarine vessls with new variable depth sonar are three St. Laurent class destroyers.

The mayor wired Prime Minister Pearson today stating that eastern yards already receive a disproportionate number of government contracts from the department of transport.

"Western shipyards face a crisis and employment of our people should be the most important concern," he said. Copies of the wire went to defence and production ministries.

Assessments Up $5.5 Million In Saanich

Saanich has increased its property assessment $5½ million for 1964 in a partial reassessment of the municipality.

This puts the total Saanich assessment at $100,250,000.

Most of the boost is accounted for by new construction, says Saanich assessor Jack Lindsay.

MOSTLY ON LAND

In properties being reassessed, land values were mostly up, improvement values usually down, he said.

This results in a higher tax base, as tax is calculated on 75 per cent of improvement value, but 100 per cent of land value, Mr. Lindsay explained.

In the part of School District 61 that lies in Saanich, land assessments went up $1,700,000 and improvements went up $2,600,000—"basically new construction," said Mr. Lindsay.

"As sewers and things get put in, land just becomes more valuable," he said.

50 Union Laborers Unemployed

The employment situation for construction laborers is "very bad," according to union secretary John Gallow.

With 50 union men out of work, Mr. Gallow blames wet weather and slow starts on construction projects.

He said the position should have improved this month after two bad months at the end of 1963.

The carpenters' union, with 80 unemployed, is in a similar position. Last year's jobless figure for this period was 25, according to secretary James Laming.

"The Mayfair shopping centre accounted for much employment, but not all," he said.

STILL AWAITED

Projects still to begin include the new St. Joseph's Hospital wing, a Uvic lecture theatre and the YM-YWCA building.

Mr. Gallow said he has not known Farmer Construction Ltd. to employ so few in the past 15 years.

He said one problem in construction at present is extremely muddy ground and the difficulty of getting materials to the site. He said a spell of dry frosty weather would help.

He sees no employment improvement until the end of February.

NEW TOURISM CHIEF WORKS ON IDEAS FOR HOLIDAY MONTHS

Under the Tallest Totem, a Colorful Indian Festival

By RAY SINCLAIR

Lodge houses colorful in the summer sunlight with Indians weaving and carving, and the world's tallest totem towering over the firelit Indian dance at night.

This could be the scene next summer if city tourism promoters take up a suggestion made recently to Visitors' Bureau commissioner Alan Maclean.

Visualizing a week-long Indian Festival possibly in the large vacant space around the Beacon Hill Park totem, Mr. Maclean said he is enthusiastic about the idea.

"We've been letting the Indian heritage slip away from us—at least in the Victoria area," he said. "There is a great deal the Indians can contribute to our tourism industry."

He said he would not like to see a commercialized midway develop, but there could be knowledgeable people standing by to explain displays of the native culture.

Tiered seats in the area could hold visitors and Victorians each night for the Indian dances.

The Indian Festival is just one of many ideas received by Mr. Maclean or initiated by him.

"We're only a clearing house for these ideas," he said, "unless there's a special agency set up to co-ordinate them. But we will help in any way we can if the idea has enough merit."

A favorite idea of the commissioner is formation of a police boys' band.

"They could be dressed in the old bobby uniform," he said. "I always regretted the passing of the bobby here.

"The band could fulfill two purposes—create a better atmosphere between police and youth, and provide the Continent's most distinctively-uniformed boys' band."

From several local people has come the suggestion for a village fair in the English style, and held in city streets.

To this, Mr. Maclean ties his own idea for four weeks of British festival—one English, one Scottish, Welsh and Irish, all with their own local theme.

"This would fill in four more of the 32 weeks we have with little tourist activity," he said.

Deeper in his heart is a Yuletide Festival.

"It's a natural for Victoria. What a classic time for people to visit here, when we're all in a happy mood. With Dickensian costumes, chartered London buses and our beautiful suburban decorations, we could create a great impression."

Other ideas on file include more golf matches, world bridge tournaments, curling, lawn bowling, art displays, a two-week yachting regatta revolving around the Swiftsure race, and square dancing—possibly in front of the legislature, or in Centennial Square.

"That could set up a spirit of welcome, and bring residents and visitors together," he said.

Mr. Maclean said he would be happy to hear from any citizen with good ideas for tourist and local entertainment.

"There must be many good ideas around," he said. "We want to think in terms of annual events, rather than one-shot things."

Just write Alan Maclean, Victoria Visitors' Bureau, 786 Government Street.

'GAS TOO EXPENSIVE' MLA TELLS PROBE

'Overcharged $32,700,000'

B.C. motorists may be paying more than $32,700,000 too much each year for their gasoline, a special government investigation was told today.

The charge was made by Cyril Shelford, Social Credit MLA for Omineca, at the opening of the royal commission into gasoline prices at the law courts here.

14 LAWYERS

Mr. Shelford, who advocated a single retail gas price everywhere in B.C., said he felt like "a mouse in the lion's den" when confronted by a battery of 14 lawyers, most of them representing the major oil companies.

He said that electricity and liquor are two examples of one-price commodities in the province.

"Apparently the province believes everyone should be able to get gassed up at the same price with liquor," Mr. Shelford declared.

He urged royal commissioner Judge C. W. Morrow of Prince George to determine what should be a fair price for gas.

He suggested that in order to have true free enterprise competition the oil companies should be prevented from retailing gasoline to the public.

Commented Judge Morrow: "There's one price in Russia, but no service stations—just pump outlets—and very few cars to burn the gas."

Mr. Shelford tangled with what he called "legal talent" early in the hearings, when D. McK. Brown, acting for Shell Canada Ltd., challenged his claim that motorists may be paying $32,709,712 too much for gas each year.

WORSE TODAY

Mr. Shelford calculated the figure on the basis of findings of B.C.'s last gasoline inquiry, conducted by former Judge M. A. Macdonald in the mid-1930s.

In 1935, the Macdonald report recommended price cuts which would have saved $4,672,816.

At that time B.C. gas consumption totalled 44,534.667 gallons a year, Mr. Shelford said.

Mr. Shelford said today's consumption totals 310,293,379 gallons.

RCAF Losing Punch

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF will be withdrawn from all its combat roles, with the possible exception of anti-submarine patrol work, within five years, authorities forecast today.

They predicted that the service will become an almost exclusively transport force and that its combat roles in home air defence and in nuclear bombing in Europe will be eliminated by 1969 or earlier.

Plans are already being made to expand the RCAF base at Trenton, Ont., headquarters for Transport Command.

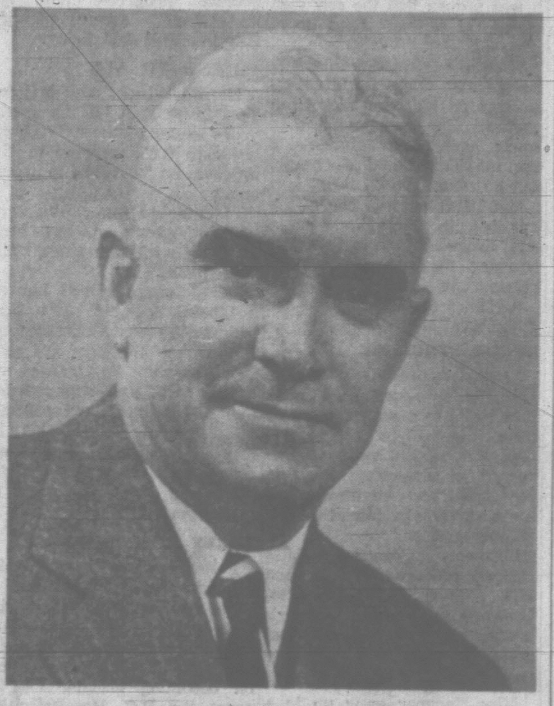
The lessening emphasis on the role of combat jet planes is already cousing considerable embarrassment in the RCAF because it is just in the process of introducing all-jet training. By the time this training program is in full swing there may be few if any jets for the air force to fly—except the jet trainers.

Defence Minister Hellyer has announced rejection of the RCAF's request for more CF-101B Voodoo jet interceptors and CF-104 nuclear jet bombers. The air force has 64 Voodos and 200 CF-104s.

The CF-104 base at Gros Tenquin, France, is expected to be closed and the CF-104s at Marville, France, converted to a photo-reconnaissance role.

Associate Defence Minister Cardin announced Friday disbandment of two Voodoo squadrons, leaving three.

Ex-Premier 'Boss' Johnson Dies at Home



Ex-Premier Byron "Boss" Johnson . . . dead at age 73

Hundreds of men and women from all walks of life will attend funeral services for ex-premier Byron Ingemar "Boss" Johnson in First United Church Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

SEE PAGE 8 STORY ON JOHNSON'S POLITICAL CAREER

Premier of British Columbia's Coalition government from 1947 to 1952, Mr. Johnson died suddenly at his home at 2895 Beach Drive early Sunday at the age of 73.

Rev. R. J. D. Morris, minister of First United, will officiate at the public service which will be followed by cremation.

Personal friends and ex-cabinet ministers will be pallbearers, with Haywards Ltd. in charge of arrangements.

His son, Byron Jr., who was spending the weekend at the house, found his father sitting on the edge of his bed around 7 a.m. and asked if he was unwell. Mr. Johnson reassured him, but collapsed and died soon after.

A strikingly handsome man, of courteous demeanor, Mr. Johnson spent the last nine years of his life as a semi-invalid after suffering a serious stroke on April 16, 1955.

CAR ACCIDENT

Earlier, in September, 1950, he was seriously injured in a car accident in Quebec.

He was British Columbia's last ex-premier and the first major political victim of Premier Bennett's Social Credit victory in June, 1952.

His death cuts another link with a bygone political era, for of the leading figures in his Coalition government only Conservative Herbert Anscomb and Liberal Gordon Wismer remain.

Mr. Johnson's political fortunes and misfortunes were closely bound up with the two.

He became premier of B.C. when his predecessor, John

Hindu-Moslem Riots in India Fatal to 100

CALCUTTA (UPI) — Fighting flared again in Calcutta today and unofficial reports said the death toll in the worst Moslem-Hindu riots since partition had passed the 100 mark.

CALCUTTA, India — Indian Army troops patrolled Calcutta and its suburbs today with shoot-to-kill orders to check Hindu-Moslem violence that has claimed at least 75 lives during the last four days. Most of the dead are Moslems.

Widespread looting and arson was reported in and around Calcutta. More than 4,000 persons were arrested.

It was the worst communal outbreak since 1947, when the Indian subcontinent was partitioned and hundreds of thousands were massacred. Refugees from neighboring East Pakistan have reported 29 dead there in attacks on Hindus.

The religious rioting followed reports that Moslems were slaughtering Hindus in the East Pakistan city of Khulna, 75 miles east of Calcutta, in retaliation for the disappearance of a hair said to have come from the beard of the Moslem prophet Mohammed. The hair, which disappeared from a shrine in Srinagar, capital of the Indian-controlled section of Kashmir, has ben recovered. Indian authorities reported the hair was "surreptitiously" restored to its normal resting place Jan. 4—a week after its disappearance. But in Pakistan it was charged the restored relic was not the true one.

Castro Makes Surprise Trip To Visit Nikita

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived here today following a surprise announcement Sunday night that he would meet with Soviet Premier Khrushchev to discuss "questions of interest."

Castro stepped from a special jetliner into Moscow's below-freezing temperatures and was greeted warmly by Khrushchev and other Russian leaders.

In a welcoming address, Khrushchev hailed the visitor as the "head of the Cuban nation, the first in America to choose the socialist road."

Chinese Communist Ambassador Pan Tsu-li also was among the dignitaries waiting to meet Castro.

Delegations of Moscow workers, many of them carrying Cuban and Russain flags, gatheed at the airport to greet the Cuban premier as he flew in from Havana.

WILL ALSO HUNT

An official statement issued here Sunday night said Castro, who visited Russia last spring, would intersperse his talks with Khrushchev with a rest and some hunting in the Russian forests.

On arrival Castro and Khrushchev embraced as a 21-gun salute was fired and the anthems of the two countries were played.

Khrushchev assured the Cuban leader in his speech that "no attempts of Cuba's enemies, no economic blockade of the imperialists, can block the grand march of the great Cuban people."

Thanking the Soviet Union for its aid, Castro said: "Some of the difficulties that the Soviet people experienced in their time we are now experiencing. But there can be no comparison because we have the help of the Soviet Union."

'EXAMPLE FINDS FAVOR'

Attacking "American imperialists" who, he said, were trying to force the Cuban people to their knees, he said that despite this "the people and party are more united than ever . . . the example of our revolution has become more and more attractive to other countries."

Most observers considered Castro and Khrushchev would discuss Russia's ideological dispute with Communist China

Arabs Unite Against Israel

CAIRO (AP)—Leaders of 13 Arab states comprising 100,000,000 people met today in a summit conference seeking a unified front against Israel.

At the call of Egypt's President Gamel Abdel Nasser, Arab kings, princes, presidents and emirs put aside their own numerous feuds and met on outward terms of friendship in the Nile-side headquarters of the Arab League.

In a wood - pannelled room carpeted in red, the rulers sat in red leather chairs to consider counter-measures against the impending Israeli diversion of the Jordan River waters. Israel has indicated it is going ahead with the plan regardless of what action the Arab rulers might take.

The Arab summit meeting was preceded by suspension of the bitter feud between the United Arab Republic and Jordan, which fell out in 1961 when Jordan recognized the Syrian regime that pulled out of the U.A.R.

Informed sources said President Nasser of the U.A.R. and King Hussein of Jordan agreed to resume diplomatic relations after a two-hour conference.

Zanzibar Coup Ends Arab Rule

(Times News Services)

ZANZIBAR — African nationalists proclaimed a republic Sunday on the African spice island of Zanzibar—once the centre of Arab slave traders—after overthrowing the Arab sultan in an overnight revolt.

A state of emergency was in force in the former British protectorate following a warning from the new government that all foreign ships should stay outside the island's territorial waters.

Several persons, including policemen, were reported killed and many others wounded in heavy fighting that erupted Saturday night and raged into early Sunday around police stations, an armory and the residence of Prime Minister Mohammed Shamte Hamadi.

A radio station, identifying itself as "the freedom fighters of Zanzibar," said at least two policemen were killed during the successful storming of the armory. There were reports another policeman was killed defending the prime minister's home.

The rebel broadcast said Hamadi and Sultan Seyyid Jamshid Bin Abdulla had taken refuge on a cruise liner in the harbor.

SEIZE BUILDINGS

By late Sunday night the rebels were reported to have seized control of all but one strategic building in or around Zanzibar city.

The United States sent the destroyer Manley to remove American women and children. But a U.S. state department source in Washington said the 57 Americans stationed on the island at a tracking station for the Project Mercury satellite program appeared to be in no immediate danger.

The British frigate Owen was dispatched to remove British citizens if necessary.

The revolt occurred a month and two days after Zanzibar gained independence. It was a British protectorate for 73 years. Zanzibar remained in the British Commonwealth, and the rebel broadcasts gave no indication that this tie would be broken.

The rebel station said Sheik Abeid Karume, head of the Afro-Shirazi party, was named president of the new republic. Sheik Abdul Rahman Mohammed Babu, whose leftist Umma party was banned earlier this month for trying to incite a revolt, was named foreign minister. Kassim Hanga was made prime minister.

MOMBASA, Kenya (Reuters)—The ousted sultan of Zanzibar arrived here by ship today but was refused permission to land under a decision made by the Kenya cabinet at a special meeting.

TALLY HO TYPES SABOTAGED

It Takes Foxiness to Outfox Fox Hunters

TORQUAY, Eng. (Reuters)—Hounds of the South Devon Hunt were outfoxed Saturday by a new anti-blood sports group known as the Hunt Saboteurs.

The hounds were sidetracked by lumps of fresh meat along the trail, led by a false scent into a cul-de-sac, and bewildered by a series of false hunting horn calls.

Some of the 20 saboteurs who took part in the operation said that hunt followers became so incensed they charged them on horseback.

John Prestidge, 21-year-old chairman of the group, said: "There were scuffles all along the first part of the hunt route. I somehow got a punch in the mouth, and others got punches too."

The hounds were led up the cul-de-sac by one saboteur who was sitting in a tree with a silk stocking impregnated with the scent of a fox. "The hounds started coming up the tree, but were whipped off by the huntsmen," he said.

Hunters also had their hands full trying to stop the hounds eating meat dumped along the hunt route. "Fortunately the hounds managed to gobble up quite a bit before being whipped off by hunt officials," Prestidge said.

Prestidge and another saboteur were chased and arrested by police after feeding the hounds meat. He said later: "We got a pretty rough handling by all and sundry. After the police caught us, a sergeant told us we would be charged with depositing litter in the roadway."

Another saboteur, 18-year-old Graham Cummings, was armed with a hunting horn. He said: "For some time we had the unhappy hounds running from one side of the field to the other answering first our hunting calls and then those of the huntsmen.

"In the end some of the hunt followers got so angry they charged us on horseback and lashed out with whips."

When the hunt ended, more than half the field had already quit. A spokesman for the hunt said: "We didn't make a kill, but nevertheless we have enjoyed ourselves."

U.S. Hatred Whipped Up In Peking

PEKING (Reuters) — Hundreds of thousands of persons paraded through the centre of Peking shouting anti-American slogans today.

Communist China's campaign against U.S. actions in Panama developed to an intensity reminiscent of the hostility against Britain and France during the Suez crisis of 1956.

The well - organized demonstrators — from factories, offices, schools and militia units in the city — waved banners bearing caricatures of President Johnson as they moved in a vast column several miles long through the city.

All newspapers used their biggest headlines and largest and blackest characters to splash across the top half of front pages a rare public statement by Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse - tung supporting the "heroic struggle being waged by the people of Panama against U.S. aggression."

Nasser called the conference ostensibly to counter Israel's threat to put its 15-year-old irrigation project into operation this summer. But some observers saw the conference as an attempt by Nasser to reassert his leadership of the Arab world.

In the past, Arab leaders have threatened war if Israel goes ahead with the scheme. Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon all draw water from the river.

Recently Nasser's controlled press has been saying war is virtually impossible because of Israel's membership in the United Nations and certain intervention by the United States. Israeli leaders say they are not worried because their army can defeat the Arabs.

Observers said one aim of the conference would be to get the squabbling Arab nations to agree among themselves.

The United States contends that Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon should share the waters of the Jordan and its tributaries. But there is little or no likelihood that the Arab states will agree to any common plan that includes Israel.

Many observers felt the Arab leaders were mainly concerned with the political and military implications of the Israeli scheme.

They felt, observers said, that if Israel succeeded in diverting the river waters to the Negev in southern Israel, its economy would be boosted enough to absorb 1,000,000 or possibly 2,000,000 more Jewish immigrants.

LONDON (Reuters)—Turkish-Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash said here today Cyprus is in danger of a Communist coup if President Makarios "succeeds" in removing "the Turkish factor" in the island.

Air Service Studied By Nanaimo Chamber

NANAIMO—Chamber of Commerce president Dave Jones says his group is carrying out an air service feasibility survey in this area.

The survey concerns an air connection between this city and Vancouver.

"The survey is not completed," he said. "So far it is progressing favorably. When we have fuller details, I will be able to give a broader picture."

In 1962 and 1963 two companies proposed air connections between the two cities. One offered a 40-minute round-trip service by an old Stranraer flying boat and the other, by a Nanaimo group, suggested a link with an SRN-2 Hovercraft.

This latter proposal is still under survey by Westland Aircraft, designers of the Hovercraft, with Frank Ney heading the local enterprise. A fare of $5 per person one way was quoted.
